Rules of Order

THE CONVENTION.

1. The Convention shall be opened and closed with prayer.
2. The Convention shall meet on the opening day for the Business Sessions at 9:45 A. M.; with a recess of one hour between 1 and 2 o'clock.
3. At the request of the President, or on motion, the Convention may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole, and shall take a vote for that purpose.
4. At the close of each Convention, the Minutes shall be corrected and approved.
5. The doors of the Convention shall be open for the admission of such persons as may wish to know its proceedings.
6. All Clerical and Lay Deputies on entering the Convention shall present their names, together with the names of the Parishes they represent, on cards, to the Secretary, who shall record their attendance.
7. Clergymen of other Dioceses, and Candidates for Holy Orders, who may be present, shall be admitted to honorary seats in the Convention on the presentation of their names to the Secretary.
8. When the President takes the Chair, each member shall be seated.
9. When any member is about to speak, he shall, with due respect, address himself to the President, and in speaking confine himself strictly to the point in debate.
10. No member shall speak more than twice (except the mover, who is entitled to reply), in the same debate without leave of the Convention.
11. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules of the Convention, the President shall, or any member may, call him to order; if decided to be out of order he shall immediately take his seat, unless permitted by the Convention to explain or proceed in order.
12. All questions of order shall be determined by the President, without debate, but any member may appeal from the decision, and on such appeal no member shall speak more than once without leave of the Convention. The general procedure of the Convention shall be governed, unless otherwise provided for, by the rules of parliamentary practice as set forth in "Roberts' Rules of Order."
13. A Committee consisting of the Bishop, ex-officio, five other clergymen and five laymen, to be known as the Committee on Elections and Rules of Order, shall be appointed at each Convention to prepare the official Ballots and the Calendar of Business, for the next Annual Convention.

The mode of conducting the nominations and elections of all Committees, Commissions and Boards and all other elective officers not otherwise provided for, shall be as follows:

The Secretary of the Convention shall send out with the notice of the time and place of the Diocesan Convention, a list of the offices to be filled by election thereat, and the names of the incumbents of these offices, whose terms expire thereat, together with an official nomination blank. Such notice shall be sent out at least one month before the date appointed for the Convention, to the Clergy canonically resident in the Diocese, and to each lay delegate whose name and address has been transmitted to the Secretary, as provided in Canon I.

Any member of the Convention desiring to make nominations for any office or offices to be filled at such Convention, shall at least fifteen days before the date appointed for the Convention, submit the same in writing to the Secretary thereof, together with his certificate that he has secured the consent of such person or persons to such nomination.

The Committee on Elections, from the list of nominations as furnished to it by the Secretary of the Convention, shall prepare sufficient ballots marked "Sample" for each clerical and lay delegate, as certified by such Secretary, as entitled to a seat in the Convention; such ballot to be mailed by such Secretary to each such delegate at least five days before the Convention.

At the beginning of the opening session the committee shall report to the Convention in the form of an official ballot the names of nominees; the arrangement of such names shall be determined by lot in each order.

If there be any office for which no nomination has been made on the sample ballot any delegate may file with the Secretary of the Convention the name of one candidate for any such office, together with his certificate, that he has secured the consent of the person so nominated. Such nominations may be filed up to the hour of voting, and the committee of Elections shall announce the names of such nominees at the time of the distribution of the first ballot.

The number of consecutive terms any nominee has held the office for which he is again nominated shall be noted on the ballot, in parentheses, after his or her name. After each list of nominations as many blank spaces shall be left as there are vacancies to be filled. These blanks may be filled by any voter. On the first ballot these ballots only shall be used, and also in subsequent ballots, except when otherwise ordered by the Convention. No ballot shall be counted in its class, on which more names are marked than there are vacancies to be filled, and the number of vacancies to be filled shall be printed on each ballot. Blank ballots shall not be counted in the whole number of votes cast.

The members of the Convention shall also be requested, in said call, to send to this Committee any canonical amendments or other important items of business that they may propose to introduce at the next Convention, so that such matters may be assigned a place on the Calendar of Business. This call shall also be annually inserted in the official Magazine of the Diocese, THE NEWARK CHURCHMAN.

Balloting shall take place in a separate room when practicable.

The clerical and lay voting lists shall be divided into two sections each.

14. Four or more Election Tellers, clerical and lay, in equal numbers, not necessarily members of the Convention, shall be appointed by the President before an election. They shall receive and canvass all votes cast at any election which is required to be by ballot, and when such canvass is completed, shall immediately report its result to the Convention. The polls shall be open for such time as the Convention may, by resolution, direct.
15. All reports (usually printed in the JOURNAL) of officers, committees, commissions, and boards of trustees under control of the Convention, shall be printed and distributed by the Committee on Elections and Rules of Order as far as practicable, at least two weeks before the meeting of the Convention; provided that the subject of such printing and reports shall have been referred to the Finance and Advisory Board for consideration, which Board shall have power to supervise, regulate, or to condense the same, and to issue to the Committee or to the Secretary of the Convention such instructions as in the judgment of the said Board will promote greater economy and efficiency in respect to this work.

Reports when read in Convention shall be read by title only, unless the reading be for the better transaction of business.

NEW BUSINESS.

16. All new business introduced, except such as may accompany and form a part of a report of a committee, shall be in the form of a motion or resolution and shall be in writing.

COMMITTEES.

17. All Committees shall be appointed by the President unless otherwise ordered. It shall be the duty of the Secretary promptly to notify the members of all special committees of their appointment.
18. The reports of Committees shall be in writing, and when made shall be the property of the Convention without any motion for acceptance. All reports recommending action of the Convention shall be accompanied by a resolution to that effect.

MOTIONS AND THEIR ORDER.

19. No motion shall be put or debated until it is seconded; and every motion shall be reduced to writing and signed by the mover, whose name shall be entered on the JOURNAL.
20. When a question is under consideration, no motion shall be received, unless to lay upon the table; to commit it; to postpone to a certain time; to postpone it indefinitely; to correct it; to amend it; or divide it; and motions for any of these purposes shall have precedence in the order herein named. If a motion to lay an amendment on the table be carried, the matter before the Convention shall be proceeded with as if no such amendment has been offered. The motion to lay upon the table and to adjourn shall be decided without debate. The motion to adjourn shall always be in order, unless some member is speaking.
21. All motions or notices to reconsider shall be made on the day the vote is taken.

VOTING PRIVILEGES.

22. All questions shall be decided viva voce, unless otherwise specially ordered.
23. When required by two Clergymen or two Lay Deputies from two Parishes, the vote of the Convention shall be taken by Orders, voting separately; and, when a vote is thus taken a concurrent majority in both Orders shall be necessary to carry any measure.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL ADDRESS OF THE BISHOP OF NEWARK.

My Brethren of the Clergy and Laity:

We remember before God today, as is appropriately our custom, those Bishops of the Church who in the past year have been called to rest from their labors:

Frank Hale Touret, Retired Bishop of Idaho,
Logan Herbert Roots, Retired Bishop of Hankow,
Leopold Kroll, Retired Bishop of Liberia.

Four of our priests who had retired from active ministry have died during the past year:

Harry L. Rice who had served briefly at St. Paul's and St. Alban's Churches, Newark;

John Charles Stephenson, a faithful pastor, the Vicar of the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Ridgefield Park, from 1925 to 1937;

William Gilbert van Tassel Sutphen, a gentleman of creative literary taste, on the staff of St. Peter's Church, Morristown, after his Ordination at the age of sixty, from 1923 to 1936;

Warren Van Houten Filkins, the greatly loved Rector of Trinity Church, Arlington, from 1914 to 1943 after a useful ministry as Curate at St. John's Church, Passaic, and Rector of Calvary Church, Bayonne.

We remember also before God these laymen who have served the Church in their generation:

John R. Hardin, a distinguished citizen of Newark, a member of the Cathedral Chapter and President of the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund and Diocesan Properties.

Others who had been Wardens or Vestrymen of their respective parishes are:

William Allison and William Chapman, Grace, Newark; Frank Wilbur Shulenberger, Epiphany, Teaneck; John M. Kopper, Grace, Madison; Wilbur F. Wriggin, St. Andrew's, South Orange; Victor A. Wiss, St. Peter's, Morristown; Allen Farquhar, Ascension, Bloomfield; Samuel S. Evans, St. Paul's Paterson; William F. Wenzel, Christ, Hackensack; Charles R. Wilmot, All Saints', Orange; Frederick Maasch, Grace, Rutherford; Harry Stevenson, Trinity, Irvington; John R. Brinley, Redeemer, Morristown; Maurice B. Homer, St. Clement's, Hawthorne; Clifford A. Ellis, St. James', Ridgefield; Charles E. Graff, St. Paul's, Jersey City; Frederick L. Allen, St. Andrew's, Newark; J. Strother Freeman, St. Andrew's, South Orange.

Mention should be made also of Arthur C. Zimmerman, Grace Church, Orange, faithful lay reader for many years at the House of the Good Shepherd, Orange, and of Mrs. Arthur D. Story, a former president of our Diocesan Girl's Friendly Society under whose leadership Holiday House at Delaware was built.

As we assemble for the Seventy-second Convention of the Diocese of Newark, we commemorate also the two hundredth anniversary of its Cathedral. A reciprocal relationship exists between men and the institutions of which they are a part. While we help to form them, we find that at the same time they form us also. Thus a diocese comes to possess its own peculiar temper and tradition. Its cathedral should be expressive of its spirit, emphasizing those values to which it seeks to gain the loyalty of its people.

It is not my purpose to tell the story of this venerable parish. This has been admirably accomplished by the Dean in our Anniversary Book which I commend to you as of abiding interest. Our choice of this ancient Church as our Cathedral emphasizes two significant facts which I hope will always make their impression on the spirit and the temper of our diocese. First is the fact that this Cathedral is ours today because two centuries ago men believed in missions. In 1701 the Church of England founded the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. Within a year its missionaries had set forth across the Atlantic Ocean. In the government of the little town called Newark only the members of the established Presbyterian Church had a voice, but some of their neighbors were members of the Church of England. Therefore as early as 1729 the missionary settled at Elizabethtown came to hold Services for them according to the Book of Common Prayer. Trinity was a well established parish by February 10, 1746, when from King George II it received its royal charter.

The missionaries had had their discouragements. There is a familiar ring to the words of one missionary in the colonies who wrote to the London authorities that the people to whom he preached seemed quite content to live upon the bounty of the English Church without undue exertion on their own behalf. Other Christian bodies were none too hospitable, perhaps because there had been defections from their own ranks to the new mission of the Church of England. One pastor preached a sermon to his congregation on this text from Galatians: "After that ye have known God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?" The persistence of the missionaries in the face of difficulties had its reward. With the Revolutionary War, however, came a further testing. Like other Anglican ministers, the Tory rector of Trinity fled for safety within the British lines. The Church which he left was a shambles, having been used during the war by American soldiers both as hospital and as gymnasium. But the Church is a divine, not a human institution. Though it may suffer almost mortal blows, it has its powers of recuperation.

No small reason for the growth of Trinity in numbers and in grace was the recognition by its rectors and its people of their missionary responsibility. Its earliest rector gave of his strength and time to the ministry of the Word and Sacraments in far distant Sussex County and on the Pompton Plains. In the first century of its life it was pre-eminent among the Churches of the State for its generous response to benevolent and missionary causes. Seven of the parishes in the City of Newark were established through its help. Beyond the limits of the city it directly fostered the foundation of new parishes in Belleville, Harrison, Orange, Jersey City, and Paterson.

Our Cathedral is the fruit of men's eagerness to share Christ and His Church with them that are far off and with them that are nigh. It is the expression of a missionary mindedness which should be the spirit and the temper of our diocese. As two centuries ago freely we received, so in this new day freely we must give.

There is a second implication in the choice of our Cathedral Church. Through its ancient foundation is emphasized our historic heritage. Newark is one with the struggling British Church before the coming of Augustine. It was in some real sense for us that Thomas à Becket won his victory for the freedom of the Church when he died a martyr's death in Canterbury. In the troubled Reformation days, purging the Church of alien elements, it was our kin who kept inviolate the tie which bound us to the Apostles' teaching and fellowship.

The tie is more than sentimental. Not without difficulty our forbears sought and found its expression in the Church's order no less than in her faith. With them to America the English missionaries had brought the Book of Common Prayer with its provision for the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation. More than eighty years, however, were destined to elapse between the date of the first Anglican Services in Newark and the first Service of Confirmation known to have been held in Trinity Church. Without a bishop in the Colonies, Confirmation could not be had. Nor could graduates of their colleges receive Ordination unless they undertook the hazardous voyage to England. In 1743 desiring its own minister, Trinity provided the passage money for one such graduate only to learn of his death from smallpox soon after his arrival in England. The Anglican congregations scattered up and down the Atlantic Coast must have their own bishops if what they understood to be the Christian faith was to be truly preached and truly followed. With the close of the Revolutionary War, the need was more than ever keenly felt. Finally Seabury of Connecticut was consecrated at Aberdeen in 1784 by Scottish bishops who would require, as they themselves had taken, no oath of allegiance to the English Crown. Three years later White of Philadelphia and Provoost of New York were consecrated by the Archbishop of Canterbury at his Lambeth Palace. The newly founded Church in the newly founded nation was to be called the Protestant Episcopal Church. It was henceforth as independent as the nation, but for its structure it would forever be indebted to the Church of England. In its first Prayer Book of 1789 and in successive Prayer Books to this very day, it would declare that "This Church is far from intending to depart from the Church of England in any essential point of doctrine, discipline, or worship; or further than local circumstances require." Since 1867 Lambeth Palace has welcomed periodical assemblies in which the bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church have joined with bishops of the other independent Churches of the Anglican Communion to discuss matters of practical interest. The judgment of these Lambeth Conferences has frequently furnished wise guidance for future action though the resolutions passed have only moral weight in the respective independent Churches whose bishops constitute the Conference.

Our Church is free. No doubt today among its members, those of purely Anglo-Saxon lineage are a minority group. Thus it is in the life of our nation. Both Church and State have been enriched by the varied strains they have assimilated, yet each gladly claims as its own the best traditions of old England. In its historic foundation Newark's Cathedral is a symbol of the ties which bind us to England and her Church.

No institution can be static if it would serve its own age. Successive generations have altered the fabric of old world Cathedrals. What has been a parish Church is now the Cathedral of our Diocese. I must speak parenthetically and briefly of certain changes which are contemplated in the building in which we are assembled. The Cathedral Chapter has approved preliminary studies by a competent architect to bring greater dignity and beauty into its interior by carrying forward through the entire length of the nave the present galleries and supporting them by pillars joined in lofty arcades. The chancel will be deepened and at its right a small chapel provided. At diocesan functions the choir will be removed to a loft at the left of the present Sanctuary, thus providing adequate seating space for a great body of clergy without as now the use of the pews in the nave. Proper facilities for their vesting and for the choir will be provided beneath the chancel. We cannot yet know the cost of these and other contemplated changes. From the former All Saints' Cathedral foundation a substantial sum is available to which it may be possible to add certain funds held by the old Trinity Parish. As the time for actual construction draws nearer, we are confident that many throughout the Diocese will wish to share in enhancing the beauty and the usefulness of this Cathedral, built upon the foundation of two hundred years of history.

Each generation must add its own chapter to the chapters already written. We must not be idolaters worshipping a remote past; neither must we be iconoclasts shattering its precious treasure. The tendency of men to reverence the past has been called a particularly affectionate expression of reverence for God. Ours is no momentary life; we are partakers of an eternal one. In this lies the security and the majesty of our little lives. Christ came not to destroy the law or the prophets, but to fulfil them; yet in the performance of his errand of fulfillment not destruction, He drew distinctions between the essential and the accidental. He proclaimed eternal truths in such fashion as to be applicable to the problems of each succeeding age. The timeless was to have its constant timeliness. We best discharge our debt to God for the sacred past by our present effort to know His will and to accomplish it.

Let us relate to our own day the two significant facts in the story of the founding of our Cathedral Church. One is that our place in the Church Catholic is through the Anglican tradition. Now the Anglican Churches have received and held the faith of Catholic Christendom, but they have exhibited a rich variety in methods both of approach and of interpretation. They are the heirs of the Reformation as well as of the Catholic tradition, holding together the two traditions in a single fellowship of worship and of witness. To this fact is due the liberty of interpretation and the variety of use which are claimed, and which are allowed within the Episcopal Church. Let me give one or two illustrations. Sacraments are central in our faith and worship. The Book of Common Prayer provides forms for their administration. Its Offices of Instruction briefly set forth their meaning. The language of these formularies is patent of more than one interpretation. Christ is present when in obedience to His command we seek Him at the altar. To doubt this fact would contradict both early Christian teaching and our deepest religious experience, but the manner of His presence is undefined. The Holy Communion is a sacrificial act, but the nature of the sacrifice is not set forth. A man is ordained to the Office of a Priest in the Church of God, but the Church provides alternative Sentences of Ordination differing in emphasis. There is wide liberty in our forms of Public Worship, both as to the Service chosen and as to the accompanying ceremonial. Each of us may have his preferences, but he must grant the right to others which he claims for himself. Whether or not one approves its great diversity in faith and worship, Anglicanism stands for a comprehensive Catholicity.

This has been especially characteristic of our own Episcopal Church. To this fact may in part be due the action taken by our General Convention in 1886, seeking the restoration of the organic unity of the Church. A basis for its complete restoration will be found in God's good time. It cannot be by unqualified submission to Rome, to Athens, or to Canterbury. Submission is due to Christ alone, the Church's only Head; it involves alertness in the discovery of His will for us through earnest thought and prayer. The 1886 Convention stated four points as essential: the Holy Scripture as the revealed word of God; the Nicene Creed as the sufficient statement of the Christian Faith; the two Sacraments—Baptism and the Supper of the Lord; and the Historic Episcopate locally adapted to the varying needs of nations and peoples. Two years later the Lambeth Conference gave its approval to these four elements as essentials for reunion. Since 1920 they have been known as the Lambeth Quadrilateral. On this basis for some years past a project of union between the dioceses of the Anglican Church and the two great Protestant Churches in South India has been in preparation. Negotiations have been initiated between the Church of England and the Federal Council of the Evangelical Free Churches. The most important matter to engage the attention of our coming General Convention is the consideration of negotiations between the Episcopal Church and the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America.

The four points later incorporated in the Lambeth Quadrilateral, the Bishops said in 1886, were "incapable of compromise or surrender by those who have been ordained to be stewards and trustees for the common and equal benefit of all men." This is still the judgment of the great body of our Church. If in a plan for reunion with the Presbyterians these are conserved, it would seem that the comprehensive Catholicity of Anglicanism would be consistent with a wide latitude of emphasis and practice. The first three essentials of the Lambeth Quadrilateral present few difficulties in our negotiations with the Presbyterian Church. Their formularies are as explicit as our own in the acceptance of the Holy Scriptures as the Word of God, and of the historic Creeds as the statement of the Church's faith. For them as for us Baptism is declared to be a sign and seal of regeneration by the Holy Spirit and of incorporation into the Church of Christ. By them as by us the Holy Communion is deemed to be a means through which Christ gives Himself to His people for their spiritual nourishment and growth in grace. It is true that in practice this Sacrament is less frequently administered than among Episcopalians, but there was a time when in this Cathedral, the Lord's Supper was held no more frequently than among Presbyterians today. The life of the united Church would be enriched through the contribution each would bring from the tradition of its own experience. From us might come a greater apprehension of the richness of the Sacramental system. From them would doubtless come a wider use of laymen, trained and set apart to share in the spiritual affairs of the Parish. The subordinate ministry of Ruling Elders in many ways resembles that of the Diaconate in the early Church, an order which among us has virtually fallen into disuse except as a period of probation for apprentice Priests. Forms of public worship and usages now authorized or permitted among us would continue to be allowed; in this regard, the rights of congregations to continue their accustomed use would be carefully safeguarded. None of our liberties need be abridged.

The fourth essential named in the Lambeth Quadrilateral is the Historic Episcopate locally adapted. This implies that in the united Church the future ministry of the Church shall be episcopally ordained. What should be the status in the united Church of these already ordained in one or the other of the uniting communions? Surely Divine grace has been given through the real and effective ministry of each, but may it not be that in a united Church the ministers of each tradition will wish fresh strength and power from God to enable them the more effectively in the wider sphere to execute their ministry? Divine grace is one, yet at succeeding stages of our spiritual development and for successive tasks or spheres of service, we ask for its outpouring. It is given in Baptism and again at Confirmation. A man ordained to the Diaconate receives it. Once more he receives it when he becomes a Priest. If he becomes a Bishop, again it is conferred. The united Church might, for example, provide a formal Service through which men previously ordained in either Communion would receive a further bestowal of the grace of God through prayer accompanied by the laying on of hands. Whether it were to be termed re-ordination, conditional re-ordination, ulterior ordination, or mutual recognition with extension of authority is of secondary importance. The unity of His Church is the will of Christ. As heirs of the Anglican tradition of comprehensiveness, we especially are bound to seek to achieve organic unity with Presbyterians and every other Christian body. We must be a living community, ready to move under the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

It is my hope and confidence that the coming General Convention will take a step forward toward a reunion of the Churches. Whether it will be so far a step as some might wish I cannot say. Some progress toward the desired end can and should be registered if we have a genuine desire for the fulfillment of Christ's prayer that all may be one in Him. Our Convention of 1942 authorized the appointment of a Diocesan Committee on Approaches to Unity. The Committee has never been discharged, and I think should be continued, to be available for the fulfillment of any responsibilities which might be delegated to the dioceses by General Convention.

There is a second implication in our choice of Trinity Church as our Cathedral. Men's obedience to the missionary imperative gave the Cathedral birth. In every age obedience is due the Great Commission laid by our Lord upon His Apostles. The Ministry of the Word and Sacraments is vigorously to be prosecuted among them that are far off and among them that are nigh. The end of this Ministry is the demonstration of the brotherhood of man, through faith in the fatherhood of God. Its ethical fulfillment is found in love of neighbor and of God.

Our present age has witnessed an enhancement of man's power to destroy. Consciously or unconsciously its effect may take two forms. Negatively it may lead men to become the victims of despair. Why should they concern themselves with the injustices of a society already doomed? Positively it may lead men to discard all moral inhibitions. Why should not they release their lower impulses which they have kept in check just as the scientist releases nuclear energy which till now has been confined?

Christian missions teach man to believe that life is not limited to this present world. We are citizens of heaven, inheritors of a city which is not made nor destructible by human hands; yet so long as the world does endure, it should more and more reflect the glory of the eternal. Human relationships should be governed by the perfect law of love. The promotion of such a society is one end of the Ministry of the Word and Sacraments.

In our fulfillment of the law of love, we must identify ourselves with the oppressed of every land. To bear one another's burdens is the acid test of our belief in world community. Hunger breeds revolt and discontent which are the enemies of peace. The whole world knows ours to be a land of plenty. We may become the most hated nation in the world unless we bend every effort to feed the starving peoples of Europe and of Asia. We cannot wait for the tardy establishment of a systematic rationing of food. Gifts of money are not the answer to the problem. The world's need must be met. The starting point in meeting it is in every kitchen of our diocese.

To feed the hungry is to accept and to obey the law of love. It is an expression of our sense of world community. To share with men Christ, who is the living bread which came down from heaven,—this is a further expression of that sense. The Church which preaches Christ the living Bread by both precept and example, may lead the way to the achievement of the world community. Today it is only a dream, yet the fulfillment of this dream is the will of God. Our will like His must be a perfect peace. We shall believe not in the inevitability of war, but in the possibility of peace. Fear and distrust can be dispelled only through the patient, resolute effort of men and nations to understand each other. We claimed to be fighting for a new and better world. We shall never find it if we now seek to return to the world we had. Peace can be ours only if in belief and action we commit ourselves to the literal and universal truth of certain principles. They are written in the story of the founding of our nation. They also stem from the Christian doctrine of the Incarnation. All men are in the sight of God born equal. As His children each has his inalienable right to life, to liberty, and to the pursuit of happiness. For the discovery and the recovery of this right the Church contends. Thus, in the words of St. Augustine "the City of Man may approach to the ineffable goodness of the City of God." This is the Mission of the Church. The royal charter granted it by Christ the King with its conferring of privilege imposes a responsibility. May God give to every parish and mission in the diocese, and to old Trinity Cathedral, grace for its fulfillment.

The Convention proper was opened with a Celebration of the Holy Communion in Trinity Cathedral, on Tuesday morning, May 14, at nine o'clock, the Bishop, the Right Reverend Benjamin M. The Chairman of the Committee on Constitution and Canons, the Reverend W. O. Kinsolving, presented the following report:—

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON CONSTITUTION AND CANONS, 1946.

The Committee on Constitution and Canons reports to the Seventy-second Annual Convention of the Diocese of Newark that the following amendments to the Canons of the Diocese were placed in the hands of this Committee, in accordance with the provisions of Canon 28, with the approval of the Finance and Advisory Board at least one month before the annual meeting of the Convention, and this Committee therefore submits such proposed amendments for consideration by the Convention.

Proposed Amendments to Canon 6

It is proposed that Section I, subdivision (1) be amended by adding after "President of the Standing Committee" a comma and the following words: "the Vice President of the Board of Missions and Church Extension, the Chairman of the Board of Religious Education, the Chairman of the Board of Christian Social Service," so that said paragraph when so amended shall read as follows:

"There shall be a Finance and Advisory Board consisting of the Bishop, the Bishop Coadjutor, the Suffragan Bishop, if there be one, the President of the Standing Committee, the Vice President of the Board of Missions and Church Extension, the Chairman of the Board of Religious Education, the Chairman of the Board of Christian Social Service, and the Treasurer of the Convention, ex-officio; also twelve other persons, who shall represent as far as possible the recognized organizations of the Diocese, one-half of whom shall be elected by the Convention and one-half appointed by the Bishop."

It is proposed that Section I, subdivision (2) be amended by substituting the words, "This Board shall also" for the words, "It shall" at the beginning of the second sentence, and by adding, after the first sentence, the following: "To this end, each of the following ex-officio members of the Board, namely, the Vice President of the Board of Missions and Church Extension, the Chairman of the Board of Religious Education, and the Chairman of the Board of Christian Social Service, shall report regularly at such times as the Finance and Advisory Board may determine on the work of his own Board", so that the subsection when so amended shall read as follows:

"This Board shall be the agent of the Convention for the unification, simplification, and development of the work of the Church through the various organizations and institutions now existing or which may hereafter be created. To this end, each of the following ex-officio members of the Board, namely, the Vice President of the Board of Missions and Church Extension, the Chairman of the Board of Religious Education, and the Chairman of the Board of Christian Social Service, shall report regularly at such times as the Finance and Advisory Board may determine on the work of his own Board. This Board shall also act as adviser to the Bishop in financial and other matters, and, upon request, to individual Parishes within the Diocese."

The Reverend Mr. Tasman spoke on the amendment to Canon 6, and stated:—

"The purpose of these proposed amendments is to further the correlation, unification and efficiency of our diocesan program. This is accomplished by including in the membership of the Finance and Advisory Board, which is the agent of the Convention for carrying on our diocesan work, those persons who head the various Boards in the Diocese, and requiring from them regular reports of their activities. This will give the Finance and Advisory Board a complete picture of the whole program and aid it in correlating and coordinating the work and eliminating overlapping and duplication of effort.

"These proposed amendments do not represent new and untried procedures. The majority of Dioceses have been operating successfully along these lines for many years."

The Reverend Francis Allison asked why the Chairman of the Field Department had been excluded, and suggested that this Department be added.

The Chairman suggested that further study be made on the question raised by Mr. Allison.

It was moved, seconded and carried that the amendments to Canon 6 be and are hereby adopted.

Consideration of other amendments was deferred until later in Convention.

The Chairman appointed the following as Tellers of Elections:—The Reverend Messrs. Gordon T. Jones, Robert J. Creech, John H. Findlay, Elmer D. F. Francis, Harold King, Jr., and Kenneth E. The Eleventh Annual Convention Address of the Suffragan Bishop, the Right Reverend Theodore R. Ludlow, was made at this time.

THE ELEVENTH CONVENTION ADDRESS OF THE SUFFRAGAN BISHOP.

Fellow Workers in Christ:

Ten years have passed since I was consecrated a Bishop in the Church of God and was given the privilege of serving the Diocese of Newark. In the normal course of events, I must, according to the wise provision of our canons, resign my office ten years from now, so this year is a kind of turning point. It gives me an opportunity to review the past and to consider plans for the future.

Under our American system, a major portion of a bishop's time is divided between Confirmations and organizational activities. During these ten years, I have had the privilege of confirming 9,966 candidates. A study of the records has been made to ascertain the ecclesiastical sources from which these candidates have come in those ten years. The number states as received from the Roman Church does not represent the full number received from that Church because we recognize their Confirmation, even if they do not recognize ours, and, therefore, some have been admitted to Communion in our Church without going through the ceremony of being received by a bishop at the time of his visitation. With this qualification, it is interesting to note the various sources from which these candidates have come. Naturally, the great majority, or 74 per cent of the total number, were baptized members of our own Church. Of those from other Christian bodies, 14 per cent were from the Methodist Episcopal Church; 12.1 per cent from the Presbyterian; 11.9 per cent from the Roman Catholic; 9.5 per cent from the Lutheran; 4.8 per cent from the Reformed; 4.3 per cent from the Baptist; 2.5 per cent from the Congregational; 1 per cent from the Orthodox; and 39.9 per cent were from various other bodies or else the record was incomplete as to source of Baptism.

Some of the Confirmation report sheets are incomplete and that is to be regretted. When a priest returns to the bishop a list of those whom he has presented, he should be careful to note the date and place of baptism and should sign the report personally. These reports are capable of being used as legal evidence in a court of law if they have an original signature and not a typewritten one. What has been said about Confirmation records is also true of the entries in a Parish Register. I have found Parish Registers very neatly kept all in one handwriting, but such entries are not usable as legal records because they have not been signed by the officiating clergyman. Records of weddings, especially, should have the original signatures of the officiant, the bride, the groom and the witnesses. With the increase of Social Security, these records are becoming more and more valuable, and our clergy should check over all of their records and be sure that they are complete in every detail and are made original by the actual signature of the officiating clergyman.

In the last twenty-five years (1920 - 1945), we have gained 30½ per cent in communicants but have dropped 320 per cent in our per capita giving for purposes outside of the diocese. In recent years, we have been making some improvement, but we still have a long way to go to return to the sums we gave prior to the depression. In 1943, we struck the lowest point with $37,500 to the National Council. In 1944 we gave $49,000; in 1945, $58,000; and in 1946, we plan to pay the National Council $60,000, but our mathematical share for this year is $88,000.

In 1930, we reported 54,270 communicants who gave on an average of $2.51 apiece. In 1945 we reported 56,733 communicants who gave 86¢ apiece, and that 86¢ apiece is a higher average than had been maintained for several years preceding. We must also admit that we would not pay as much as we do now to the National Council if it were not for the fact that some parishes pay more than their quota. We are grateful to them, but it is not fair to all concerned to rest content with any such situation. All of us should not only meet our quota in full but count it a privilege to give gladly beyond that amount to the creating of a Christian world. When we send missionaries all over the earth, we are not only obeying Christ's commandment but we are thereby creating a sense of community in the world which is a far stronger guarantee of peace than any number of battleships or armies.

This obligation to help in the creation of a peaceful world cannot be discharged by an annual, spasmodic appeal to the sympathies of our people. It can only come out of a year-round sustained educational effort to enlighten our people concerning their privilege and their responsibility. No parish has ever suffered through generosity to the missionary work of the Church. The sound, happy parishes in this diocese are not the ones who are fearfully doling out a minimum of dollars on the red side of the envelope, but those who see in their giving for others a chance to knit the world together in peace. They prefer to sacrifice for peace rather than for war.

During these war years, it has been a happy privilege to carry on with the officers and diocesan council members of the Young People's Fellowship. One by one, the men were drawn off into the armed forces, but the young women carried on faithfully. It is entirely owing to them that the organization not only survives but, now that so many of the veterans have returned, is taking on new life and strength. There are various parochial organizations of young people which might profit by membership in the diocesan Young People's Fellowship. In a time when divisive forces are at work, it is healthy to promote all possible cooperative activities. We hope that the clergy will consider this matter and help their young people to profit by the exchange of ideas and by the growth that comes from wider fellowship.

In these critical days of social and economic readjustment, our Board of Christian Social Service should be a wise and strong arm of the diocese. If I were completely frank, I would have to admit that to me it has been the only disappointing part of my responsibility as a bishop. This is said without any reflection upon those who have led it or upon those who have earnestly tried to do their duty as members of it. The difficulty probably arises out of the nature of our Church and out of the temper of the days in which we live. From the social, economic and ecclesiastical standpoint, our Church is a very conservative body. Perhaps its very emphasis on historicity makes it reluctant to consider change, although it vigorously proclaims its faith in the guidance of the Holy Spirit. We sometimes forget how our Lord rebuked the conservatism of Nicodemus by reminding him that the Holy Spirit refuses to be bound by the wishful thinking of man.

Let a socially alert clergyman or a socially trained lay person suggest that we really come to grips with some of the social problems of the day, especially if they affect our own Church life or its institutions, and promptly there is a tightening of the voice and manner on the part of those who feel that matters are well established as they are. The immediate outcome is frequently a typically innocuous Episcopal resolution which covers the issue but does not clarify it. The ultimate outcome is too apt to be the withdrawal from membership of the socially interested party or of the conservative party, and the Church loses in either case. By reason of our human nature, the Church has been and always will be made up of progressives and conservatives. For that very reason, the organizational work of the Church should be the very place where those two temperaments can face each other in utter frankness and come to some Christian mode of procedure. It is because the Church has failed to face changing ideas frankly that labor unions and public forums have taken over the teaching function which is a precious heritage of the Church.

As an aid in the solution of this problem, some members of the Board have suggested the advisability of an Executive Secretary who would serve as a means of continuity and of information to a Board constituted as ours is. It is debatable whether an Executive Secretary would be a real help where the Board is reluctant to face issues or to decide upon Christian procedure in the face of widely divergent attitudes. There would seem to be a danger that such a person might become a substitute for Board action. A great deal would depend upon the person chosen. A person of training, knowledge and of vision would of course be needed, and one who had considerable skill in coordinating varying points of view. The matter deserves the thoughtful consideration of us all. This consideration is particularly important because social situations are changing today and new fields of service are opening up to us. There is a growing need for some representative Church body to keep in regular touch with our own Church members in veterans' and state hospitals. It will be essential for rectors to keep their parish service lists up to date. The experience of the last war shows that even years after the war, men affected by their war experiences will drop out of view and be lost to Christian fellowship unless a deliberate effort is made to maintain contact. It is my own opinion that this problem is going to be so great after this war that the Church is going to have to appoint chaplains for this particular purpose.

Another new field of service is the industrial chaplaincy where men will serve among industrial operatives just as they did in the armed forces. There will also be a need for helping brides who have come to this country from overseas to adjust themselves to our manner of life. This, too, is a process which will cover a period of years and our responsibility cannot be discharged by a welcoming hand the first time they come to church. The social and economic strains of the present day call for new and serious efforts at pastoral work on the part of all of our clergy. These pastoral problems are so serious that I think it would be wise for our men to neglect their preaching, if necessary, and to throw themselves into such vigorous pastoral work that they will really know their people during these difficult days. There is no substitute for regular and faithful pastoral calling, if one is to really know and serve his people.

In addition to facing these responsibilities, the Board of Christian Social Service should keep a critical eye on our own Church institutions so that the standards governing their work may be comparable to those governing secular institutions, even although the equipment cannot always be as costly. The principles of operation should be scrutinized so that they really express advanced Christian thinking concerning human rights. Church institutions should be in the forefront in practicing and in fostering such rights and should not limp along on custom or on the devotion of the personnel involved. The most effective teaching power which the Church can exercise in these difficult days is to set a good example in human relations, and to see to it that its own practices are free from exploitation and from discrimination.

One of the social problems which will be considered at the coming General Convention is the Church's part in maintaining Christian marriage or Holy Matrimony, as it is called in the Book of Common Prayer. This whole problem is so complicated by ignorance and by prejudices concerning the real nature of Christian Marriage and by the priest's dual role in representing the State as well as the Church, that it is difficult to help people to approach the problem with calmness or with a teachable mind. For their own purposes, too many newspapers and uninformed people have sensationalized the problem as the "Divorce Problem" and refer to the efforts of our Church to learn and to express the mind of Christ as an effort "to liberalize" or "to tighten" the canons of the Church. We need to keep clearly in mind that the solemn task of the Church is to use the most skilled and Christian scholarship available to study the mind of Christ as it is revealed in His words and in the words of His co-workers, and to apply the purpose so revealed to the circumstances of our own day. If such application requires adjustment of our canons that is neither liberalizing nor tightening them, but making them true to their purpose.

At the request of Bishop Washburn, and in accordance with the desire of the Joint Commission on Holy Matrimony, it has been my privilege to act as convenor of a group of clergymen in this diocese who have had this matter under study since January 1945. At the proper time, our findings will be submitted to you by a member of this Study Group. May I call your attention to the fact that in spite of different points of view represented in the Study Group, our report is unanimous.

Scholarship has shown that there are times when there is grave doubt as to whether the New Testament has preserved for us the actual words of our Lord. The so-called exceptive clause in St. Matthew 5:32: "Whosoever shall put away his wife, save for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery," is an illustration of this fact. Scholars are reasonably well agreed today that when Christ held up the ideal of indissolubility of marriage, He made no exceptions. For this reason, your committee has deleted the exceptive clause from its proposed canon.

When Jesus discussed problems involving the law, He always put human need and duty to fellow humans above the letter of the law. He set forth principles of action so as not to shatter man's free will. He did not legislate. So, in speaking of marriage, we believe that Jesus was laying down a principle. He was not legislating. He said in principle that marriage is sacred when it is undertaken for the sake of accomplishing God's purpose. That purpose comprises the procreation of children, the development of a basic social unit in society, the development of the character of the participating persons and the extension of God's Kingdom in the world. Because marriage has such strategic importance in the whole purpose of God, it should be entered into by Christians with an understanding of this purpose, it should be life-long, it should be indissoluble and should be the normal experience of all persons.

In our imperfect human society, this ideal is at times defeated through ignorance, through acts of selfish will and through character faults which destroy the essence of true marriage. It may also be defeated by the influence of non-Christian social conditions over which the parties and the Church have little control. The Church is the chief body which has the responsibility of determining whether a Christian marriage was ever really entered into or whether such intention was later defeated by later developments.

Much of the Church's present difficulty would eventually be done away with if there was everywhere an early and thorough effort to discharge our primary duty of instruction in what constitutes Holy Matrimony. We must keep our eyes upon the duty of real instruction for Christian marriage and an exposition of the demands made upon personality by such a marriage, and not simply upon the Church's rules about marriage. Our clergy should also instruct our people, particularly our young people, concerning the arbitrary pre-nuptial demands made by the Roman Church when marriage is proposed between a Roman and a non-Roman. Because of these demands, mixed marriages are a most prolific source of broken homes. A study of some 12,000 homes, all of them having children, has been made which shows that where both parties to the marriage were Protestant, 6-8/10 per cent of them were later broken; where both parties were Roman, 6-4/10 per cent were later broken, but where one party was Roman and the other Protestant, 15-2/10 per cent were later broken. In the case of childless homes, the percentage is much higher. A little booklet called "If I Marry a Roman Catholic" and issued by the Commission on Marriage and the Home of the Federal Council of Churches in Christ in America is brief, helpful and contains a valuable bibliography on the subject. It should have a wide distribution among our people.

We are living in a world that we must make Christian by every cooperative means in our power or else its present-day secularisms will plunge us all back into barbarism. We must bring to bear upon the world every cohesive and cooperative force that serves a Christian purpose whether or not we see eye to eye in every detail with those who control that force. Because of the faith which we have in common with other Protestants, we should cooperate with our fellow Protestants of other names, even although they may not see eye to eye with us in matters pertaining to our catholic heritage. There seem to be some people so constituted that they desire to exclude others from association with their kind as a means of demonstrating their own alleged catholicity. It was once my lot to preach in the Old Temple Church in London following a priest of our own American Church who had said to the congregation on a preceding Sunday, "Brethren, Protestantism is dead but you have not yet found it out." Far from being convinced by his words, the congregation was irritated beyond measure. I assured the congregation that, in my humble judgment, Protestantism was still very much alive and would continue to grow as long as there were persons who used the glorious word "catholic" in a sectarian sense.

There is a tendency in certain parts of our Church to minimize or to apologize for the Protestant Reformation, but I confess to being one who makes no apology for it. Our Protestant heritage does not constitute the whole basis of my ecclesiastical allegiance, but it does make up a very meaningful part of it. As expressed in our Anglican Church, the Protestant Reformation was the means of preserving for us the primitive, catholic right of every child of God to protest, that is, to witness directly to God. We must remember the Latin origin of the word and its use at the time of the Reformation: it meant to testify to, to witness directly to. It asserted the ancient privilege of any individual to testify directly to God concerning the faith that was in him without the necessary intervention of any other earthly person or institution. There is nothing negative in being a Protestant, although some try to read that meaning into the present-day use of the word. To be a Protestant is to protest, to offer one's life as a witness to God and to make a direct personal approach to God without the intervention of any man-made machinery. This right of direct personal approach, of witnessing or testifying for God and His truth, was restored to us at a price at the time of the Protestant Reformation. We will do well to guard that right, to practice it and to see that it is extended to all Christians.

One of the ways in which we can practice it is to take a larger share than we do in the life and work of co-operative, Christian bodies such as the New Jersey Council of Churches, and we ought to follow the example of the Diocese of New Jersey and bear our full financial share in its work instead of cutting our contribution nearly in half as we have done this year. There are no short cuts to a new world. We must build it piece by piece by personally and corporately aiding in every enterprise that makes for cooperation and understanding. A united world will not come simply out of blue prints drawn up by the experts on Flushing Meadows, but by many acts of fellowship performed by little fellows like you and me.

The troublesome condition of the world at home and abroad is the basic reason why we must push to a sacrificial conclusion the Reconstruction and Advance Fund. This is not simply for the sake of the money involved or because of what that money will make possible in the way of reconstruction, but because the effort is important in its effect upon a distracted world and upon our own lives. When people are uneasy and fearful, unselfish service to someone in need is the most expeditious and effective healing agent. It gives fearful people first-hand evidence of the power of unselfish effort and, by a feeling of accomplishment, prevents them from shrieking away even more fearfully from the responsibilities of life. We are all in need of that kind of unselfish medicine in these uncertain days. It is for this reason that I urge a renewed and vigorous effort by all the people of the diocese to meet our full obligations of $264,000 by August 1.

In spite of the late and fumbling start we made in this diocese, I think the result so far achieved is a remarkable evidence of a sense of stewardship on the part of those who have shared in this enterprise sacrificially. Because every parish has not yet risen to its full responsibility is no reason for withholding praise from those who have already worked hard and have faced their responsibility sacrificially. It was last September 17 before the full Diocesan Committee could be finally gotten together and, at about that time, the National Council announced that the need was so great that its original objective of $5,000,000 would have to be raised to $8,800,000. That meant sending another letter to all of the clergy to the effect that Newark's share of the total would be $264,000 instead of the $120,000 as originally stated. The psychological effect of the raised objective can best be left to your imagination.

An effort was made to enlist the help of large givers prior to the usual Fall canvass, but the late start kept this from being fully effective. We are grateful for those who entrusted to us lists of special givers. We have kept strict faith with them. Those lists have not been out of our hands except for very brief intervals when they were sent directly to professional envelope addressing companies for the purpose of directing mail to the names on the lists. Those lists are now being returned to those who sent them to us. So far as we have direct knowledge of special gifts made in response to this appeal, we are keeping a careful list by parishes so that the amounts so given may be counted on the parish quota, if that has not already been done.

We are deeply grateful to Mr. Percy S. Young for serving as General Chairman and to Mr. Charles H. P. Yallalee for his patient and effective work as Executive Chairman. We would also like to thank Mr. Morris Sayre for his help although, with his usual modesty, he will probably try to deny that he did anything worthwhile. These gentlemen and others carried on when I had to be absent in response to the Presiding Bishop's request to assist in this work in the Dioceses of Southern Ohio and Bethlehem. I have already expressed to Bishop Lawrence of Western Massachusetts on your behalf our sincere thanks for his effective and untiring efforts during his stay in our diocese, but I feel sure that you will also want our gratitude to be expressed in this public fashion. We rejoice with Bishop Lawrence in the fact that his own diocese has already met in full its own quota of $140,000 and is continuing its efforts to secure an even larger amount. We assure him that we will continue our own efforts to secure our full quota for the sake of showing our gratitude to him, among other reasons.

In an effort to ascertain the exact status of the fund in our own diocese, we recently sent a letter to each clergyman in charge of a parish or mission asking him to state the amount already received in cash and the amount which he estimated would still come in from his parish by the end of the campaign. This was not to be a pledge but an estimate, so that we could in turn notify the National Council of the probable sum it would receive from the Diocese of Newark. This experience reminded me of an article I recently read in a Presbyterian magazine. The writer complained that an official communication to the Presbyterian ministers in a given area received only a scant 50 per cent reply. I sometimes wonder why some of my clerical brethren hesitate at union with the Presbyterians when we have so much in common with them.

So far as this office has been able to ascertain the facts to date, $122,992.28 has been received from all diocesan and parochial sources for the Reconstruction and Advance Fund. In addition, we estimate that $46,313 will be forthcoming to this office by August 1. If these estimates prove reasonably correct, we will have received by that date a total amount of approximately $169,305.28. This amount is $94,694 short of our quota of $264,000. We do not believe this represents a failure of will on the part of our people but a failure of opportunity and, in view of the world's desperate need, we are led to wonder whether this Convention would care to authorize a special offering on Whitsunday, looking to the securing of the balance. This would give those parishes and missions which have not yet made a concerted effort to meet their full obligation a chance to do so and would give others a chance to make additional sacrifices if they are so moved.

Now I should like to glance briefly at the ten years ahead and share with you certain ideas which have to come to a focus out of the turmoil of our day. How are we prepared in this diocese to cope with the problems which confront us? I must be frank and say that in my opinion we are not as well prepared as we might be to help a distraught world either through our clergy or through our laymen. This is not because of any particular personal fault of either group, but is due, I believe, to the system by which we are all held together, or not held together, according to one's point of view.

In my judgment, the diocese is not sufficiently knit together to produce that sense of common and corporate fellowship which is essential to good work these days. The women are the most effective working force in the diocese, but they are not truly knit into the organic and representative life of the whole diocese. They are permitted to work as auxiliaries to the life of the diocese, and we are deeply grateful for their services, but they have no share in the policy making and no share in the making of quotas or in control of expenditures.

There is no one diocesan organization which truly represents and co-ordinates all of the organizational activities of the diocese. The Finance and Advisory Board has authority over all the activities, but it does not represent all of them. We have a number of Boards, each one of which carries on its particular responsibilities, but they all have only two common ties: the Bishop is ex-officio Chairman of each, and the Finance and Advisory Board controls the budget of each. Such a system is perhaps efficient, but it is not as democratic as it should be. Democracy is cumbersome, but it is the only healthy system among a free people. It is very difficult to build up a sound corporate responsibility among our people when the organizations created to discharge that responsibility have very little power of control over policy or co-ordination. There is no central body in the organized life of this diocese which is widely representative of the whole life of the diocese and which can consult together concerning what is wholesome and strategic for the diocese as a whole and can then plan for the execution by common effort of a decision so reached.

Another weakness is the fact that we do not have our clergy together in one body except on special occasions. For example, I have been canonically resident in this diocese for nineteen years, and I do not yet see why it is necessary for us to have two clerical associations in a diocese as small as ours. This is not a Convention matter, but it illustrates the problem before us. Perhaps in the old days when the Lackawanna Railroad and the main line of the Erie served as the only means of communication for certain areas of our diocese, there was some practical necessity for two clerical associations, but that is not true today. Nobody desires to regiment anybody, but, on the other hand, the fear of regimentation can produce a situation which is lacking in coherence and which will not long stand up under the divisive influences of our day. We should not only be a family in name but also in practice and in common experience. When we demonstrate how we can live and work together with a sense of common responsibility and common control, perhaps we will be more effective agents in fostering community and fellowship among the people around us and in the world.

In the face of tremendous problems created by changing conditions, too many of our clergy have been in the same general locality for too long a time. That is, they have been in that locality for too long a time without any adequate opportunity for refreshment of body, mind and spirit. We are not decrying long rectorships. We are decrying long rectorships without adequate opportunity for renewal. We are not urging longer vacations nor more time for retreats, but we believe there should be after a stated interval a real break in routine and a complete getting away from the job.

Two of our clergymen have been canonically resident within the diocese for 40 years and are still carrying on an active ministry. Fifty clergymen, or approximately 1/3 of our total active list, have been canonically resident for more than 20 years, and slightly more than 1/2 have been resident for 10 years. In one sense, this is a fine record. We are proud of our men who have carried on their ministry so long and so faithfully. Even while we express our pride in their faithfulness, we can still question whether we have been wise to permit them to carry on in this way without any chance for renewal. A real pastoral ministry is a grueling task. In course of time, a man is in danger of becoming so preoccupied with his task that he cannot see the job in its true proportions, or note changing conditions or emphases.

It scarcely needs arguing that a particularly heavy burden rests upon our pastoral ministry today. These men must not only know the inner thoughts and anxieties of their people, but they must know how to meet those anxieties intelligently by keeping abreast of modern thought. It would be fine if every one of our clergy could take a three-months' course at the Council for Clinical Training in New York City. There they would brush up on how to recognize the emotional crises which are going to be increasingly prevalent and they would also learn what resources are available for treating such crises. But I am thinking in terms of a wider need than that. I believe that it would bring new zest to our clergymen and to the work of the parishes in this diocese if, after ten years of canonical residence in the diocese, a clergyman was given six months' leave with pay in which to study and to better prepare himself for his job.

Such a scheme would have to be paid for by increased annual diocesan giving or would require a capital fund of three or four hundred thousand dollars, at the present rate of interest, to pay a diocesan staff of five clergymen, newly ordained or retired, who could step into a parish and carry on its work for a period of six months while the rector went on his sabbatical. No parish should suffer much disadvantage in a period of six months, even in the hands of a newcomer, and the newcomer would gain valuable experience. An older parson should be able to carry on for six months without loss to the parish. When these diocesan staff clergy were not needed as substitutes, they could very profitably be employed in City Mission or in institutional work. Because of the sum of money necessary, the scheme may sound fanciful, but I believe it would be a real investment and would pay dividends in a new and more vigorous life for our diocese. I cannot imagine any finer memorial than the establishing of such a fund. Here is an opportunity for an individual or a family or a group of people to create a living memorial which would continue to enrich the whole Church in the Diocese of Newark throughout the years to come.

Another part of our work which needs strengthening is the building up of a sense of corporate responsibility among our laymen. Let me recount an incident which illustrates the penalty that comes from neglecting this. On a certain day this spring, the citizens of Boston who had occasion to use the South Station were caught in a howling mob of citizens who were welcoming home the mayor of Boston just after he had been convicted by a Federal Court of using the mails to defraud his fellow citizens. The demonstration made serious citizens think and caused at least one to blush. That one recognized that the great majority of the demonstrators belonged to the Roman Church, the same Church to which she belonged. Her indignation caused her to write a letter of protest and explanation which was published in "Commonweal" for March 15.

After stating that the long and dubious political career of Mayor Curley had been made possible "only through the support of large numbers of God-fearing, good-living Catholics", the writer went on to say, "The fact is that the Boston Catholic laity are in leading strings to the clergy and are impotent. They have no leaders, no official voice, no public opinion as a group, no forum for frank discussion. The laity have not been allowed to develop lay leadership and an informed public opinion in the field that belongs to the laity. Individually, the clergy are not to blame. The blame is on Catholics as a group, however, for a lack of social conscience."

We quote from this letter by a Romanist to Romanists and published in a Roman magazine not to point the finger at fellow Christians, but to point the finger of warning at ourselves. It is something which could happen to us and will happen to us if we forget for a moment that fact that the laity in our Church share with the clergy in the government and welfare of our Church. The danger is that the laity will defer to the clergy as being better versed and trained in the ways of the Church. If this is the case, it is a confession of a neglected duty on the part of the laity. Such an attitude on the part of the laity puts an undue burden on the clergy and adds one more temptation to their particular temptations. They are tempted to feel that a responsibility which as a matter of fact they are allowed by the laity to exercise, either through ignorance or a false sense of respect, is theirs by right and that their judgment should be accepted in all things. When such a condition prevails, the curse of clericalism is just around the corner.

There are no ecclesiastical toes to be kissed in this Church, either by the clergy or by the laity. It is a fellowship of lay and clerical workers banded together in partnership for the accomplishment of Christ's purpose. Both groups are ministers of Christ and both have spiritual responsibilities. Too many times, laymen think that their Christian duty consists in supporting the minister financially and as directed instead of recognizing that they, too, have their own particular spiritual responsibility such as the selecting of the right kind of men for the ministry and in winning persons for Baptism and Confirmation. "The difference between the clergy and the laity," says Bishop Gore, "is not a difference of kind but a difference of function."

We believe that this equal responsibility would be better realized if we were to return to the practice of the early Church where laymen had some share in all the offices of the Church. The English Church has retained vestiges of that practice in the reading of the lessons by laymen, but we should go beyond that. What a difference would be made in our sense of common fellowship in the Holy Communion, if qualified laymen assisted the priest otherwise than as acolytes or servers. Why could not a properly qualified layman assist in the administration of the Elements and so relieve the somewhat tedious strain of large numbers administered to by the priest alone? Neither the Mass nor Communion in one kind is a fair or historical solution of this problem. As our liturgical knowledge grows, we are being made increasingly aware that the primitive catholic thinking and practice concerning the Holy Communion was that of a congregation or fellowship acting together as a family and this active participation of the whole fellowship established the validity of the Communion and not simply the acts or words of a priest. We need to restore that concept.

Just at present our nation is in a deep moral slump. The whole tendency is to avoid responsibility of any kind and to expect someone else to meet it for us. There is no sense in blaming Russia or labor or the administration or the National Council or the diocese. The real fault lies in our own hearts, we are not willing to match the sacrifices of the men who bought the world a new opportunity. Until we forget our selfishness and our parochialism, we will never know real peace. The remedy for all our ills lies in our own hands and power sufficient to cure them all will be given to us by Christ if we will use it for His purpose of building up human fellowship. Let us rise up and build!

He stated that he was hopeful that the General Convention in Philadelphia will take definite and positive action on the report of the Joint Commission to be presented at that Convention. He stated that the negotiations between the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. and the Protestant Episcopal Church will form the nucleus for a wider approach to Christian Unity with other Protestant groups.

The Treasurer of the Convention, Mr. Albert H. Baldwin, presented his report by title.

Mr. Baldwin was thanked for his efficient work as Treasurer.

Secretary
Finance and Advisory Board

It was moved, seconded and carried that resolution one of the report be adopted.

It was moved, seconded and carried that resolution two of the report be adopted.

It was moved and seconded that resolution three of the report be adopted.

The Reverend Andrew Van Dyke stated that it was his understanding that Negro boys are not admitted to Bonnie Brae Farm and moved that the item of $1,000 for the Farm be removed from the Budget.

The Chairman stated that during his years as a member of the Board of Managers, Bonnie Brae Farm has never adopted such a policy of discrimination and that provision has already been made for the admission of Negro boys to the Camp at the Farm this coming summer.

The Reverend Dillard Brown stated that the last two years he has not been able to ascertain the policy of Bonnie Brae in regard to Negroes.

The Reverend William Weber moved as a substitute for the motion of Reverend Mr. Van Dyke that the $1,000 in the proposed Budget for 1947 be withheld until the Board of Managers makes known the policy concerning accepting Negro boys at the Farm. Seconded, and carried.

The third resolution of the Report was then adopted, subject to the above motion of the Reverend Mr. Weber.

It was moved, seconded and carried that resolution four in the report be adopted.

It was moved, seconded and carried that the report as a whole, with the exception noted, be adopted.

It is CERTIFIED that the reports canonically filed by these respective agencies with you for the calendar year 1945 correctly disclose their financial transactions, and that they are in agreement with their respective records.

It is further CERTIFIED that the list of securities furnished by the Custodian, the National Newark and Essex Banking Company, is a complete record of the investments of the Trustees, Episcopal Fund and Diocesan Properties; the Trustees, Fund for Aged and Infirm Clergymen; Trinity Cathedral in Newark, and for the Laura Augusta Home for Orphan Children. Changes in the investments throughout the year have been verified, and all income traced into the accounts. Certificates from the various depositories as to the amount of cash balances at December 31, 1945 have been reconciled with the balances of the several treasurers.

Respectfully,
 FREDERIC WOLFOLK,
Certified Public Accountant.

The Tellers reported the results of the third ballot:—

Mr. Robert F. Ritchie.....Clergy 83, Lay 62½

Mr. Rolfe K. Hughes.....Clergy 78, Lay 59

For Deputies to General Convention, Lay Order—

Number of Votes Cast—Clergy 108, Lay 81½.

Necessary for Choice—Clergy 55, Lay 41.

Col. Leigh K. Lydecker.....Clergy 60, Lay 48

It was moved, seconded and carried that the four Laymen in the Lay Order—namely, Mr. Frank G. Atkinson, Mr. William F. Russell, Mr. Henry J. Russell and Mr. Howard R. Cruse be elected Alternate Deputies to the General Convention and that the Secretary cast one ballot for their election.

It was moved, seconded and carried that the four Clergy in the Clerical Order—namely, Reverend L. Harold Hinrichs, Reverend Walter O. Kinsolving, Reverend John T. Ledger and Reverend George M. Plaskett be elected Alternate Deputies to the General Convention, and that the Secretary cast one ballot for their election.

The Chairman of the Committee on Miscellaneous Resolutions reported as follows:—

Resolution on the Control of Atomic Power—

The Committee feels that, while the resolution embodies a good and worthy intention, it was presented in such complicated form, and its specific recommendations were so unrealistic and impracticable in the present state of international relations, that the Committee unanimously recommends that the resolution be not adopted.

It was moved, seconded and carried that the Committee's recommendation be concurred in.

Resolution on the permissive use of the 1946 Revised Standard Version of the New Testament—

The Committee unanimously recommends the adoption of this resolution.

It was moved, seconded and carried that the Committee's recommendation be concurred in.

Resolution in reference to the Church Pension Fund increase in pension assessments—

The Committee feels the security of the Church Pension Fund is of paramount importance.

In view of the fact that the lower returns on invested funds make it necessary to increase the assessments if the integrity of the Fund is to be maintained, and since the Trustees of the Pension Fund have given this matter careful and mature study, and our own Finance and Advisory Board has concurred in these findings, the Committee unanimously recommends that the resolution be not approved.

It was moved and seconded that the Committee's report be approved.

Considerable discussion ensued on the basis of protection offered by the Church Pension Fund in comparison with Social Security Old Age and Survivors' benefits.

Question on the motion being called the motion was adopted.

Resolution concerning Lay assistance in the administration of the Holy Communion—

The Committee recognizes the existence of the problem as stated in the preamble of this resolution. It feels that the provision suggested is limited by the terminology, and should be enlarged to include Missions as well as Parishes. With this change the Committee recommends the adoption of this resolution to memorialize General Convention. Committee Vote—6 to 4.

It was moved, seconded and carried that the report of the Committee be adopted.

Resolution concerning Unity with the Presbyterian Church by Mr. Capron—

The Committee sympathizes with the intent of this resolution, but feels that the methods suggested are improper. It especially deprecates the attempt to instruct delegates as to how they shall vote.

Without prejudice to the importance of the fundamental issues involved the Committee unanimously recommends that this resolution be not adopted.

Resolution offered by Reverend E. C. Boggess on Unity—

The Committee recommends that this resolution be not adopted.

There followed considerable discussion on the above resolutions regarding Unity. Whereupon the Reverend William L. Griffin, Jr., offered the following as a substitute for the Capron resolution:—

Resolved, that the Delegates of this Diocese of Newark seek to have the present representatives of the Protestant Episcopal Church serving on the Joint Commission discharged and for the appointment, as new representatives, only those who believe in such unity, believe that it may be accomplished, and are pledged to work courageously to bring it about.

Seconded by the Reverend Orrin Judd.

Question being called this resolution was defeated.

It was moved, seconded and carried that both the Capron and Boggess resolutions be not adopted.

The Committee on Miscellaneous Resolutions was discharged with thanks.

The following report of the Committee on the Marriage Canon was presented by Dean Lichtenberger :—

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE MARRIAGE CANON.

The undersigned Committee, appointed by the Bishop of the Diocese at the request of the Chairman of the Joint Commission of General Convention on Holy Matrimony to study and to co-operate with said Joint Commission in the drafting of a suitable canon on Holy Matrimony to be presented at the next General Convention, begs leave to report as follows:

1. Your Committee met with the Suffragan Bishop as convener on January 16, 1945 and has continued to meet once a month since that date with the exception of the summer months.

2. As we surveyed the problem it seemed to us that our study should be guided particularly toward certain determining factors which must inevitably shape our conclusions:

- (a) Our Lord's intention as expressed in His words and actions and as interpreted by His contemporaries.
- (b) The elements in the contemporary background of His day which would give point and color to His words.
- (c) The expression of His intention in the principles and practices of the Church through the years, both in the Eastern and the Western Churches.
- (d) The experience and practice of the English Church.
- (e) The experience and practice of the American Church.
- (f) The dual responsibility of the officiating priest to the Church and to the State and the complications arising therefrom.
- (g) The balance to be maintained between the welfare of the institution and the welfare of human beings and between justice and mercy.
- (h) The practical problem of securing the best legislation possible in the face of conflicting secular and religious ideas.

3. At each meeting of the Committee two members read papers on assigned topics and then there followed a general discussion of the papers and of the topics. Minutes of the discussion were kept and, together with the papers, were circulated to all the members before the next meeting. Where possible, we tried to secure personal help in special fields. For example, when we were studying the Eastern Church, we were fortunate enough to secure the presence of two Orthodox priests, one of whom was versed in the canon law of that Church.

4. At the conclusion of the topical papers, each member of the Committee was asked to answer certain questions contained in a questionnaire put out by the Joint Commission. The questions and the replies made by your Committee are too involved to give in this brief report. But our conclusions are embodied in a proposed canon which was unanimously adopted by your Committee and sent to Bishop Davis for the consideration of the Joint Commission. A copy has been placed before each delegate here.

It is interesting to note that your Committee, working independently of the Joint Commission, has arrived at much the same conclusion. The Committee did not go into the detailed judicial procedure submitted by the Joint Commission, but it did feel the necessity for suitable judicial procedure to determine each case upon its merits without throwing all the burden upon the Bishop alone.

Your Committee differed from the Joint Commission in certain matters of detail, but not in the main principles. For example, it provided that the Church building should be the normal place for marriages and forbade the signing away of the birthright of unborn children in the case of mixed marriages.

Your Committee respectfully submits its report to this Convention and hopes that its efforts may be of some service to its members.

It was moved, seconded and carried that the report on the Marriage Canon be received, and that the Committee be thanked for its painstaking work.

It was moved, seconded and carried that this Convention record its thanks and appreciation to Dean Zabriskie for his presentation of a difficult problem.

Mr. Spencer Miller, Jr., presented the following resolution, seconded by the Reverend James A. Mitchell and unanimously adopted:—

WHEREAS, the peoples of all nations face a world in turmoil, civil strife and wide-spread famine a full year after the formal conclusion of the War of liberation on the continent of Europe, and

WHEREAS, the only hope of a lasting peace rests upon a government of law and order supported by the several nations and sustained by the moral enthusiasm of the people, and

WHEREAS, the United Nations today represents the only instrument of international order and cooperation of which the United States is an organic member, and

WHEREAS, the successful functioning of the United Nations depends to an increasing extent upon the responsible participation of the United States Government and upon the intelligent support and faith of all our people, now therefore be it

Resolved, that the Seventy-Second Annual Convention of the Diocese of Newark does hereby pledge its unfaltering support in this hour of testing and urges upon all our Clergy and people their steadfast support and prayers in the cause of justice and good-will among all nations.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BOARD OF CHRISTIAN SOCIAL SERVICE.

The stated purpose of the Board is to study social and industrial conditions within the Diocese and to initiate, unify and develop the social service work of the Church therein. Also the Board's duty is to co-operate with the department of Christian Social Relations of the National Council and the Provincial Commission on Christian Social Relations.

It is becoming increasingly evident that the Board should be reorganized and revitalized if it is to be effective in a world of changing social conditions. Our task is not discharged merely by the discussion of existing problems and then failing to take definite action in regard to them. It is the hope of many on the Board that thought be given, this coming year, to ways and means of assisting and advising the parishes in realizing the Church's responsibility in social matters in order to make the teachings of Christ felt.

Last year the Board considered such matters as the care of the chronic ill, the treatment of alcoholics and the institutions and means at hand which the clergy may make use of in their handling of such cases.

It was called to the attention of the Board at its January meeting that the Y.M.C.A. had not definitely stated its position as to whether or not they would admit colored people into the facilities and activities of the new building for which a campaign was under way. The Board wrote a letter to Dr. William Ward, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Y.M.C.A., urging that the Y.M.C.A. follow the same successful plan as the Y.W.C.A. by permitting no racial discrimination.

At one of its meetings, the Board heard a first hand report from the Rev'd Karl G. Kumm, a discharged Army Chaplain, who stressed the problems the returning Veteran will face. He told us how the Church can assist in helping the Veteran in his period of readjustment into civilian life.

At its March meeting, the Board considered the Resolution adopted by the Department of Social Relations of the Diocese of New York which dealt with the question of the repatriation of the bodies of service men who were buried overseas. The following Resolution was adopted:—

"WHEREAS, the Board of Christian Social Service of the Diocese of Newark has been informed that Bills have been introduced in the Senate of the United States and in the House of Representatives which direct the Secretary of War, upon application by the next of kin, to return to the United States for reburial the remains of all members of the armed forces and certain others who died on and after Dec. 7, 1941, and

WHEREAS, such an enterprise, as judged by past experience, has in it the possibility of sentimentality, fraud and the puzzlement of the people of other nations who have given our dead honored sanctuary, now, therefore be it

Resolved, that the Board of Christian Social Service together with our Bishops express on behalf of the people of this Diocese their faith in the teaching of our Church that the physical body is but the temporary abiding place of the soul. 'Flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God, neither doth corruption inherit incorruption . . . when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in Victory'."

We wish to reemphasize the statements made at the beginning of this report. That is, that the Board should discuss and debate at length all social problems with which the Church is confronted, but that the end should not be merely the adopting of Resolutions, but rather the putting into vital action the findings of the Board in order to make real our belief that the Church should make known the will of Christ and should be direct in effecting whatever changes may be necessary to establish the brotherhood of man.

Respectfully submitted,

HAROLD R. ONDERDONK, Chairman.

Hackensack, St. Cyprion's Church.—Report was made that plans and specifications had been made for much needed repairs to the Church building. It was ordered that the Committee be given "power" to proceed, subject to the Bishop's approval, to act in this matter.

At the present time there are 47 beneficiaries of the Church Pension Fund and allied Funds in the Diocese of Newark. This number is 1 less than reported to our last Convention and 8 less than reported in 1943. This total is made up as follows: Clergy receiving age benefits, 12; Clergy receiving total and permanent disability benefits, 2; widows, 31; orphans, 2.

As far as assessments in the Diocese of Newark are concerned, there are absolutely none due and unpaid for the year 1945 and the only unpaid balance due from any organization of the Diocese for the whole period from January 1, 1946 back to the beginning of the Fund in 1917, was, as of March 31st last, $170.38.

Many members of this Convention realize the fact that income on investments has decreased considerably in the last few years. The margin between the assets and the liabilities of the Fund is still a reasonable one. A safe margin, however, can be maintained in the future only if the assessment rate is increased to 10%. The General Convention of 1946, meeting in Philadelphia in September, will be asked to approve the action of the Trustees of the Fund in increasing the rate of the pension assessment to 10%, effective January 1, 1947. The members of the Board of Trustees feel that this action is essential for the future safety of the Fund.

Your Diocesan Committee is indeed proud of the record of the Diocese as concerns payment of pension premiums. We wish to thank all those persons who have been responsible for prompt attention to this important matter.

Respectfully submitted,

For the Committee,

W. O. LESLIE, Jr., Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS.

Your committee begs to report that during the past year it has had no call upon it for its services, but that it has been and is still "standing by". Even though peace has not been announced officially and we are still technically in a state of war (although at the present moment operating under a truce), we feel that the work for which this committee was originally set up (and revised at the last Diocesan Convention) has come to an end. Just what the status of conscientious objectors will be in the days to come, we cannot say. It seems that there will be considerable alterations in the laws as they stand. But that is future, and the state of affairs which called this committee into being has practically reached its end. We feel, therefore, that the time has come for this committee to be discharged.

We would like to give the Convention this picture of what has been done and what still remains to be done in relation to conscientious objectors to war.

1. The total cost for the care of Episcopal C. O.'s in Civilian Public Service camps and detached service units for the entire period of the war up to January 1, 1946 was $50,425.16. Ninety men of our Church were assigned to CPS camps.

2. Payments made by Episcopalians toward the maintenance of our C. O.'s are as follows (as of May 1st):—

By the Episcopal Pacifist Fellowship.....	$33,918.68
By the Joint Commission of General Convention.....	10,055.67
By the men themselves in CPS camps.....	5,760.25
Due on statement, as of Jan. 1, 1946.....	690.56

Total..... $50,425.16

The balance due of $690.56 is owed to the Historic Peace Churches who have carried on CPS camps for all C. O.'s.

3. In addition to the above expenses the EPF and the Joint Commission of General Convention have tried to meet, has been the cost of C. O. dependents as of March 3, 1946, totaling $4,910.74. Of this amount EPF has already paid $2,334.00, which leaves a balance owed to the American Friends Service Committee of $2,576.74.

This makes a grand total that we owe today of $3,267.30 as of the last statements received from NSBRO (the National Service Board for Religious Objectors) namely,—C. O. dependents as of March 3, 1946, and C. O. support as of January 1, 1946.

4. As of January 1, 1946, thirty-seven Episcopal C. O.'s were still in CPS camps and special service projects. How soon these men will be discharged cannot be foretold. However, it is safe to estimate that we will need for the year 1946 about $4,800 to cover the maintenance of Episcopal C. O.'s and dependents, which makes a grand total that we will need for the year of about $8,000.00.

The Episcopal Pacifist Fellowship and the Joint Commission plan to raise this year $3,267.30 to pay our outstanding obligations known to us as of this date, and to raise the estimated $4,800 needed to carry men and their dependents for the rest of this year. The Episcopal Pacifist Fellowship raises its money from its members and from those parishes and diocese which have supported EPF in the past. The Joint Commission plans to make some sort of a national appeal to all parishes to assist in raising this money. Your committee hopes that if and when such an appeal is made, the parishes and missions of the Diocese of Newark will respond generously thus showing their belief in the principle of freedom of conscience.

In conclusion, we recommend that, inasmuch as it seems there is no further need for this particular committee, it be discharged. And we further recommend that if any question or problem arises in any parish or mission relating to a conscientious objector or his dependents, such question or problem be referred to the Episcopal Pacifist Fellowship for consideration and adjustment.

Respectfully submitted,

ROSS H. FLANAGAN, Chairman.
