The Bishop's Annual Addresses

THIRTEENTH ANNUAL ADDRESS OF
BISHOP OF NEWARK

Bishop Rath and I are synchronizing our addresses today, bearing in mind that they will presently be printed in The Newark Churchman to go out to virtually all the 36,000 homes of our diocesan family. While we are not fooling ourselves that all will read them, no doubt a considerable number will, and while we are not certain how well we are answering them, we do know that we are at least addressing ourselves to some of the questions people are asking in perplexity about religion and the Church.

It is my intention to deal with three of these questions and to look at them from the perspective of my thirty-six years as an articulate, or at least a talkative, Christian (before that, I was a militant agnostic for three years, and in my youth and boyhood I was merely a passive Christian, dutifully and unquestioningly accepting what my parents and Sunday School had taught me). So my view is the Church today, and then this afternoon Bishop Rath will turn his creative imagination on what the Church of the future may be like.

There is no question but what the Church and its faith are, for better or worse, in the news these days. Just to cite a few out of many instances, within the last two months Look Magazine has had two major articles on the theological ferment of the day. Time recently gave its cover story to the subject, "Is God Dead?" U. S. News and World Report less than a month ago featured an article that asked the question, "Are the Churches in Trouble?" Newspaper articles abound as well. The Church and its faith are certainly newsworthy items these days, and I turn now to the first of three contemporary problems.

I.

I am entitling my first section, "The Church Will Weather This Storm Too!" because I am certain it will weather the severe theological storm in which it is now beset. While I make no pretense at being a professional theologian, I would be ignoring the primary question that is troubling our laity and clergy today if I did not take cognizance of the gusty winds of radical theology that are making it difficult to steer a steady course in the proclamation of the Gospel.

While I have in mind several schools of radical theology, I think particularly of the so-called "God-is-dead" theology espoused primarily by four young and hitherto obscure theologians: Thomas J. J. Altizer of Emory University, Paul van Buren of Temple, William Hamilton of Colgate Rochester Divinity School, and Gabriel Vahanian of Syracuse. "We must recognize," says Dr. Altizer, "that the death of God is an historical event: God has died in our time, in our history, in our existence." In his new book which he paradoxically entitles "The Gospel of Christian Atheism" and which is published by the Presbyterian Church's Westminster Press, he predicts "the collapse of Christendom" (if I may quote from one of its reviews) "and the onset of a secular world as necessary preludes to the rediscovery of the sacred."

Words like these are shafts aimed at the very heart of our faith, and if we can no longer call upon God as our Heavenly Father and if the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ is no more, then "the collapse of Christendom" and the demise of the Church are indeed in sight. It is no wonder one of our clergy apprehensively said to me a week or so ago, "My people are all 'shook-up' . . . they don't know what, if anything, to believe!"

Well, will the Church weather this severe theological storm that is currently buffeting the Christian faith?

Here is where perspective is helpful. When as a senior in college I wrote to a friend who was just beginning his work on his doctorate at Harvard that the following fall I was entering the seminary, he wrote back, "Leland don't do it . . . the Church is a sinking ship. Get off before it carries you down with it!"

You see, he had been caught up in a new movement called humanism (not to be confused with literary and philosophical Humanism), which called itself "A religion without God." Its high priest was a Unitarian minister who no longer himself believed in God and who had coined a very clever slogan which had become the watchword of humanism: "We cannot fathom the infinite; it is enough to love and serve mankind." And this religion without God, my friend thought, was going to torpedo the Church, and he didn't want me to go down with it.

Since that dire prediction in 1932 which he and other humanists were freely making, the percentage of men, women, and children belonging to the Christian Church has risen from about 40% of the country's population to 64%, and while I know the Kingdom of God is not brought in by statistics, it does suggest there is a good chance that the Church will weather this present theological storm too.

What has happened to humanism, the religion without God? It is obviously still extant, and it will no doubt have a new vogue now that the "God-is-dead" school of radical theologians has espoused its cause, but I can't help thinking of the line that appeared one day on the wall of a subway station near Columbia University. "God is dead," it read, and underneath was the name of the nihilistic philosopher Nietzsche, who was the first one to use that phrase. The next day another line appeared beneath Nietzsche's name: "Nietzsche is dead." (signed) God.

But what about the uncertainties in people's minds this and other schools of radical theology are undeniably creating?

We need to remind ourselves, I think, that uncertainty is not necessarily altogether bad. I have in mind those whose certainty about God is almost presumptuously sure, and they are much too glib in the manner in which they speak about Him, of whom St. Paul awesomely exclaimed, "How unsearchable are His judgments and His ways past tracing out!" So much of the nature of the Godhead is hidden in a mystery our petty minds can never penetrate—'have a go' at explaining the Trinity if you think I am overstating the case. Yet I have heard sermons in which the nature of the Almighty was described with a cocksureness a biologist would shrink from in describing a black beetle.

I shudder when I pick up a church bulletin at Every Member Canvass time that asks, "How much are you giving to God?"—especially when I reflect that a large portion of a given layman's pledge is going not to God but to the salary of the minister . . . and a smaller part to mine! "How much are you giving to the work of the Lord and His Church?" is a legitimate question, but surely not "How much are you giving to God?" As it is written in Isaiah, "As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways than your ways and my thoughts than your thoughts, saith the Lord." Yet I have heard folk prattle of the Infinite God as though He were a fraternity brother in college. If some doubts can be insinuated into the minds of such folk, I for one say, "Thank you, Dr. Altizer!"

Actually, I can see many folk coming through this time of theological controversy with stronger, not weaker, faith because doubts are often the necessary prelude to a deeper and more vital religion.

If our minds are agitated in this period of theological ferment, let us be driven to study more, to think through the presuppositions of our faith, to re-evaluate our beliefs, to bring our concepts up-to-date. Then this painful rethinking can become a time of real spiritual growth. In the process we shall also find ourselves turning more often to the Scriptures, and our knowledge will be enlightened, our faith strengthened, our insights deepened.

Best of all, these uncertainties that beset us may well lead us into closer fellowship with our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. I like the succinct way a little free-verse poem I have long cherished puts the matter.

"The Heavens are telling the glory of God,"
So sang the ancient bard.
God is glorious.

"I believe in God the Father Almighty,"
Such is the theologian's creed.
God is an Almighty Father.

"A Being who is infinite in wisdom and power,"
Is the contribution of the Philosopher.
God is infinite.

"Omnipresent, omnipotent, everlasting" —
Still we are hungry to know
What God is like.

Jesus understands and says,
"He that hath seen me hath seen the Father."
God is like Christ.

And we are satisfied.

Yes, the Church — and you and I too — will weather this storm also!

II.

My second section is entitled, "I Never Thought It Could Happen!" Many of you know and share my own deep interest in the cause of Christian unity; yet when I observe events moving toward church unity with a speed almost too fast for me, and then when I think back to where our Episcopal Church stood only thirty years ago when I was ordained to the Priesthood, I am left quite breathless. I never thought it could happen like this!

To be sure, thirty years ago the Episcopal Church was cooperating with some of the agencies and departments of the then Federal Council of Churches, but so weak had been our ecumenical concern that we did not actually become a full member of the Council until 1940, thirty-two years after the formation of the Council. When in 1950 the Federal Council and a number of other interdenominational agencies became the National Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Episcopal Church then of course did come into the new National Council.

By then our Church was committed to the ecumenical movement to the point that when at the 1952 General Convention in Boston a skillfully organized effort was made to pull the Episcopal Church out of both the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches, that attempt was decisively defeated. Today we can rejoice that the Episcopal Church is one of the leaders in this great movement toward church unity. Indeed, just last week the Consultation on Church Unity, in which our own and seven other communions are engaged, took another step forward toward a united Church that would be "truly catholic, truly reformed, and truly evangelical." But Bishop Rath will speak more of this in his address.

Turning now to another aspect of ecumenicity, and one which we could not have dreamed possible even a scant ten years ago, I quote that verse in St. John's Gospel (1.6) which, referring to John the Baptist, reads, "There was a man sent from God, whose name was John." I think we do no violence to Scripture to bring that verse up to our own time and make it read, "There was a man sent from God, whose name was John XXIII," for the increasingly cordial, meaningful, and cooperative relationships between the Roman Catholic and Protestant communities may never have come about except for this blessed and saintly man. And the present Pope, while apparently having a few more qualifications, seems eager to carry on the general policies laid down by his distinguished predecessor.

We could give each other a hundred examples of this deepening fellowship, and indeed, I dare to suggest that the dialogue between the Roman Catholic and Protestant communities has progressed to the point that we can soon begin to talk seriously about issues that still divide us: mixed marriages, birth control and family planning, recognition of the validity of Anglican orders, and the like, for we must not pretend that all is now sweetness and light. Nonetheless, I predict that the climate of friendly dialogue is improving to the stage that we shall soon be able to discuss these and other issues in an atmosphere of full trust and respect.

It's a beautiful spring day, and the flowers are budding in the field of ecumenicity.

III.

I have labelled my third section, "Should the Church 'Meddle' in Civil Affairs?" after the title of the lead article in the current Reader's Digest by J. Howard Pew, chairman of the board of Sun Oil Company and a nationally prominent Presbyterian layman. "Should the Church 'Meddle' in Civil Affairs?" is a succinct way of addressing one's self to one of the most divisive issues that is today facing the Church and its people. Clergy primarily, he says, "without any notable competence in either statecraft or economics, are leaping headlong into such fundamentally secular concerns as federal aid to education, civil rights, urban renewal, the nation's foreign policy, and plugging for such controversial issues as the admission of Red China to the United Nations, disarmament, higher minimum wages . . ." and so on.

There is no question but what a great many clergy and laymen, particularly of the conservative churches, agree with him that these are fields in which churchmen have no business "meddling," to use his word, and in truth his own Presbyterian Church as well as our own Episcopal Church would now have to be classified as among the "meddlers."

In a sense, he is speaking for the Church that used to be. He is seeking a return to the Church he knew as a young man, for the Church of that day was not often involved in matters of social concern. This goes for our own Diocese too. To give you evidence of this, I have gone through the Diocesan Journals for 1934, 1935, and 1936, and apart from a resolution against gambling, there was not one single resolution presented at those three Conventions expressing the concern of the Church over social problems. To be sure, the Bishops' Addresses—which incidentally were always at least twice as long as those of your present Bishops—contained references to various social problems and urged individuals to work for their solution, but if one may judge from the absence of resolutions on these matters, the Diocesan Conventions in the middle thirties felt that such issues were not within the sphere of Convention's competence. Some of you still feel this way, especially when Convention is asked to deal with highly complicated matters, while others of you feel that resolutions of social concern are the most important part of the business of Convention and should even be given priority over the business of budgets and Bishops' addresses.

I go back to Mr. Pew's article, "Should the Church 'Meddle' in Civil Affairs?" Its sub-title is this: "A distinguished Christian layman takes issue with those who would lead the church away from the reformation of the individual to the reformation of society."

This, I submit, is a false dichotomy—it isn't a question of the reformation of the individual OR the reformation of society. Both are the Church's rightful concern. Why put up a wall between the two? This is not an 'either-or' — it is a 'both-and'. The Church must surely be concerned for the salvation of the total person, which means, among other things, that the gifts and talents with which God endowed a given individual should be actualized to their fullest extent in the service of God and man; and if that purpose is likely to be thwarted by the appalling social conditions under which that person must grow up, then God's purpose for that person is also being frustrated, and those social conditions then have to become a concern of the Church. Bad and overcrowded housing with its destruction of privacy, poor schools that ill equip a person for a useful life in this increasingly complex society, grinding poverty which makes the material things of life the overweening preoccupation, denial of civil rights that degrade a person into second-class citizenship: these are conditions that often make it impossible for the gifts and talents which God has given the individual to be brought out and put to proper use. How then can the Church be interested in the "reformation of the individual" without being also concerned over the "reformation of society"?

I know it can be argued that some of our greatest men have come out of incredibly bad environments. This is true, and praise God and no doubt with His help, they were able to surmount those appalling circumstances. Well, I once saw a beautiful flower growing out of an ash heap, but no gardener is going to leap to the conclusion that ashes should be substituted for good soil and fertilizer and proper cultivation.

No, Mr. Pew, the Church is not "meddling in civil affairs"—it is doing the Master's bidding.

IV.

Undoubtedly, despite the fact that the membership of the Church continues to grow at a faster pace than the population of the country, the Church, in the eyes of the world, is in a bear market, so to speak. As U. S. News and World Report dolefully puts it in a recent article: "All across the nation, religious unrest is becoming evident at this time. Ancient doctrines are under assault as never before. Denominational lines are crumbling. And trouble is developing over the role some churchmen are playing in political and social issues."

Well, if you can visualize such an absurdity as the Christian Church being listed on the New York Stock Exchange, my advice to you would be to throw everything you have into it—it would be like buying IBM when it was selling at 80.

In summary, to shift quickly to other figures of speech, the Church will weather the theological storm which besets it, and many will come through with a stronger and more vital faith. The day is already foreseeable when the Church will no longer be obliged to slap at the evil of the world with its denominational fingers extended but will instead smite with the closed fist of a united Christendom. The Church is seeing as never before that its concern must be not just with salvation of man's immortal soul but with salvation of his total person for this life and the life to come, with the redemption of the individual, to be sure, but also with the redemption of society.

It's an exciting day in which to be a Christian and a member of the Body of Christ, and while the Promised Land is a long way off, thanks be to God, we are on the march!

THIRD ANNUAL ADDRESS OF
SUFFRAGAN BISHOP OF NEWARK

Bishop Stark has reminded us of some of the changes which have taken place in the life of the Church within our own lifetimes. We are pleased to describe these changes as "progress." I hope that coming generations will do so also. For, a couple of weeks ago, at a very pleasant post-confirmation luncheon, one of the other guests asked me what I thought the Church would be like a hundred years from now.

There was a broad opportunity to indulge my fancy in some wild dreams about the future in the pleasant assurance that none of my forecasts could be proved wrong until a century had passed, by which time I, at least, should have skipped off into the next county—whether north or south remains to be seen. But it occurred to me in that particular instant that, quite apart from the question of obedience to the biblical injunction against divination and sooth-saying, I had only an academic interest in what the Church will be like a hundred years from now, while I have a burning interest and a real stake in what the Church is going to be like during the balance of my pilgrimage through this weary land. In short, my new acquaintance's question about the Church in the next century led me to do some thinking about my hopes, my prayers, for the Church today and in the coming generation.

Now when I came to set down my ambitions for a Church in the coming generation with the intent of sharing these with you, I found that what I had thought were some novel ideas fitted almost too comfortably into some very ancient categories. This will astonish you less than it did me, for all the world, apart from bishops, knows what arch-conservatives bishops are. So what I have to offer you today is simply a dream, a wish and a conviction that the Church we shall see in the coming generation, the Church to which we shall belong in the coming generation, the Church that will be Christ's witness and servant to the coming generation will be and must be a Church that fulfills the job-description written in the creeds. In current parlance, a viable Church must actualize existentially what it is in essence. In English, the Church must become what God has already made it, a family, a fellowship, a body, that is one, holy, catholic and apostolic.

The words are familiar, but the age is setting them to new music. The Church must be willing to listen to this new music, and the Church must learn the new rhythms and melodies so as to be able to express its character through them.

Take, for example, the oneness of the Church. We have always (we say) believed that the Church is one: "one Body under one Head." We confess that there is "one body, and one Spirit, even as (we) are called in one hope of (our) calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in (us) all." At Confirmation the congregation is never in better voice than when it is singing:

We are not divided,

All one body we,

One in hope and doctrine,

One in charity.

Yet, somehow the singing is never lustier than when the class includes a few sheep stolen from those other communions that profess and call themselves Christians or even from a sister parish of the true Church!

We have always believed that the Church is one, but the age is calling upon us to act as if the Church is one. The exigencies of this time do not permit the luxury of particularity and denominationalism. No branch of Christ's Church can afford to isolate itself from the rest of the Church.

A classic example of this attitude of arrogant isolation remains in my memory after more than twenty-five years. A group of us had been discussing the pros and cons of a certain course of action (what it was I no longer remember) and, as the hour of adjournment approached, one of the most outspoken of the objectors to the course of action brought his final argument to bear upon the group. "I grant you," he said, "it may be the Christian thing to do, but is it the Anglican thing to do?"

There is no room, no time, in our world for this kind of spiritual smugness. There wasn't in that world either, as the Confessional Church in Germany had already discovered; but we Americans were still living in a kind of fool's paradise.

We all recognize in the Church today a new sense of urgency toward becoming one and toward expressing our oneness. This was certainly the spirit of the Second Vatican Council; and that spirit is bearing fruit in the changed and changing relationships between Roman and non-Roman Christians. In certain quarters of the Orthodox Churches there seems to be renewed interest in exploring approaches to closer relationships with others. In several regions of the world, Great Britain, Africa, Pakistan and North India, non-Roman communions are talking of unity with each other. Of deepest concern to our own branch of the Church, of course, are the Consultations on Church Union in which we and seven other branches of the Church of Christ have been engaged for the last five years.

It is far too early to comment on the "Principles of Church Union" which all parties to the Consultation approved last week, but it is apparent that this approval represents a deep commitment on the part of the delegates to the Consultations to the merger of our separated bodies. Some of our members have expressed apprehension lest the distinctive character of the Anglican heritage may be lost in a union of the churches. You may be sure that there is a parallel apprehension on the part of the other communions involved in these consultations. As Anglicans we ought to rejoice that so much of the consultation has proceeded along lines laid down in the Chicago-Lambeth Quadrilateral. There is, reportedly, substantial acceptance of the first three points: adherence to the historic scriptures, to the historic creeds, to the historic sacraments of the Church. And, if some of the delegates are having difficulty in understanding the role of the episcopacy in the historic ministry, let us remember that many Episcopalians have the same difficulty, and some bishops!

The reunion of the Church may be its greatest accomplishment in the coming generation. But the healing of the divisions in the broken Body of Christ will not be achieved by consultations alone. And it may be that, in the end, we Christians will not so much come together as be driven together by the hostility of a society that is becoming predominately secular and godless. "The Comfortable Pew" may be stripped of its upholstery. The mask of respectability may be taken away from church membership. Then, if the Church is to be one, if it is to survive at all, it will need the additional notes of being holy, catholic and apostolic. But it will need these in any event.

Perhaps I can illustrate what I mean by holiness by a set of examples. I mean quite frankly a greater dependence than I see today upon the grace of God. I mean a sense of the presence of God within the Church. I mean a sense of the Church's being the family of God rather than an institution. I mean a realization of the Church's being a fellowship in the Holy Spirit rather than a club. I mean a conviction that the Church is the Body of Christ rather than an organization created to serve some human need or social purpose.

Hear me out, please. I know the Church needs organization. I know that the parish church must offer the kind of companionship and fellowship one finds in fraternal orders and volunteer fire companies and a deeper companionship than this. I know that the Body of Christ must respond to human need and in so doing must frequently engage in actions of a political nature. All I ask is that the Church recall that when it does all these things it is doing them as the family of God, the fellowship of the Holy Spirit and the Body of Christ, not merely as an association of like-minded men and women.

The Orthodox can teach western Christians, Roman and non-Roman alike, a great deal about the Church and its character as the mystical Body of Christ. This may be their great contribution in a re-united Church. To know that this Church is God's creation and product, to realize that he is the guarantor of the Church's existence, not we, to understand that the visible portion of the Church, like the visible part of an iceberg, is its smallest—all these are part of realizing the holiness of the Church.

In each succeeding decade we are promised a new gimmick, or several, for "saving" the Church: a new methodology in Christian Education, a new approach to stewardship, urban concern, group dynamics, industrial mission, liturgical reform. Let me tell you that all these may be useful or even necessary, and none, by itself, will "save" the Church. Only God can save the Church; and what the Church of the coming generation needs above all is a sense that He has saved the Church. The Church is "safe"—though its members may not be safe in this world—because the Spirit of God has made the Church holy and dwells within it.

The Church for the coming generation must be a catholic Church. It must be a Church for all men, in all places, always. It must be open to all. It must be ready to welcome all. It must know that it is sent to search for all men.

The average parish church today is a scandal to the notion of catholicity. It may have a rich congregation or a poor congregation; its members may be college trained or grade school graduates; they may be white or colored—but whatever the characteristics of a particular congregation, its predominate characteristic will be the monochromatic nature of its appearance. It will be one or the other: rich or poor, well educated or not, white or colored. It will not be catholic in the root meaning of the word: a church open to all.

Social snobbery is not confined to congregations in the "waspy" suburbs. It is just as real, just as exclusive, in a congregation of working-class whites or of upper middle class Negroes. There are, let me say with gratitude, a half dozen or so congregations in this diocese, both catholic and evangelical in churchmanship, that have made significant progress in ministering to all sorts and conditions of men. But we are only beginning.

And let us not deceive ourselves: one of the great barriers to the reunion of the Church is the distinctive socio-economic orientation of each of our major communions. According to William S. White, "The Organization Man" and his family are likely to switch denominations as the husband and father rises in his chosen profession or vocation. Apparently, we seek not equality in our Lord, but association with our social peers.

The Church for the coming generation must be a Church in which all sorts and conditions of men meet and mix in their common fellowship in the Lord. It is possible, I hope it is probable, that through education and legislation we shall overcome the present de facto segregation that keeps the races apart in our neighborhoods and in our parishes. It may be even more difficult to bridge the gap between rich and poor, but one congregation, The Eliot Congregational Church of Newton, Massachusetts, has made a beginning by establishing a relationship between its own over-privileged members and the under-privileged of South Boston, a bare six minutes away. Here are the rudiments, at least, of catholicity in a communion that professes to be congregational! Perhaps, within the Diocese of Newark we can find ways of involving the "haves" of our suburban parishes with the "have-nots" of our inner city parishes in a more fruitful relationship than that of playing Lady Bountiful to those in need. The Department of Urban Work is already studying ways of expressing the Church's catholic fellowship in such partnerships of shared witness and service.

I come, then to my concern that the Church of the coming generation will be truly apostolic. To the extent that the Church's bishops stand in some sort of line of succession to the apostles, I should hope that the Church of the coming generation will be episcopal in its organization and administration. That is to say, its basic unit of organization will be the diocese and the bishop rather than the individual parish or congregation and local minister. Some of the communions taking part in the Consultation on Church Unity show a bit of reluctance on this point—but no more than will be found in the Episcopal Church itself.

I was not born and bred in the brier patch, and when I was confirmed thirty years ago, I thought I was becoming a member of an episcopal Church as well as of The Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America. Not so, I soon learned. In theory, the diocese is the basic unit of the Church, the family whose father-in-God the bishop is and whose members are the several parishes and missions. In practice, we frequently appear to operate upon a congregational principle.

For example, we shall shortly begin debate upon a number of miscellaneous resolutions in which the 92nd Convention of the Diocese of Newark will, presumably, express its mind, the mind of the Church, upon a number of subjects. It is possible that some of these resolutions will offend some of the members of our parishes. Will they feel obliged to conform to the action of this Convention or resign their membership in the Church? Not for twenty seconds! They will simply cancel or curtail their financial support.

This morning the Convention adopted a Budget for the Program of the Church in the coming year. Will your parish vestries now support the action which you, their deputies, have taken? Will you, who have made a study of the needs and opportunities confronting the Church in this area and beyond, feel obliged to go back to your vestries and urge them to take the action which this program demands?

Three years ago, the Diocese of Newark, by action of its governing body, entered into a companion relationship with the Missionary District of Liberia. In an episcopal Church, one would have thought this voluntary action, for it was that, would be binding upon all members. To the present—after three years—less than a third of the parishes and missions of our diocese have taken any action to signify their ratification of the family's decision. The question asked by one of the clergy after a recent convention is still pertinent. "In convention action, who binds whom to what?"

Do we act as a diocese or as a group of somewhat loosely affiliated congregations?

My concern is not with the past, but with the future. The Church of the coming generation, in order to meet the needs of that generation and to take advantage of the opportunities which it will offer, is going to have to abandon the outmoded custom of parish-isolationism and make a new beginning in partnership with all the parishes and missions that make up the diocese and the family of God.

The Church of the coming generation, however, must be apostolic in more than organization. It must be apostolic in its sense of obedience to its Lord's mission. An apostle, as distinguished from a disciple, is one who is sent. The Church is sent to preach the gospel to the world. No part of that mission is alien to the purpose of any particular parish or congregation.

You belong to St. Euphoria in the Midlands. Are you, therefore, exempt from caring about what is going in the ghettos of our inner cities, in the hinterlands of Appalachia, on the desolate reservations to which we have relegated America's first citizens, in the cities, villages, or bush of Liberia? In the rotunda at Union Seminary there is a memorial plaque to a former member of the faculty. With a slight plagiarism of the Latin playwright Terence, it reads, "Christiani nil a me alienum puto . . . Nothing Christian is alien to me." Nothing and no one who matters to Christ can fail to be our concern.

We belong to the Episcopal Church. We cannot safely ignore our other Christian brothers as if they belonged to lesser breeds without the law. In the attempt to carry out the Church's mission, we must find new ways of working with others before organic union is achieved or even if it is not achieved. Specifically, in our ministry to the inner city, it is important for us to work with others, and in particular areas it will be more important for us to strengthen their work than to establish or carry on an Episcopal project in competition with another denomination. We are doing this now in ecumenical foundations ministering to students at Rutgers in Newark, Stevens and Montclair State College. We are working with others in the attempt to establish a mission to business and industry. Probably, we ought to be working along ecumenical lines in our ministry to the growing Spanish-speaking communities in several of the cities of our diocese.

This, too, is a part of being the apostolic Church, the Church that is sent to preach the gospel to the whole world. One in our loyalty and obedience to Christ, whole and holy through the grace God supplies, catholic in our concern and fellowship, apostolic in our sense of ministry and mission, the Church of our generation and of the coming generation must attempt to carry on Christ's work in the world He came to save.

A servant Church, following a Lord who surrendered all to become a servant, cannot be concerned about the preservation of its institutions. It can be concerned only with the work its Lord has left it to do. In the last analysis, the last judgment, according to St. Matthew's Gospel, we shall not be asked what we have done to preserve our parishes or the Episcopal Church, but what we have done for those who hunger and thirst, for strangers and those who lack clothing, for the sick and those who are in prison. We shall be judged, not on the basis of our loyalty to institutions and to principles, but upon the basis of our loyalty to a Person and on our ability to see that Person in the form and figure of the brother who needs our help.

Rules of Order

THE CONVENTION

1. The Convention shall be opened and closed with prayer.
2. All Clerical and Lay Deputies on entering the Convention shall present their names, together with the names of the Parishes and Missions they represent, on cards, to the Secretary, who shall record their attendance.
3. When the President takes the Chair, each member shall be seated.
4. The general procedure of the Convention shall be governed, unless otherwise provided for, by the rules of parliamentary practice as set forth in "Roberts' Rules of Order."
5. At the request of the President, or on motion, the Convention may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole, and shall take a vote for that purpose.
6. A public address system shall be installed for use of those addressing the Convention.
7. No motion shall be put, or debated, until it is seconded; and every motion shall be reduced to writing and signed by the mover, whose name shall be entered on the JOURNAL.
8. When a question is under consideration, no motion shall be received, unless to lay upon the table; to commit it; to postpone to a certain time; to postpone it indefinitely; to correct it; to amend it; or divide it; and motions for any of these purposes shall have precedence in the order herein named. If a motion to lay an amendment on the table be carried, the matter before the Convention shall be proceeded with as if no such amendment has been offered. The motion to lay upon the table, and to adjourn, shall be decided without debate. The motion to adjourn shall always be in order, unless some member is speaking.
9. When any member is about to speak, he shall, with due respect, address himself to the President, and in speaking confine himself strictly to the point in debate.
10. No member shall speak more than twice (except the mover, who is entitled to reply), in the same debate without leave of the Convention.
11. If any member in speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules of the Convention, the President shall, or any member may, call him to order; if decided to be out of order he shall immediately take his seat, unless permitted by the Convention to explain or proceed in order.
12. All motions or notices to reconsider shall be made on the day the vote is taken.
13. All questions shall be decided viva voce, unless otherwise specially ordered.
14. On the demand of five Presbyters entitled to vote, or of the Lay Deputies from five Parishes and Missions, the vote upon any question shall be by Orders, the Clergy voting individually and the Laity by Parishes and Missions; and, when a vote is thus taken, a concurrent majority in both Orders shall be necessary to carry any measure. Whenever a vote is taken by orders, each Parish shall have one vote and each Mission shall have one vote in the Lay Order.
15. The mode of conducting the nominations and elections of all Committees, Commissions, the Diocesan Council and its Departments, and all other elective officers not otherwise provided for, shall be as follows:
 - a. The Secretary of the Convention shall send out with the notice of the time and place of the Convention, a list of the offices to be filled by election thereat, and the names of the incumbents of these offices, whose terms expire thereat, together with an official nomination blank. Such notice shall be sent out at least one month before the date appointed for the Convention to the Clergy canonically resident in the Diocese, and to each Lay Deputy whose name and address has been transmitted to the Secretary, as provided in Canon I. Notice of the Convention shall be given in THE NEWARK CHURCHMAN.
 - b. The members of the Convention shall also be requested, in said call, to send to the Secretary any canonical amendments, or other important items of business, that they may propose to introduce at the next Convention, so that such matters may be assigned a place on the Calendar of Business.

- c. Any member of the Convention desiring to make nominations for any office or offices to be filled at such Conventions, shall, at least thirty days before the date appointed for the Convention, submit the same in writing to the Secretary thereof together with his certificate that he has secured the consent of such person or persons to such nomination. Nominations may be made from the floor.
16. a. A Committee consisting of the Bishops, ex-officio, five other clergymen and five laymen to be known as the Committee on Elections and Rules of Order, shall be appointed at each Convention to prepare the Rules of Order, Official Ballots and the Calendar of Business, for the next Convention.
 b. The Committee, from the list of nominations as furnished to it by the Secretary of the Convention, shall prepare sufficient ballots marked "Sample" for each Clerical and Lay Deputy, as certified by such Secretary, as entitled to a seat in the Convention; such ballot to be mailed by such Secretary to each such Deputy at least five days before the Convention.
 c. At the beginning of the opening session the committee shall report to the Convention in the form of an official ballot the names of nominees; the arrangement of such names shall be determined by lot in each order.
 d. If there be any office for which no nomination has been made on the sample ballot, any Deputy may file with the Secretary of the Convention the name of one candidate for any such office, together with his certificate, that he has secured the consent of the person so nominated. Such nominations may be filed up to the hour of voting, and the committee of Elections shall announce the names of such nominees at the time of the distribution of the first ballot.
 e. The number of consecutive terms any nominee has held the office for which he is again nominated shall be noted on the ballot, in parentheses, after his or her name. After each list of nominations as many blank spaces shall be left as there are vacancies to be filled. These blanks may be filled by any voter. On the first ballot these ballots only shall be used, and also in subsequent ballots, except when otherwise ordered by the Convention. No ballot shall be counted in its class, on which more names are marked than there are vacancies to be filled, and the number of vacancies to be filled shall be printed on each ballot. Blank ballots shall not be counted in the whole number of votes cast.
17. There shall be a Committee to be known as the Committee on Miscellaneous Resolutions, the members of which shall be appointed at each Convention, and shall serve until the close of the next following Convention. The Committee shall receive and consider all resolutions, except resolutions of committees accompanying committee reports recommending action of Convention. The Committee shall submit its report to Convention recommending the adoption or rejection of each resolution proposed, or the adoption of any such resolution as amended by the Committee. A copy of this report shall be mailed by the Secretary of the Convention to each Deputy at least twenty-one days before Convention.
18. All resolutions to be considered for action by the Convention shall have been submitted in writing to the Secretary of the Convention not less than fifty days in advance of the Convention and shall have been signed by a Deputy to the Convention. On the expiration of the time for submitting resolutions to the Secretary of the Convention, the Secretary shall transmit to the Committee on Miscellaneous Resolutions all resolutions submitted to him. Additional resolutions may be submitted to the Secretary of the Convention after the time above specified, which additional resolutions shall be transmitted immediately by the Secretary of the Convention to the Committee on Miscellaneous Resolutions; but no such resolution, or such resolution as amended, shall be proposed for action by the Convention except upon a motion for the suspension of the rules duly passed.
19. All Committees shall be appointed by the President unless otherwise ordered. It shall be the duty of the Secretary promptly to notify the members of all special committees of their appointment.
20. The reports of Committees shall be in writing, and when made shall be the property of the Convention without any motion for acceptance. All reports recommending action of the Convention shall be accompanied by a resolution to that effect.
21. Reports when submitted in Convention shall be read by title only, unless the reading be for the better transaction of business.
22. At the close of each Convention a Committee shall be appointed to review and certify the correctness of the minutes.

The Annual Convention

The Ninety-Second Annual Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Newark was held on Saturday, May 14th, Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-Six in Trinity Cathedral, Newark, New Jersey.

The Holy Communion was celebrated at eight-thirty o'clock by the Bishop of the Diocese, the Right Reverend Leland Stark, D.D. At this service the Bishop read the Necrology.

The morning session of the Convention was called to order at nine-fifty o'clock with the Right Reverend the Bishop of Newark in the Chair.

A quorum being present in both Orders, the Convention was declared ready for business. Attendance cards indicated the following were present:

Bishops	2
Presbyters	146
Deacons	3
Number of Lay Deputies present	376
Total number of Deputies (Clerical and Lay)	527
Number of Congregations represented	140

The Reverend Albert Judd nominated the Reverend John R. Edler, Rector of Trinity Church, Irvington, as Secretary. On motion, the Bishop cast the ballot for the election of the Reverend Mr. Edler.

On motion by the Secretary, the Convention approved the Reverend George S. Bowden, Rector of St. Luke's Church, Phillipsburg, and the Reverend Addison K. Groff, Rector of St. Agnes' Church, East Orange, as Assistant Secretaries.

The Bishop introduced to the Convention the following: Retired since last Convention: The Reverend William L. Ziadie. Received by Ordination to the Priesthood to January 1, 1966: The Reverend Messrs. John Shepley Allen, Kenneth Fogle Baer, David Bruce Joslin, Oscar Alling Mockridge, III, and Don F. Owens, William N. Peabody, and Don F. Vandegrift. Received by Letters Dimissory since January 1, 1966: The Reverend Messrs. Edwin S. Tomlinson and H. John Van Druye.

The Bishop next introduced to the Convention: Sergeants-at-arms: Messrs. Roderick Bethune, Benjamin Robinson, and John Seville. Ushers: Messrs. John Devane, Frank Wilson, James Small, Benjamin Robinson, Walter Tillsley, and Malcolm Talbott. Page Boys: Victor Petsch, Don Lawrence, George Rummel, III, George Weis, John Rich, William Seidler and Fred Seidler. Sound System: Mr. Orlin Norris.

The Secretary of the Convention presented the following report.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF CONVENTION

The Secretary of the Convention has performed the duties of his office during the Convention year in accordance with the Constitution and Canons.

Notices were sent out in pursuance of the Constitution for the 92nd Annual Convention now in session.

Parochial Reports for the year 1965 have not been received from:

Morristown, Redeemer
Morristown, St. Peter's

Certificates of Lay Deputies have not been received from:

Hoboken, Holy Innocents'
Paterson, St. Mark's

The Secretary compliments the majority of Parishes and Missions on the great improvement in the completion and inclusion of all required information in their Parochial Reports, and thanks all Diocesan personnel and members who cooperated to make his lot a more pleasant one.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN R. EDLER, Secretary of Convention

"Notice is given that copies of certain amendments to the Constitution of the General Church, proposed at the General Convention of 1964, and to be acted upon finally at the General Convention of 1967, are available at the Secretary's office at Cathedral House."

The following Committee on the Rights of Clerical Members was nominated by the Reverend James Elliott Lindsley and elected: The Reverend Messrs. Roger Ailing, Roy Hendricks, and Mr. C. O. Beresford.

The following Committee on the Rights of Lay Deputies was nominated by the Reverend Dr. Herbert S. Brown and elected: The Reverend James Waring, Mr. Philip Rock, and Miss Isabelle Barbier.

The following Committee on Constitution and Canons was nominated by the Reverend Paul C. Deckenbach and elected: Mr. Charles W. Kappes, Jr., the Reverend Alfred Miller, the Reverend Henry Tilghman, Col. Leigh K. Lydecker, and Mr. George Miller.

The following report of the Committee on Elections and Rules of Order was presented by the Reverend Leon Plante, and on motion it was adopted:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON ELECTIONS AND RULES OF ORDER

The Committee on Elections and Rules of Order for the 92nd Annual Convention of the Diocese of Newark has performed the duties prescribed in the Rules of Order 1965.

The Committee has authorized the Secretary of Convention to prepare the sample and official ballots.

After careful study, the Committee recommends for use at this Convention the Rules of Order of the 1965 Annual Convention with the following changes affecting pre-convention procedure:

(1) To facilitate the work of the Secretary in circulating biographical information to Deputies, the deadline for filing nominations shall be changed to thirty days before Convention. Accordingly, the word "thirty" shall be substituted for the word "twenty-one" in the second line of Rule 15c.

(2) To provide adequate time for pre-convention study and discussion by Deputies and so to expedite the work of Convention at business sessions, the deadline for mailing copies of the report of the Committee and Miscellaneous Resolutions shall be changed to twenty-one days before Convention. Accordingly, the word "twenty-one" shall be substituted for the word "five" in the last line of Rule 17.

(3) To accomplish the foregoing, the deadline for submitting miscellaneous resolutions to the Secretary of Convention shall be changed to fifty days before Convention. Accordingly, the word "fifty" shall be substituted for the word "thirty" in the second line of Rule 18.

The Committee recommends for use at this Convention the Calendar of Business of the 1965 Convention as it appears on page 63 of the Journal of that Convention.

The Committee has also recommended to the Bishop that a simple luncheon be served for all Deputies at Cathedral House. It is felt that this is in keeping with economy and will make available added time to conduct the business of Convention.

Respectfully submitted,

TREVOR E. G. THOMAS, Chairman

The Venerable Sydney E. Grant, Chairman of the Committee on New Parishes, presented the following resolution, and on motion it was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS St. Luke's Church, Haworth, County of Bergen, Diocese of Newark, has applied to be admitted into union with this Convention, and

WHEREAS the papers submitted by the aforementioned congregation have been found to comply with the requirements of the Constitution and Canons of this Diocese, be it

RESOLVED that this convention approve the application of St. Luke's Church, Haworth, County of Bergen, Diocese of Newark, and receive it into union.

(for 1967 Convention)

The Rev. James Waring, St. Thomas', Newark
 Mrs. Harry Bates, Trinity Cathedral, Newark

After the singing of Hymn 524, the Bishop of the Diocese, the Right Reverend Leland Stark, D.D., delivered his Thirteenth Annual Address (See Bishops' Addresses).

Mr. Gustave E. Weidenmayer, Treasurer of the Convention, gave his Report (See Reports to Convention).

All Financial Reports to the Convention and of the Treasurer of the Department of Missions have been audited by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., and copies of the auditor's report were available for inspection.

Mr. John N. Page, Secretary-Treasurer of the Diocesan Council, presented the 1967 Budget of Administration Expenses (See Reports to Convention).

On motion by Mr. Page the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS the Diocesan Council is directed by Canon 5, Section 4(d), to provide for an assessment on the Parishes and Missions to meet the administrative expenses of the Diocese, therefore be it

RESOLVED that the Convention approve the proposed budget for 1967, and be it further

RESOLVED that the Diocesan Council be hereby directed to levy an assessment on Parishes and Missions of the Diocese at such rate as to cover the amount of $301,281.

Mr. Page next presented the 1967 Budget for the Program of the Diocese and the Church-at-Large (See Reports to Convention).

On motion by the Reverend Alexander M. Rodger the following resolution was adopted:

RESOLVED that the Archdeacons of East and West Bergen recommend that item 11 in the amount of $30,000 in the tentative 1967 Diocesan Budget for work in the Missionary District of Liberia be stricken and that the Diocesan Commission on M.R.I. be charged with the responsibility of raising this amount through means other than the Diocesan Budget.

On motion by the Reverend Alexander M. Rodger the following resolution was adopted:

RESOLVED that the resolution to delete $30,000 toward the construction of an elementary school at Cape Palmas, Liberia, from the proposed 1967 Budget for the Program of the Diocese and the Church-at-Large does not in any sense express the will of this Convention as being disinterested or opposed to the relationship between the Diocese of Newark and its Companionate Missionary District of Liberia.

Further consideration of the Program Budget was tabled until the afternoon session.

Noon Day Prayers were said by the Suffragan Bishop, the Right Reverend George Rath, S.T.D.

The Tellers of the Election reported the following:

On motion by Mr. Charles W. Kappes, Chancellor of the Diocese, the following resolution was adopted:

RESOLVED that unanimous consent be given by this Convention to the suspension of the rules of election in order that the four persons in each order receiving the highest number of votes after the elected Deputies be elected Supplementary Deputies.

Elected as Supplementary Deputies in the Clerical Order, The Reverend Charles J. Child, Jr., The Venerable Sydney E. Grant, The Reverend Messrs. Ivan H. Partridge and Donald Beers.

Elected as Supplementary Deputies in the Lay Order, Rear Admiral Edward K. Walker, Mrs. Beatrice Waiss, Messrs. Harwood E. Fish and F. Stark Newberry.

The Reverend Alexander Shaw, Executive Secretary of the New Jersey Council of Churches, spoke to the Convention.

Miss Jeannie Willis, Associate Editor of The Episcopalian, spoke to the Convention.

After the singing of Hymn 385, the Suffragan Bishop, the Right Reverend George E. Rath, ST..D., delivered his Third Annual Address (See 'Bishops' Addresses).

The Reverend William H. Strain, Chairman of the Children's Committee of The Department of Christian Education, presented a special report on "Religious Freedom in Public Schools" (See Reports to Convention).

On motion by the Reverend Mr. Strain the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS the United States Supreme Court in the Abington Decision (1963) declared unconstitutional a Pennsylvania statute pertaining to the prescribed reading of the Bible in public school, and

WHEREAS the Commissioner of Education of the State of New Jersey and the New Jersey Supreme Court (Hawthorne Decision 1964) have interpreted this decision to prohibit such prescribed Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer in the Public Schools, and

WHEREAS certain Episcopalians of this Diocese are seeking guidance in the areas relating to these decisions, therefore be it

RESOLVED that this Convention

- 1) Accept the report of the Department of Christian Education of the Diocese of Newark in response to Resolution IX, "Religious Freedom in Public Schools" passed at the 1965 Diocesan Convention,
- 2) Encourage in the public schools the objective study of religious literature, religious history, religious themes in literature, drama, music, art and secular history.
- 3) Encourage conferences for church members who are teachers and public school administrators to seek appropriate ways of witnessing to their faith through their profession.
- 4) Direct the Diocesan Department of Christian Education to seek ways and means of making the home and Church more effective in the religious education of the young.

The Reverend Charles J. Child, Jr., Chairman of the Commission on Mutual Responsibility and Interdependence in the Body of Christ, presented his report.

On motion by the Reverend Charles Child, Jr., greetings were extended to the Missionary Diocese of Liberia.

The Reverend Ivan H. Partridge, Chairman of the Standing Commission to Study Clergy Salaries, presented its report, which on motion was received (See Reports to Convention).

On motion the following resolutions were adopted:

RESOLUTION I

WHEREAS the minimum standards for full-time clergy remuneration in the Diocese of Newark are now as follows:

Cash Salary
Deacon—$4,600.00 per year	Priest—$5,000.00 per year
Perquisites for both
(a) Suitable housing maintained
(b) Heat
(c) Electricity
(d) Water
(e) Gas (if necessary)

and

RESOLVED that for the year 1967 this Convention establish the following minimum standards for cash salaries for full-time clergy, to be provided in addition to currently prevailing perquisites:

Deacon - $4,600.00 per year
Priest-in-training (first two years in Priesthood) - $5,100 per year
Priest - $5,300.00 per year;

and be it further

RESOLVED that for the year 1968 this Convention establish the following minimum standards for cash salaries for full-time clergy, in addition to currently prevailing perquisites:

Deacon - $4,750.00 per year
Priest-in-training (first two years in Priesthood) - $5,500.00 per year
Priest - $6,000.00 per year

RESOLUTION II

BE IT RESOLVED that this Convention urge that all Parish Vestries and the Department of Missions seek to raise all salaries now above the minimums at least in proportion to the minimum levels in 1967 and 1968, and that in any instances where this is not possible within the next two years, it be set as a goal to be achieved at the earliest possible date.

RESOLUTION III

BE IT RESOLVED that this Convention rescind the action of former Conventions in establishing standards for "just and equitable" salaries;

and be it further

RESOLVED that this Convention define "just and equitable" salaries as the payment of a total living in which the clergyman's cash salary plus housing (valued at not more than 20% of cash salary, or $1,500.00 minimum) and utilities (valued at not more than 10% of cash salary) be equated to a figure 1.5 times that of the salary of a public school teacher who is on the 6-year level (7-year level if it be recognized) of equal years of experience to the clergymen in the community in which he serves.

RESOLUTION IV

BE IT RESOLVED that this Convention direct the Standing Commission on Clergy Salaries to prepare summaries of standards of clergy remuneration established by this and previous Conventions; and be it further

RESOLVED that this Convention direct its Secretary to mail copies of this summary to all Wardens, Vestrymen, Executive Committee Members, and Clergy in the Diocese by September 15, 1966.

A motion to reconsider the 1967 Budget for the Program of the Diocese and the Church-at-Large was passed.

On motion by the Venerable Sydney E. Grant the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved that item No. 1 be increased from $216,000 to $288,000, that item No. 12 be increased from $318,727 to $330,727, and that item No. 14 be increased from $684,864 to 696,864.

After a vote to suspend the Rules of Order, on motion by the Very Reverend Ledlie I. Laughlin, Jr., the following resolution was adopted:

BE IT RESOLVED that the Commission on Mutual Responsibility be asked to send to every parish and mission in the Diocese of Newark an estimate of the fair share which that parish or mission might give in order to be able to send to the Missionary District of Liberia $30,000 for the construction of a school in Cape Palmas, the fair share to be established by that same procedure used to determine quotas; and be it further

RESOLVED that every parish and mission in the Diocese of Newark be urged to give a greater amount than its estimated share.

The Reverend Henry Powers, Chairman, reported for the Committee on Miscellaneous Resolutions.

On motion the following resolution submitted by the Department of Christian Social Relations was adopted as amended:

BE IT RESOLVED that the 92nd Annual Convention of the Diocese of Newark urge the New Jersey Legislature to pass enabling legislation to permit the full application of the 1962 Public Welfare Amendments (known as Public Law 87-543) so that children deprived of the care and financial support of a parent because of unemployment be permitted to apply for A.F.D.C. (Aid to Families with Dependent Children); and be it further

RESOLVED that copies of this resolution be sent to the members of the New Jersey Legislature.

On motion the following resolution submitted by the Department of Christian Social Relations was adopted:

BE IT RESOLVED that the 92nd Convention of the Diocese of Newark join with the Executive Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States in deploring the illegal assumption of power in Rhodesia by Ian Smith and his associates; and be it further

RESOLVED that the attention of Churchmen in the Diocese of Newark be drawn to the Executive Council's call for them "to take steps in their business dealings and communities to curtail economic transactions with Rhodesia," bearing in mind the Council's reminder that "whatever sacrifice this may mean on a temporary basis pales alongside the witness our brothers are called on to make within the country itself"; and be it further

RESOLVED that the Convention reiterates the Executive Council's plea for 'vigorous joint action to demonstrate to our government and to the United Nations that we support the imposition of whatever political and economic measures are necessary, nationally and internationally, to bring a speedy end to the regime'; and be it further

RESOLVED that copies of this resolution be sent to the President of the United States, to the Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, The Hon. Thomas E. Morgan, the Secretary of State, The Hon. Dean Rusk, and to all New Jersey Senators and Representatives in the U. S. Congress.

On motion the following resolution submitted by the Department of Christian Social Relations was adopted:

BE IT RESOLVED that the United States Government be urged to extend the Food for Peace Program, expanding overseas shipments, especially of high protein food, improving distribution facilities in developing countries with particular attention to the needs of children, and helping under-developed nations increase their own food production; and be it further

RESOLVED that the United States Government be urged to channel a larger share of its food through international agencies, such as the Food and Agricultural Organization and the United Nations Children's Fund, making greater use of the economic and technical assistance of the United Nations; and be it further

RESOLVED that the United States Government be urged to separate development aid from military assistance and to disassociate its food program from the Cold War; and be it further

RESOLVED that copies of this resolution be sent to the President and Vice President, to Senator Allen E. Ellender, Chairman of the Senate Agriculture and Forestry Committee, to Senators George McGovern and Gaylord Nelson, sponsors of the "War and Want" bill, S. 2157, to Representative Harold D. Cooley, Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and sponsor of Bill H.R. 12152, and to all New Jersey Senators and Representatives in the U. S. Congress.

On motion the following resolution submitted by the Department of Christian Social Relations was adopted:

BE IT RESOLVED that the 92nd Annual Convention of the Diocese of Newark, noting the appeal from the World Council of Churches and the Vatican for a joint response to the need of famine victims in India, and the joint appeal from Church World Service and Catholic Relief Services for an all-inclusive American Christian response to this ecumenical plea, exhorts both clergy and laity of the Diocese to identify themselves with the suffering people of India by fasting, prayer of intercession and sacrificial giving through the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief; and be it further

RESOLVED that copies of this resolution be sent to the Churches of the Diocese of Newark.

On motion the following resolution submitted by the Reverend John R. Green was adopted as amended:

WHEREAS a free flow of ideas is essential to the fruitful functioning and sound maintenance of a healthy democratic society; and

WHEREAS the suppression of an idea considered unworthy may well lead to the censoring of long cherished ideas; and

WHEREAS the prohibition of an idea considered undesirable may lead to fostering its popularity and present unwanted and unworthy martyrs; therefore be it RESOLVED that this Convention of the Diocese of Newark endorse the principle of complete academic freedom; yet urge responsible practice thereof.

On motion the following resolution submitted by the Reverend John R. Green was adopted as amended:

WHEREAS a significant number of groups and organizations in our country are attempting to justify social and racial injustice by defining these evils as compatible with orthodox Christianity; and

WHEREAS some of these groups and organizations identify themselves with Christian titles and attempt to equate the Will of God with the ignoring and the neglecting of the deplorable, economic, social and cultural circumstances under which many of our nation's people live by exerting their influence to encourage government in this neglect, and

WHEREAS funds in abundance are contributed to such groups and organizations to spread by radio and printed publications attacks upon religious, political, and civic groups attempting to foster social betterment for all humanity; and

WHEREAS our Christian religion with its Judaistic background of the prophets has made it abundantly clear that all underprivileged, neglected, and mistreated persons are brothers of Christ; therefore be it

RESOLVED that this Convention deplore the attempt of any individual group or organization to invoke or proclaim the blessing of God upon its endeavors to subvert efforts toward good will, brotherhood, social and racial justice and peace among men and nations by public, private, and religious agencies.

On motion the following resolution submitted by the Reverend Ivan A. Backer was adopted as amended:

WHEREAS it was the mind of the 91st Convention of the Diocese of Newark to avail ourselves of the full potential of leadership including representatives from minority groups, and

WHEREAS most of the people in the Diocese of Newark are employed at their vocation from Mondays through Fridays from 9:00 to 5:00 p.m. and

WHEREAS this prevents them from serving actively on diocesan committees and departments which conduct their meetings during those hours, unless they take time off which involves loss of pay, stature, seniority; therefore be it

RESOLVED that every diocesan department and committee consider the best time for its meetings and attempt to select a time when all its constituent members can be present.

On motion the following resolution submitted by the Reverend Ivan A. Backer was adopted as amended:

RESOLVED that all purchasers in the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Newark both on the diocesan and parochial levels be urged to make purchases from suppliers who enforce non-discriminatory employment practices; and be it further

RESOLVED that the Diocese of Newark prepare and use forms which will implement the intention of this resolution.

Mr. Christopher H. Wain, a member of the Committee on Diocesan Administration and Salaries, presented its special report on "Full Pension at Age 65" which on motion was received (See Reports to Convention).

On motion the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS members of the clergy have reason to be dissatisfied with some of the benefits provided through the Church Pension Fund, and

WHEREAS developments in the national scene, as well as the technique of pension administration and management, make it appear that a more satisfactory arrangement of benefits is possible within the limits of the present pension assessment, therefore be it

RESOLVED that the Diocese of Newark memorialize the 62nd General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church to request the Trustees of the Church Pension Fund:

- a) To have a study conducted using outside actuarial or other consultative services as warranted, covering all phases of the operations and benefits provided by the Fund and the relationships of its benefits to those available from governmental bodies for the clergy;
- b) To endeavor to liberalize, if necessary over a period of years, the present benefits for retirement before age 68;
- c) To explore the feasibility of providing for increases in benefits after retirement by means of a Variable Annuity or other measures that will furnish such benefits with a lessening use of funds from current assessments on salaries of active clergy;
- d) To make such other changes in benefits as seem warranted, but only if they can be financed without an increase in the current assessment rate.

On motion by the Reverend George R. Dawson, Chairman of the Diocesan Commission on Ecumenical Concerns, the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS, the House of Bishops adopted the following resolution on Guest Communion at the 61st General Convention:

"WHEREAS the House of Bishops believes the time has come when Christian Churches recognize, as a fundamental principle, that all Christians, duly baptized by water in the Name of the Holy Trinity and qualified to receive the Holy Communion in their own Churches, should be welcomed as guests at the Lord's Table in all Christian Churches; therefore, be it

"RESOLVED that the General Convention

- 1) Accept this principle, affirming the right of Bishops to apply it in their own jurisdiction;
- 2) Direct the Standing Liturgical Commission to present to the 1967 meeting of the General Convention appropriate rubrical and other amendments to the Book of Common Prayer expressive of this principle; and
- 3) Request the Committee on Constitution and Canons of the House of Bishops to present to the same meeting such constitutional and canonical changes as may be necessary to fully establish this principle in this Church; and be it further

"RESOLVED that in so altering our discipline, the General Convention intends

- 1) To clarify and emphasize this Church's understanding of Confirmation as a response to, and fulfillment of, Holy Baptism, and not a mere prerequisite to the Holy Communion;
- 2) To reaffirm our wish and prayer that this effectual sign of the gift of the Holy Spirit might be everywhere gladly accepted as a rightful part of the preparation and strengthening of every Christian for ministry; and
- 3) To state plainly, once again, our solemn intention to press resolutely toward that unity in Christ in which painful separations at the heart of the Church will be impossible," and

WHEREAS the House of Bishops referred the resolution to the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations for consideration during the triennium, now therefore be it

RESOLVED that this Convention request the Diocesan Commission on Ecumenical Concerns to study the House of Bishops' resolution and report its findings and recommendations to the next Diocesan Convention so that the views of the Diocese may be made known to the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations before the General Convention in 1967.

The Reverend Marshall T. Rice, member of the Committee on Minority Group Clergy Placement, presented a "progress" report.

The Reverend Joseph D. Herring, Chairman of the Committee on The Newark Churchman presented its report which on motion was received (See Reports to Convention).

On motion by the Reverend Canon Alfred M. Niese, Jr., greetings were sent to the Right Reverend and Mrs. Benjamin M. Washburn and Mrs. Theodore Ludlow.

On motion by Mr. Malcolm D. Talbott, the Committee on Elections and Rules of the Order were "urged to consider extending the time period of Convention, possibly even to two days."

On motion by the Reverend Wade A. Renn, congratulations were extended to the City of Newark on its 300th Anniversary along with our pledge of "full moral support to the realization of the 'New Newark'."

On motion appreciation and good wishes were extended to the following retiring priests: The Reverend Messrs. Herbert Lewis-Jones, Louis H. Berry, William L. Ziadie, Louis S. Luisa, and Harold R. Onderdonk.

The following were filed by title: (See Reports to Convention)

2. Program Budget of Diocesan, Archdeaconry, and Parish projects; School of Religion, Clergy Conference planning, Inter-Service training and consultation, retreats, week-end conferences, curriculum, visual aids, and library.
3. For program activities and part-time secretarial help.
4. Includes radio/TV work; public relations and press, office expenses and Clergy Newsletter.
5. New and continuing projects in urban outreach, conferences, self-study, strategic planning, and office expenses.
6. Includes salaries, housing, pension premiums, and travel allowance for two full-time chaplains; program expenses, part-time secretarial help, and projected supplementary chaplaincy work in public hospitals. Balance of total budget of $33,795. is anticipated in endowment income and contributions.
7. Includes ever expanding work at Centenary, Stevens Institute, Montclair State, Bloomfield, Rutgers-Newark, Fairleigh Dickinson-Florham Park, Drew, Upsala, Fairleigh Dickinson-Bergen and Passaic Counties, and work with foreign students. This giving has stimulated additional gifts from Executive Council and other sources in a total budget of $16,964.
8. Diocesan Home for aging women. This is a small part of its total budget of $40,300.
9. Our quota of a total budget of $135,900 for interdenominational work; research; migrants; Christian Education; radio/TV, etc.
10. Diocesan contribution toward total Y.C.S. budget of approximately $227,600.
12. Represents full missionary quota assigned to Diocese by the Executive Council of the national Church.

Resolutions

WHEREAS the Diocesan Council is charged with the responsibility of preparing a budget covering the requested missionary and benevolent requirements of the Diocese and General Church for the ensuing calendar year, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED that the Convention approve the 1967 budget as proposed by the Diocesan Council, and

WHEREAS Canon 4, Section 6(d), of General Convention provides that in each Diocese a definite financial objective shall be allotted to each Parish and Mission as its share of the Program of the Church, therefore

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Diocesan Council be authorized to designate the quota for each Parish and Mission based upon the average amount of its current expenses for the past three years.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN N. PAGE, Secretary

DEPARTMENT OF MISSIONS OF THE DIOCESE OF NEWARK

Report to the 1966 Diocesan Convention

In 1965, despite the fact that popular conception of the Department of Missions seems to be that we simply work in new suburban and town and country areas, we have faced up to an apparently unending series of urban crises. In doing so, we have been working closely with the Department of Urban Work, and because of this cross-pollenization of ideas and methods, we believe the future looks to be encouraging.

We lost the effective skills of three valuable men: Archdeacons Bliss, Payne, and Mosby, who moved to new posts in other dioceses, and by death, our friend and for many years Archdeacon for Missions, the Rev. Canon William O. Leslie, Jr.

Beginning the year 1965, we had oversight of 32 missions and 9 aided parishes. One parochial mission was begun. Eleven congregations were self-supporting, but by the end of the year two congregations suffered such reverses as to require in 1966, some subsidy. St. Luke's, Haworth, to our mutual delight, began to look toward parish status in 1966.

1. St. Gregory's Parsippany-Troy Hills, became an organized mission on January 31st. In the summer of 1964, the Rev. Franklin Y. Weiler, resigning as rector of St. Andrew's, Newark, was appointed by Bishop Stark to be vicar of our newest mission. The Department of Missions purchased a vicarage, and in another part of town, purchased a six acre site for future construction.
2. House of Prayer, Newark: After careful re-consideration of announced plans to demolish and rebuild both church and parish hall, it was decided that only the parish hall needed replacing. The church was to be renovated. Accordingly an architect was hired and plans were made to proceed with the project.
3. Trinity, Hoboken: With the consent of the Bishop, this church became an aided parish.
4. Christ, Newark: On the 117th anniversary day, this church suffered a disastrous fire which caused damage estimated at $40,000. A joint committee of the Department of Missions and Urban Work will determine future action.
5. St. Mary's, Belvidere: A new parish house costing $36,000 was built during the year. It was dedicated by Bishop Stark on October 31st.
6. St. Luke's, Hope: Extensive repairs to the vicarage and church, largely financed by the congregation, were made during the Spring.
7. Good Shepherd, Hamburg: Need for extensive repairs moved the local building inspector to request closing this church until the condition could be remedied. The congregation was invited to worship temporarily in St. Thomas, Vernon.

8. Incarnation, West Milford: An architect was engaged to prepare an Ultimate Land Use Plot Plan that could lead to construction of a new church in 1966.
9. St. Mary's, Jersey City: Permission was given for the razing of the rectory which has deteriorated beyond the point where renovation costs would be reasonable.
10. St. Mary's, Sparta: This congregation has begun services in the Milton-Oak Ridge area, a parish missionary endeavor. One hundred persons attended the first service in a local school. Later in the year an 11 acre site was purchased in Milton.
11. St. Alban's, Oakland and Franklin Lakes: A new paved parking lot is the result of mortgage refinancing on the part of this congregation.
12. St. Dunstan's, Succasunna: A new vicarage was purchased this year.
13. Christ, Stanhope: Extensive repairs and renovations were begun to the vicarage.
14. St. Michael's, Wayne: Bishop Stark, on November 20th, dedicated a new church building seating 460 persons and costing $210,800. This 1200 member congregation now has property, inclusive of land value, worth about $520,000.
15. Our Saviour, Secaucus: This congregation paid off its mortgage, voted a gift of $500 in gratitude to the Bishops and Department of Missions, and looked forward to a decrease in its 1966 subsidy.
16. Changes in personnel:

The Rev. Kenneth Baer was appointed Vicar of St. Andrew's, Lincoln Park, to succeed the Rev. Roger Alling who became Diocesan Consultant for Stewardship and Evangelism.

The Rev. Spence Dunbar, Vicar of St. David's, Kinnelon, because of heart trouble retired on Permanent and Total Disability.

The Rev. William Albert became Rector of Grace, Van Vorst, Jersey City, to succeed the Rev. John Luce who resigned to take up work in Los Angeles, and the Rev. Francis X. Walter, who resigned to take up work in Alabama.

The Rev. Herbert G. Draesel, Jr. became Rector of House of Prayer, Newark, to succeed the Ven. Edd L. Payne who resigned for reasons of health.

The Rev. William Burns, resigned as Rector of St. James, Newark, to become priest in-charge of St. Mark's West Orange.

Respectfully submitted,

SYDNEY E. GRANT, Archdeacon for Missions

DEPARTMENT OF CHRISTIAN EDUCATIONAnnual Report — 1965

Consultant — The Rev. Herbert Lcswing, Th.D.

During 1965 the work of the consultant continued to change in response to the developing program of the department. Reorganization of the department to meet the demand for adult education necessitated increased attendance at committee meetings and an increased work load in the area of administration. While the consultant continues to work in the field a large measure of his time is being spent in consultations and meetings with the diocesan staff as well as with the various committees of the department. The consultant participated in three major training events during 1965 for a total of 22 days, and 14 days in regional and national conferences. He averages ten meetings a month directly related to the work of the department or diocese. During April and May of 1965, the consultant and the Rev. C. J. Child, Jr. acted as trainers and consultants in our companion diocese, the Missionary District of Liberia. Some 350 laity and clergy were reached in approximately twelve training events which were conducted in various parts of the country. Consultations were held with the Department of Christian Education of the Missionary District and it is hoped that more direct and frequent communication can be established with that organization. Here at home the consultant is planning a new program of visitation to the parishes of our diocese looking toward fuller implementation of adult education and more extensive use of the skills and resources of the large corps of people trained under the department's leadership training program.

Adult Committee — The Rev. Robert H. Maitland, Jr., Chairman

During the year the Adult Committee was involved in increasing leadership training opportunities for clergy and lay people. This emphasis within the diocese has so grown that in 1966 a separate committee of the Department of Christian Education has been established relieving the Adult Committee of this field of responsibility. An essential rethinking process preoccupied the Committee following the formation of this new committee. Tentative steps were taken toward increased involvement with the Princeton Conference, with the Clergy Conference, and in working with the Episcopal Churchwomen as they augment their education functions.

Training Committee — The Rev. Henry A. Tilghman, Chairman

During the last three years approximately 60 of our clergy and lay people of the diocese have undertaken intensive training in skills or working effectively in groups. The work of this type of education has already been demonstrated in the business world and used effectively there. This work is designed to help solve problems of parish strategy, communication, and program planning and it also helps to develop leadership potential among members. We are now ready and willing to provide this training for individuals and groups within the Diocese.

Youth Committee — The Rev. Ivan H. Partridge, Chairman

With its budget in 1965 the Youth Committee was able to put on four summer conferences, one for Y.P.F. officers and leaders, two Senior High School Conferences, and one Junior High School Conference. While attendance was somewhat off from the previous year, due we believe to inadequate publicity, the Conferences were as usual extremely well received by the Diocese.

The 1965 Bishop's Rally was held at Upsala College with its guest speaker, Bishop Brown, and a new format. The unique timing of the Rally, set very early in September because of Bishop Brown's visit to the United States, cut into the usual level of attendance, but nevertheless, approximately 1,000 young people were present.

The Youth Committee conducted programs in all Archdeaconries, ranging from monthly to semi-annual, according to the Archdeaconry.

The Youth Committee also scheduled four week-end conference-retreats at the Convent of St. John Baptist in Mendham, which hold promise of being an increasingly effective approach to the young people of the Diocese.

The Youth Committee also in 1965 sent representatives to several conferences on youth work for their own training, and made several consultations available to parishes in the area of youth work.

Finally, the Youth Committee did a substantial amount of work on the prospect of developing a Diocesan Young Peoples' Newspaper, but found that this does not appear to be feasible at this time.

Children's Committee — The Rev. William H. Strain, Chairman

In 1965, the Children's Committee prepared and distributed to all Parishes and Missions of the Diocese of Newark promotional material for the Advent Offering. The objective of the 1965 Advent Offering was the Youth Consultation Service. Figures are not yet available for the 1965 offering but the 1964 offering for St. Timothy's House in Newark was $2,652.47.

The Children's Committee sponsored a full day Workshop at St. Michael's Episcopal Church, Wayne, on May 6, 1965 on Vacation Church School and summer Sunday Church School. Thirty parishes and missions were represented by some 50 clergy and V.C.S. directors.

During 1965, the Children's Committee has been doing research in the field of Religion and the Public Schools, preparatory to making recommendations to the Department of Christian Education, which in turn was to make recommendations to the Diocesan Convention in May 1966 on this subject.

The Children's Committee also developed standards for training operations in the Diocese in the area of Children's Work.

The Committee reviewed and evaluated the filmstrips, "Teaching Tools," and highly recommended them for use throughout the Diocese.

Parish Day School Committee — Mr. Francis Parkman, Jr., Chairman

The chairmanship changed in mid-year, but the work in support of Parish Day Schools continued, largely through a questionnaire intended to provide up-to-date information for collation and evaluation. Contact was maintained with St. Bernard's School, and thoughtful consideration was given as to how the relationship of the Diocese to the School might be strengthened.

THE CHILDREN'S COMMITTEEAnnual Report — 1965

According to our study, before the 1963 Supreme Court Decision (Abington vs. Schempp) about 50% of our public schools had opening exercises involving either reading from the Bible or the recitation of the Lord's Prayer, or both. After the 1963 Supreme Court Decision which held that such prescribed actions were unconstitutional, about 25% retained some form of the exercises. It is clear that such school districts are acting in defiance of the Supreme Court interpretation of the First Amendment.

The Commissioner of Education of the State of New Jersey and the New Jersey Court in the Hawthorne Decision of 1964 have applied the U. S. Supreme Court ruling to the New Jersey Public Schools. To our knowledge all school districts are now complying with these decisions.

There still exists a grey area involving religious practices in the public schools that have not as yet been explicitly tested in the U. S. Supreme Court.

There is still some question as to whether it is constitutionally permissible for public schools to hold voluntary silent devotion. Many School Boards in the Diocese of Newark since 1963 have substituted this practice in place of the former opening exercises. Recently, however, the U. S. Supreme Court refused to hear an appeal from a lower court decision banning such voluntary activity. We are thus left to conclude that it is also unconstitutional.

Some School Boards within the Diocese of Newark have substituted the presentation of inspirational readings without comment by home room teachers, in place of the former Bible reading and Lord's Prayer. This practice has not yet been challenged and therefore, there is no final ruling.

It is clear that a pupil may read the Bible devotionally or use any Prayer Book in a study hall in a public school, but is questionable if such activity is prescribed by an authority outside of the school (i.e., a clergyman or a parent). This would mean that the activity was not voluntary on the student's part.

Perhaps most important for setting the limits of religious instruction in the public schools, apart from prayer and Bible reading, are the decisions concerning what is called "release time." There are two such U. S. Supreme Court decisions. In the McCallum decision of 1948, the Supreme Court ruled against the use of tax supported property for religious instruction. Involved was the use of public school classrooms by clergymen during school time. The second decision by the Supreme Court concerning "release time" was the Zorach Decision of 1952. The Court upheld the validity of instruction given at religious centers, wherein attendance and expenses were the responsibility of religious organizations and pupils who were not released remained in their regular classroom.

The program called "shared time" or "Dual school enrollment" has not been ruled on by the Supreme Court but has been approved by the Attorney General of the State of New Jersey and by the Commissioner of Education of New Jersey. Dual School Enrollment is "an administrative arrangement in which the school time of children is shared between public school and church day school."

Regarding pupil absence from school because of religious holidays, the Commissioner of Education of the State of New Jersey, according to the terms of chapter 322, P.L. 1951, each year is charged with circulating to all school boards a minimum list of religious holidays. Local Boards of Education have the right to add any bona fide religious holiday to the list for their own schools.

In its 1964 Abington decision the U. S. Supreme Court said this: "Nothing we have said here indicates that such study of the Bible or of religion, when presented objectively as part of a secular program of education, may not be effected consistently with the First Amendment." In fact the number of courses in Biblical literature and history, comparative religion, and studies of the relation of religion to the advancement of civilization, are now increasing. The states of Indiana, Pennsylvania and Florida are pioneering in this direction. The use of the Bible when relevant to the regular school subjects is also increasing.

It is clear at this time that the objective study of religious literature, religious history, religious themes in literature, drama, music, art and secular history is well within constitutional grounds. Significant activity in this area is observable throughout the nation.

The Committee therefore respectfully moves the adoption of the following resolution:

WHEREAS the United States Supreme Court in the Abington Decision (1963) declared unconstitutional a Pennsylvania statute pertaining to the prescribed reading of the Bible in public school, and

WHEREAS the Commissioner of Education of State of New Jersey and New Jersey Supreme Court (Hawthorne Decision 1964) have interpreted this decision to prohibit such prescribed Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer in the Public Schools, and

WHEREAS certain Episcopalians of this Diocese are seeking guidance in the areas relating to these decisions, therefore be it

RESOLVED that this Convention

(1) Accept the report of the Department of Christian Education of the Diocese of Newark in response to Resolution IX, "Religious Freedom in Public Schools" passed at the 1965 Diocesan Convention.

(2) Encourage in the public schools the objective study of religious literature, religious history, religious themes in literature, drama, music, art and secular history.

(3) Encourage conferences for church members who are teachers and public school administrators to seek appropriate ways of witnessing to their faith through their profession.

(4) Direct the Diocesan Department of Christian Education to seek ways and means of making the home and Church more effective in the religious education of the young.

DEPARTMENT OF CHRISTIAN SOCIAL RELATIONS

For the Year 1965

I would like to highlight several areas of the Department's work in the year 1965. In order to stimulate our people to exercise more fully their Christian citizenship, the Department issued a Legislative Bulletin in March. It dealt with a few of the bills before Congress, and the Legislature—bills in which human welfare was especially involved. And in order that the legislators might not only hear from Episcopalians by letter, but also in person, the Dept. organized and sponsored the Eighth Legislative Caravan to Trenton on March 15, 1965. On that date 150 men and women from our parishes and missions went to the State House to speak personally with their representatives in government. This group, led by Bishop Rath, also had the opportunity to speak with the Governor. Bishop Rath presented the Episcopalians and the United Church Women of the N. J. Council of churches to the Assembly and to the Governor.

The Department went on record for the following during the past year: (1) the abolition of capital punishment; (2) a minimum wage for N. J.; (3) migrant labor legislation; (4) stiff court sentences for those involved in illegal manufacture, sale or administration of narcotics; (5) against the extension of the number of racing days and the number of tracks in N. J.; (6) humane treatment of laboratory animals; (7) increase of limitation on earnings under Social Security; (8) aid to families with dependent children; (9) anti-air pollution legislation; (10) family planning; (11) Federal aid to education; (12) U. S. ratification of United Nations Human Rights Conventions; (13) rent control; (14) against State lotteries; and (15) for a stronger Fair Housing Bill.

The influence of the Dept. upon legislators in Congress and in Trenton on such matters as listed above was continued throughout the year. Letters, telegrams and visits brought the Dept.'s views to the legislators.

On Saturday, Nov. 6, 1965, the Dept. sponsored a Diocesan-wide Conference on "Poverty and the Christian Conscience" which was held in Cathedral House. Speakers were: The Rev. Reinhart B. Gutmann, Exec. Secretary, Division of Community Services, C.S.R. Dept. of our Executive Council, and Mr. Alexander J. Allen, Exec. Director of the Urban League of Greater New York. A panel discussion by five representatives of the poor from Jersey City proved most illuminating. Dr. Harold A. Lett, Chairman of the Human Relations Committee of the Dept., was Chairman of the Conference.

The Rev. Allan Easton, Secretary of World Relief for the Diocese, reports that in keeping with the spirit of M.R.L., Diocesan giving for World Relief showed a continuing interest in 1965. A very generous response was given to the special request toward the needs of South Africa.

Miss Vinnie van Hoogenstyn has completed a through check on the Health and Welfare Manual, bringing up to date names of leaders and addresses of various organizations as well as adding many new resources. The 1966 Edition of the Manual should soon be released by the printer.

The Rev. Carl E. Nelson, Chairman of the Armed Forces Committee, has been called on from time to time during the past year to provide Armed Forces Prayer Books and also Episcopal Church Medals. These are available through the Chairman.

Canon Hanson serves as a member of the Governor's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity.

The Rev. Marshall Rice, Assistant Chairman of the Human Relations Committee, gives leadership in the Inter-Faith N. J. Committee on Religion and Race, of which he is Secretary.

Members of the Dept. worked with the following organizations during the year: N. J. Council of Churches' Dept. of Social Education and Action and also its Dept. on Institutional Ministries; also Planned Parenthood of Essex Co., The Consumers League of N. J., The Morrow Association for Prisoners, The Urban League of Essex Co., the N.A.A.C.P. and the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

In closing, I would like to say we are indeed fortunate to have had such fine leadership on our Committees during the past year. We are most grateful for the wise counselling of Bishop Rath, and the splendid teamwork of the members of our Department in carrying out our Program.

Respectfully submitted,

BENEDICT H. HANSON, Chairman

DEPARTMENT OF STEWARDSHIP AND EVANGELISM

By far the most important event in the life of the Department of Stewardship and Evangelism during 1965 has been the appointment of the the Rev. Roger Ailing as full-time Stewardship Consultant on the diocesan staff. His brief report which follows does not begin to cover the significant developments which his presence on the scene has helped make possible. Under his dynamic leadership the department is beginning to make some creative breakthroughs which have been so deeply needed for such a long time.

During this past Lent, the Rev. Richard N. Bolles accepted a call to be Canon Pastor of Grace Cathedral, San Francisco, California and accordingly has submitted his resignation as chairman of the stewardship committee of the department. During the brief years of his chairmanship he spent literally hundreds of hours in the development of an increasingly adequate stewardship education program for the diocese. We are grateful to God for his conscientious and effective leadership which will be deeply missed.

Once again the communications committee has done a remarkable job on a limited budget in the area of radio, television and public relations. The Rev. Fred Long, chairman, and the devoted laymen who have been working with him feel strongly that the diocese should have a Department of Communications and Public Relations which would be entirely separate from the Department of Stewardship and Evangelism.

Although The Newark Churchman is essentially an autonomous operation, the 1965 financial statement and a brief report from the Rev. A. Stewart Hogenauer, Editor of The Newark Churchman, are also included below.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE BEAN, Chairman

Report of The Stewardship Committee and Consultant

During 1965, the Stewardship Committee of the Department of Stewardship and Evangelism has sponsored the following events:

(1) In January of 1965, a Workshop was held for wardens and treasurers on the vestry's stewardship of the people's offerings.

(2) In the spring, a Workshop was held for the clergy of the diocese for the purpose of presenting some theoretical perspectives and to present some current and available materials.

(3) A large Workshop was held in the fall for canvass workers and canvass chairmen. This, also, dealt with recruiting canvass workers and the organization and conduct of visitation canvass.

(4) In the summer, a comprehensive Catalog of Stewardship Materials was produced and distributed among parochial leaders for their use in local campaigns.

(5) On March 16th, Mr. Alling assumed his responsibilities as a full-time consultant to the Department of Stewardship and Evangelism, and since that time, intensive work has been done with both vestries and groups of canvass workers on the designing, planning, execution of and evaluation of numerous parish canvasses within the diocese. All-day sessions in some churches and weekend conferences in others have been regularly scheduled each month.

REPORT OF THE NEWARK CHURCHMAN FOR 1965

The advice of the committee appointed by the Diocesan Convention of 1964 to evaluate The Newark Churchman was taken seriously by the Editorial Committee of The Newark Churchman. The last two issues for 1965 went to a new format—8¼ x 10¾, 20 pages, with nothing less than 9 point type on 10 point face. This superseded the size of the six other issues put out in 1965, which were printed to the size of 5½ x 8¼ with the use of 8 point type throughout. Favorable comment has been received from various sources on this change.

We attach hereto the summarized statement of H. Merle Darling, Business Manager, with respect to receipts and expenditures for the year 1965.

February 4, 1966

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON "THE NEWARK CHURCHMAN"

With keen satisfaction, the committee calls attention to the great improvement in the diocesan magazine, "The Newark Churchman," since our first report to the Convention in 1965.

Not only has the magazine increased greatly in size but it has improved significantly in appearance. Most of the pictures and photographs in recent issues have been superb, and the typography and format have given it considerable reader appeal. It has become, certainly, one of the most handsome diocesan publications in the country.

However, the committee feels more strongly than ever that the diocese deserves a still better publication, and that the content of "The Newark Churchman" should now be improved as much as its design already has been.

This calls for a radical change in the production of the magazine. It means professional help—a fulltime editor, with an editorial assistant, if possible, plus clerical assistance.

It is unreasonable to expect a man to serve a parish and then be able to devote time and energy to writing and editing. It is unfair to expect anyone—with little time, money or help at his disposal—to produce an interesting, informative, provocative and thoroughly worthwhile magazine or paper month after month.

Our diocese covers more than seven counties—a total of 2,008 square miles in which more than 100,000 Episcopalians live. These figures give some idea of the challenge to anyone attempting to cover and report the diocesan events that should be reflected in this publication.

It is asking too much of a parish priest to fill this role. When the editor is a man whose prime concern, quite rightly, is his parish, he must depend almost entirely on voluntary contributions—many of very limited interest to most readers—to fill each issue of the magazine.

It is our contention that many major religious events should be covered personally, not just within the confines of the diocese but also outside. An example is the New Jersey Council of Churches, which Bishop Stark served for two years as president. In addition, there are meetings of other similar organizations. In this age of ecumenicism, our interests must overlap boundaries of geography and denomination.

Even the events within our own diocese could hardly be covered with two full-time staff members, but certainly the cream of them should be available for the diocesan readers.

A diocesan periodical must be more than a chance collection of essays, publicity notes and pronouncements. But it cannot be more than this if it is entrusted entirely to part-time volunteers, however able or dedicated they may be.

Rather, a diocesan periodical should be a coherent, complete—and above all, honest—record of the life of the diocese. It should be a forum for the many issues confronting the church and the community. It should be a calm but strong voice that can arouse, inspire and lead. It should be not only a source of information, but also a spur to discussion and action.

It should use the professional skills of the mass media if it is to compete with them for attention. It should be read as a pleasure, not as an obligation. It should be aimed more at the laity than at the clergy—and it should have some relevance for even the most lackadaisical layman. It should be as up-to-date, as unvarnished and as direct as the Gospel. In sum: It should have impact and influence—outside as well as inside the church.

This is the sort of publication that can be produced only by a truly professional journalist. There are many techniques he might use, but we will suggest only a few of the things you might find in his publication: In-depth explorations of the social, economic and psychological problems that beset our parishes and our people; straightforward, no-punches-pulled reports on all sides of controversies; interviews and stories emphasizing the personal, the unique, the unexpected and the unofficial—in short, the news.

While the emphasis should be positive, there must be reports on what goes wrong as well as on what goes right. To print only the "good" or the safe or the pleasant news is to earn the distrust, or at least the boredom, of the reader.

This is the job that the professional journalist is equipped to do, if he has the resources and the freedom to practice his profession. We might note that the legal affairs of the diocese would not be entrusted to untrained volunteers, however well intentioned; certainly our official publication deserves similar treatment.

In addition, this committee feels that the diocesan publication should be issued more frequently to be worthwhile. News is a very perishable product, and while the religious press has a little more leeway than the secular, if it lags too much behind, it will be printing only for the benefit of the writers.

Our suggestion is that the publication appear every other week or at least twice a month, with perhaps one issue each during July and August.

Whether the publication should continue as a magazine or change to a newspaper seems to the committee to be strictly a matter of personal taste. The newspaper perhaps possesses a more urgent quality, but by the same token seems of less enduring value. The magazine is more artistic and permanent, but by the same token it is easier to postpone reading its contents until interest in them has waned.

But in either case the real appeal to the reader is quality. It is apparent in the secular world that both good newspapers and good magazines are read and both are considered necessities by large segments of the population.

All of this just underscores the committee's basic recommendation: Full-time professional editorial help is a basic necessity if the Diocese of Newark is to have a publication worth its salt.

Competent help is not cheap in this field, any more than in others. But if the Diocese could see its way to make the investment on a trial basis for three or four years, the results should indicate amply whether our recommendation was valid.

An informed diocesan family is usually a responsive diocesan family, as a number of sister dioceses with corking good publications can testify.

While our mandate has been only to study "The Newark Churchman," we cannot refrain from suggesting that the entire public relations program of the diocese should be reviewed. Much of the news in our parishes never reaches the public, we fear—simply because there is no one to give it to them. Here again, professional help may be needed in evangelism—as we have found it is needed in stewardship—if we are to make the church manifest before men.

Christ Himself, we might note, made frequent use of various devices—miracles and parables—to attract crowds and to convince skeptics. Surely we cannot afford to be timid or stingy in using the skills and devices of our age to proclaim His message anew.

It is impossible to over-emphasize the role of a first-rate press in helping this diocese carry out the mission set forth by our Presiding Bishop in his installation address in January, 1965. He said then:

"The church must offer the good news of God's costly involvement in human history for what it is: Judgment and life by forgiveness and grace for such as believe—and not as a means of conserving any interests or privileges of any institution or race or class."

To offer this news, the diocese must have a modern medium equal to the challenge. The members of the committee are unanimously convinced that an attractive, exciting and reliable publication would be one of the greatest arms and assets for evangelism, stewardship and promotion the Diocese of Newark has ever known.

P.S. It might be noted that none of the members of the committee would be interested in the proposed jobs.

EPISCOPAL CHURCHWOMEN, DIOCESE OF NEWARKPresident's Report (1965-1966)

Recently an older woman told a group of younger women: "Something is going on in the Church. Everything is changed and different. My grandmother knew just what the Bible meant, and she knew exactly what to do and what was right and wrong, but now there's a whole new idea of what it's all about and what God wants of the Church. And if you don't find out what it is, you're going to be left behind."

Indeed these are days of change—some easy, some painful. The Diocesan Board of Episcopal Churchwomen is one of many groups in the Diocese that is walking the uncertain path between the new and the old, trying on the one hand to be faithful to responsibilities still good and useful from the past, and on the other hand to respond to the demands of today and tomorrow. While we have maintained a framework in which to operate, we are making every effort to be flexible in order that we may better participate in the program of the whole Church.

In the meantime, however, the women of the Church have undertaken responsibility for certain projects which are always needed. And, as always, the response was overwhelming. Besides money and material, there has been considerable time and talent given to the work of the Urban Department, Education Department, Christian Social Relations, etc. The women are also represented on the Diocesan Council and the MRI Commission which have given added opportunity to participate in the total program of the Diocese.

As your President, I had the wonderful opportunity of spending a month in Liberia with our friends of the Missionary District. I wish that you all might have been able to share this experience with me, as it is impossible to express in words what I really feel. There is an openness about the people that we rarely see in this country; warmth and friendship freely given—rich or poor, big or small; and a deep desire to share concerns and to learn how we can help each other. As I travelled up and down the District, I marvelled at how much these people manage to do for their Church when they have so little. I was reminded again and again of those of us who have so much and are missing so many opportunities. All too often I saw young people pleading to be allowed to go to school and having to be refused either because the schools were already packed beyond capacity or because there were no funds available for tuitions. I saw a crying need for more clergy to help the relatively few who are doing their best to minister to these widely scattered people. Yet at the United Thank Offering Ingathering almost every parish and/or mission is represented—some contributions being given in pennies. I bid your prayers for these people and I can assure you that they are praying for us. At every service I attended, the cycle of prayer was used and as I heard familiar names in the Diocese of Newark mentioned, I wondered . . . I wondered.

Someone has said, "To be a churchman in the latter part of the twentieth century is to undertake a hard and uncertain Pilgrimage." May we have faith and wisdom to face the days that lie ahead.

BOARD OF EXAMINING CHAPLAINSAnnual Report — 1965

The Board of Examining Chaplains met at Cathedral House on Friday, April 23, and Saturday, April 24, 1965, to examine in all subjects required by Canon 29, Sec. 1 (a), for Holy Orders Messrs. John S. Allen, Stephen T. Arpee, Richard H. Humphrey, George W. Jenkins, Oscar A. Mockridge III, Thomas A. Twyman, Frank Turner, William F. Ellinger, and the Rev'd Kenneth F. Baer, deacon.

The business meeting was held in Bishop Rath's office at 1 p.m., April 23, Dean Griffin presiding. Present were: Bishop Stark, Bishop Rath, the Rev'd Messrs. Cannon, Rice, Clarke, Garvin, MacCray and Herring. Absent were: The Rev'd Messrs. Child and Leswing.

Bishop Stark opened the meeting with prayer. He then offered a prayer for George Grambs, late Secretary of the Board. The Rev'd Messrs. MacCray and Herring were accepted and welcomed onto the Board. The minutes of the previous meeting were accepted as read.

Assignments were re-adjusted. Mr. Garvin will fill a vacancy in ethics. Mr. Herring will become chairman of ethics. A vacancy remains in Holy Scripture.

Bishop Stark expressed his desire that the Church grant laymen authority to administer the Chalice. He also expressed displeasure with Bishop Pike's unilateral proposal to ordain a woman to the diaconate.

December 30th and 31st were selected for the next meeting.

The Board of Examining Chaplains met at Cathedral House on Thursday, December 30, Friday, December 31, to examine in all subjects required by Canon 29, Sec. 1 (a) for Holy Orders Messrs. Robert V. Burrows, Donald E. Fowler, Perry A. Kingman, Thomas C. Lincoln, Philip W. Lord, Preston K. Mears, Jr., Donald J. Schroder, Harold J. Woods, and under Canon 36, Mr. Gerard A. Pisani, and under Canon 29, Sec. 2 (a), Lynne T. Greene, M.D.

The business meeting was held in Bishop Rath's office on Saturday at 12:45 p.m., the Dean presiding. Present were Bishop Stark, Bishop Rath, Dr. Leswing, Mr. Rice, Mr. Garvin, Mr. Cannon, Mr. Lindsley, Mr. Clark, Mr. Child and the Secretary.

The subject of the perpetual diaconate was discussed. Mr. Griffin raised the question of how deacons can be used more effectively in the work of the Church. He suggested that perpetual deacons be given more adequate grounding in such important areas as philosophical theology, ethics, and apologetics. Bishop Stark said that he thought that perpetual deacons were supposed to be more than simply assistants at Sunday services.

Mr. Rice moved that the five chairmen of each of the subject areas pertaining to the perpetual diaconate be asked to prepare syllabuses for the use of tutors. Motion was seconded and passed.

The Dean asked the Secretary to be tutor for Mr. Helmer C. Lundquist, lay-reader of Summit, who is moving toward the perpetual diaconate.

Committee appointments were left intact by the Dean.

Bishop Rath, referring to canons, reminded the Board that candidates dispensed from New Testament Greek must do special exegesis in English. Bishop Rath concluded with an extensive comment on the non-academic qualities revealed by the candidates under examination pressure. He wondered to what extent the examiners ought to focus attention on non-academic but significant characteristics that go into the make-up of the total man and may have important bearing on his ministry. Having himself been present at the Bible exam, and noticed some interesting behavior, he felt that we ought to arrange more exams so that observers as well as examiners could be present.

Bishop Stark said that the Diocese expects another surplus of candidates next year. It is his policy to attempt to place only those men who show the greatest evidence of competence.

The Rev'd James Elliot Lindsley was welcomed onto the Board. He will fill the positions formerly occupied by Mr. MacCray.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSEPH D. HERRING, Secretary

CITY MISSION SOCIETY OF NEWARK, N.J.
EPISCOPAL COMMUNITY SERVICES*For the Year 1965

The Episcopal Community Services, a social agency in the Diocese of Newark, was organized in 1913. Its primary purpose is to express the concern of the Church for those who are in institutions within the border of the diocese. It does this by relating the hospitals, homes, and penal institutions within the Diocese to the resources of the Parish Churches—both clerical and lay.

Each of the seventy hospitals within the Diocese has an Episcopal clergyman who is responsible for our Church's ministry in the particular hospital. These associated chaplains (64 in number) report regularly on their ministry in the hospital assigned them.

More than 250 lay volunteers from our parishes and missions are going forth in the Name of Jesus to meet human need in ten public hospitals throughout the Diocese. Their recruitment, training and sustaining in the work is under the supervision of Canon Hanson. (By its very nature, this is a continuing work as volunteers move away, die, etc.) In every possible way these volunteers extend warmth and friendship to the patients. They visit with the friendless and the lonely ones. They read to those who want it and they write letters for the patients. Some give ward parties, some serve as nurses' aides, and some teach crafts and distribute same. They work in libraries, offices and laboratories. They distribute literature, clothes, candy, cake, tobacco, and other personal items beyond regular hospital care. In three hospitals volunteers show feature films monthly.

In 1965, 257 active volunteers gave approximately 1,400 hours per month of service and approximately 950 individual contacts were made per month.

On Sunday, Dec. 5, a Diocesan-wide Conference sponsored by E.C.S. for hospital and nursing home volunteers was held in Trinity Cathedral House. The Rev. Ralph Bonacker, Director of the New York Episcopal Mission Society, gave the address. In attendance were administrators of hospitals, doctors, nursing supervisors, clergy and volunteer workers from many parishes, including the E.C.S. volunteer chairmen from eleven hospitals and fifteen nursing homes. Preceding the dinner and conference, a Dedication Service in the Cathedral was conducted by the Very Rev. Ledlie I. Laughlin, Dean of the Cathedral. At this time the Rev. Charles Shulhafer, rector of Christ Church, Bloomfield/Glen Ridge, gave an address on "Christian Healing."

Canon Hanson counselled 85 people in difficulty who came to Cathedral House for help. He also has made referrals of clergy and laity of the Diocese to community institutions and social agencies.

Over 4,000 E.C.S. Prayer Cards for hospital bedside use were distributed by E.C.S. associate chaplains and E.C.S. volunteers in public hospitals and nursing homes.

E.C.S. volunteers (9) at Morris Co. Jail minister to the prisoners and their families assigned them by the Chaplain. In many cases this involves helping the prisoner and his family in their total readjustment: new home, new job, new church affiliation, etc.

Each of the ninety-one licensed nursing homes within the borders of the Diocese has an Episcopal clergyman who is responsible for our Church's ministry in the particular home. (In the majority of homes this means responsibility for emergency calls only.) The majority of homes welcome religious ministrations for Protestants. The religious ministry consists of one or both of the following: holding of divine services by clergy or lay readers, and pastoral visitation of large numbers of Protestant patients by either clergy or laity (including college students). The ministers involved in this religious ministry are local Protestant ministers, many of whom serve under the leadership of the local council of churches.

Since April, 1, 1963, the Rev. John Green has been on loan to the Greater Newark Council of Churches for the establishing and developing of its Department of Social Welfare. On Sept. 1, the Rev. Mr. Green concluded this work, of which he was the Director. The Department was admitted to the Council of Social Agencies, effective July 1, 1965, and, to the United Appeals, effective January 1, 1967, being recognized as the official Protestant welfare agency in Newark. Thus, for the first time in its history the City of Newark has had the Protestant counterpart of the Associated Catholic Charities and the Jewish Counseling and Service Agency.

The program of the Department of Social Welfare is channeled through the following areas of welfare concern: (1) Public welfare; (2) Community organizing; (3) Community education; (4) Group life experience; (5) Referral of clergy and churches to welfare resources of the community; (6) Referral of community welfare agency personnel to resources of the church; (7) Consultation, interpretation, and intercession with community social agencies regarding needs of clients or potential clients of agencies; (8) Foster home recruitment program; and (9) Friendly Visitors program.

Space will not permit a detailed analysis of Department's program since last reported in 1965 Diocesan Journal, but a few highlights under the above headings are as follows;

1. Public Welfare:

- (a) Succeeded in bringing sufficient community resources to bear on state public welfare officials to make possible the providing of complete family planning information and medical resources to welfare clients and low-income families through county welfare departments. Policy guide for making these services available in welfare departments and moral principal statements of the Department of Social Welfare are included in Congressional Record of Senator Gruening's committee, dealing with the "Population Explosion."
- (b) Succeeded in obtaining from Essex County's Board of Chosen Freeholders financial support for continuation of phenomenally successful Essex-fields Program for the rehabilitation of juvenile offenders.
- (c) Testified at hearing in Trenton which led to state law requiring physicians and hospital officials to refer parents and guardians of physically battered children to county prosecutor.

2. Community Organizing:

- (a) Organized Protestant churches for intense support of the United Community Corporation (Newark's independent anti-poverty corporation) for defense against unscrupulous attacks upon it by certain community individuals and groups. Played active part in development of United Community Corporation's personnel staff; initiated, organized and developed Newark's Preschool Council under the United Community Corp. Also, helped launch Head Start Program under the United Community Corp. Carried on an intensified educational program among churches and clergy regarding United Community Corporation.
- (b) Participated with Planning Committee of Essex County for the development of community mental health centers in Essex County under provision of President Kennedy's Mental Health Act.

3. Community Education:

- (a) Instrumental in the development of Interfaith Program dealing with business, professional, and labor ethics. Regular group meetings of business, professional, and labor union executive men to discuss business, professional, and labor ethics as sponsored by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Newark, The American Jewish Committee, and the Greater Newark Council of Churches. This program is considered by officials of the National Council of Churches to be the first of its kind in the nation on an interfaith basis.
- (b) Special dialogue meetings of clergy with community welfare agency personnel regarding approaches of respective disciplines to meeting human needs.
- (c) Host to antipoverty teams of National Council of Churches and National Methodist Mission Board, exploring antipoverty program in Newark. Assisted church groups in other cities in planning their programs under Economic Opportunity Act.
- (d) Chaired state-wide conference on extremism (Conference on Preserving the Democratic Process). This conference is leading to the formation of a state organization to combat extremism.

4. Group Life Experience:

Continuation of Group Life Experience, utilizing group dynamics technique and socio-drama for women from Newark and suburban Essex Protestant and Greek Orthodox churches on an interracial and inter-ethnic basis. Purpose of this program has been to make possible a depth relationship between the participants and provide training and incentive for community, social and civic leadership and responsibility.

Continuation of work under headings Nos. 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9.

The concern of the Society for the broader field of Christian service is demonstrated by the fact that Canon Hanson has been serving as Chairman of the Dept. of Christian Social Relations of the Diocese for the past nine years. He gives a considerable amount of time to this work. (See Report of the Dept. of C.S.R.) He serves on many boards of trustees of organizations within this area of the Church's concern. Thus, the Church in the Diocese of Newark through the Episcopal Community Services not only goes out in Christian Service into the community, but through the E.C.S. clergy, the Church's leadership is given to Christian social action in the community. The Church's concern for the social welfare of the community is expressed! The Church is in the world!

THE CORPORATION FOR THE RELIEF OF WIDOWS AND CHILDREN OF CLERGYMEN OF THE PROTESTANT
EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY

Annual Report — 1965

President: Rt. Rev. Alfred L. Banyard, D.D., S.T.D.

Secretary: Rev. Addison K. Groff, 304 Central Avenue, East Orange, N. J.

Treasurer: Mr. Allen B. McGowan, 10 White Beech Drive, Trenton 8, N. J.

The Corporation was founded by Royal Charter on March 29, 1769, and later divided between the States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York. It was incorporated in New Jersey on December 2, 1807.

The benefits of membership are available to clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church who are not over fifty-five years of age and who have been canonically and actually resident (as clergymen) in the State of New Jersey for not less than five years and who can supply a medical certificate attesting to their good health and physical fitness. The annual dues are twelve dollars.

Annual meetings of the Corporation are held on the first Monday in June of each year, and the Executive Committee meetings at the call of the President. Applications for membership as a Contributor are acted upon by the Executive Committee as soon as they are received, up to thirty days before the Annual Meeting, others at the Annual Meeting. With membership limited to 120, there are at present nine vacancies. Application blanks and other information can be obtained by request from the Secretary.

At the Annual Meeting held on June 7, 1965, in the 169th year of the Corporation, in the Synod House of Trinity Cathedral, Trenton, the Treasurer reported assets of $312,179.97 and receipts of $15,525.62, from which annuities in the amount of $4,412.50 were paid to 41 widows and ten minor children. At this meeting a dividend of $70 was ordered paid to each beneficiary entitled thereto, and lesser amounts to other widows and children as provided by the Fundamental Laws of the Corporation, in addition to the regular payment of annuities to the beneficiaries.

Of the Contributors on the list, 83 are making annual contributions, the rest having retired and completed their 25 annual contributions.

The next Annual Meeting will be held on Monday, June 6, 1966, in the Cathedral House in Newark, N. J.

HOUSE OF THE HOLY COMFORTER

Annual Report — 1965

The House of the Holy Comforter, a non-profit boarding residence for older women, continues to be the only agency devoted to the care of the aging, receiving direct financial support from the Diocese of Newark.

During the past year maximum occupancy joined to careful management resulted in the conversion of a substantial deficit in 1964 to a surplus of like size in the following year.

The Home is without significant endowment. Board paid by the Residents, according to individual means, covers only about two thirds of the cost of their maintenance. Gifts and donations provide about twenty per cent, more or less, and the balance is covered by Diocesan grant.

Because of continued dependance on the variable factor of voluntary contributions the Auxiliary of the House of the Holy Comforter was organized in 1964 to assist, among other duties, in the raising of funds to help meet the annual budget and, hopefully, to some day provide an endowment.

Its efforts in this respect have begun to bear fruit, if only in a modest way. Likewise its provision of welcome services to the Residents, not to mention numerous badly needed physical improvements accomplished, is beginning to justify the hopes which prompted its formation.

The membership, at present about 400, of which about 50 are active, is constantly growing and is open to all women of the Diocese who wish to show their concern for the problems of the aging. This can be done by active participation in the work of the Auxiliary, or for those who are too occupied or otherwise unable by joining as an Associate Member.

The Home has accommodations for fifteen women in single attractive home-like rooms, each with hot and cold running water, in a modern one story fire-proof wing. Living room, chapel, dining room, kitchen, laundry and service quarters are housed in a connecting frame building, the original Home.

It is convenient to St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Public Library, stores and public transportation.

Every Tuesday morning Holy Communion is celebrated by the permanent Chaplain, the Rev. Addison K. Groff, assisted at times by other clergy.

Every morning, after breakfast, a brief service of prayer is conducted by the Directress.

Each Sunday morning or afternoon, Lay Readers, licenced by the Bishop, read Morning or Evening Prayers and address, and on Easter Sunday Holy Communion is celebrated by the Bishop.

Applicants for admission must be between 62 and 80 years old, in good physical and mental health and fully ambulatory. The Home is neither equipped nor licenced to provide nursing care.

Residents retain full control of their own resources. There is no admission fee and the only cost, aside from clothing, medical expenses, drugs and personal supplies is the monthly Boarding Fee, at present, $155.00 per month.

Qualified applicants are admitted in order of application as vacancies occur. Application incurs no obligation, but insures a place on the Waiting List.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ALTAR GUILD OF THE DIOCESE OF NEWARK

We appreciate very much all contributions of money, time and materials, new and used, which we have received from Altar Guilds, parishes and individuals during this year. With this aid we are able to help many in the following ways:

A beautiful white funeral pall was completed. This is for use throughout the Diocese. It is available at Cathedral House and should be immediately returned there. The Chapel at Ivy Haven has again been refurnished with the following linens: 2 corporals, 1 linen pall on plexiglass, 2 lavabo towels, 6 purificators and the following articles: 1 chalice, 1 paten, 1 wafer box, 1 Altar Cross, 2 Altar candle sticks, 1 missal stand, 1 missal (used), 2 glass cruets (not matching) and 1 large brass vase. These used vestments were also supplied: set of green chasuble, stole, maniple, burse and veil and set of white chasuble, stole, maniple and veil. For the Altar furnishings the Diocesan Altar Guild supplied the money and the making was done by a sewing group of Christ Church, Short Hills. New sets of super-frontal and pulpit fall were made in green, purple and white. The group, also, renovated a red super-frontal and pulpit fall which we had on hand.

St. Gregory's, the new mission of the Diocese, received the following articles: 6 purificators, 1 linen pall on plexiglass, 4 lavabo towels, 3 amice, 1 credence cloth and 1 fair linen. Also, materials for making, an all-purpose frontal with orphrey bandings and for a set of green and a set of white burse and veil were supplied.

Fr. Backer received 2 chalices and patens, which we had had resilvered, for use; one in Grace Chapel, East Rutherford, and the other in St. Stephen's, Delawanna. St. Stephen's has, also, received 3 purificators, 1 baptismal towel, 3 lavabo towels, 2 credence clothes and a new white super-frontal, pulpit fall, lectern fall a set of burse and veil.

For Essex Mt. Sanitorium a new green burse and veil were made and a set of Bible Markers, red, green, white, and purple. Also, an all-purpose frontal was completed.

After the fire at Christ Church, Ironbound, we were able to supply them with new linens; pall, purificators, corporals, and lavabo towels. We also, offered assistance to the House of Prayer but they were able to take care of things themselves.

Fr. Avery of St. Aidan's, Paterson received 21 used but good cottas for the boys' choir. We received a request from Cuttington College, Monrovia, Liberia for 12 purificators and 3 fair linens. The purificators were sent from our stock, and the fair linens will be started shortly.

In the work rooms, augmented by workers in their own homes, we completed 8 linen palls on plexiglass, 12 lavabo towels, 8 baptismal towels and 18 purificators. Also, for private communion sets, 6 linen palls on plexiglass were made and a complete set of fair linen, purificator, corporal and a pall were made by one member.

For All Saints' Chapel, Cathedral, we have supplied the wine and wafers and candles.

Miss Grace Robertson, a member of the Diocesan Altar Guild was Chairman of a group of Altar Guild members who prepared for the Corporate Communion of the "Episcopal Churchwomen" at the Buck Hill Conference.

On Monday, November 8th in All Saints' Chapel, Cathedral House, at the Annual Corporate Communion of the Diocesan Altar Guild, the Book of Remembrance was presented. Seventeen names were entered of Altar Guild members throughout the Diocese, who had died last year. Bishop Stark was the celebrant assisted by Archdeacon Biggin.

During the year, at the request of the rector, I spoke to the Episcopal Churchwomen of a Parish on "The Work of the Diocesan Altar Guild."

In September, the head of the Newton group found it impossible to continue as leader. So, until other arrangements can be made the members are working at home as many other people do.

On a trip to England, I was able to acquire much information concerning ecclesiastical embroidery and needlepoint work, especially needlepoint kneelers. I brought back designs for 3 kneelers which are being worked. While in Exeter the Verger of Exeter Cathedral gave a great deal of time and service showing and explaining all their vestments, Altar furnishings and order of services.

In return I was able to explain about the plexiglass which we use in our linen palls. Later, in appreciation, a gift of two, which had been made by our members, was sent to the Cathedral.

We are always ready to assist any Parish, at the request of the rector, with instruction or information pertaining to Altar Guild Work.

Respectfully submitted,

SARAH S. FOSTER, President

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF URBAN WORK*1965

Throughout the world there is a growing recognition that a radical change is taking place in the way in which most of the world's people organize and live their common life. The word urbanization is often used to describe this process. To say that most people today live an urban life is to say something about the quality and style of life, more than it is to say something about place and size. New York City is much larger than it was two hundred years ago, but even more significant is that the way of life of its residents is much different.

Not even social scientists are entirely agreed about what urbanization means, but they are agreed that it refers to quality more than to quantity, and that it refers not only to the city but to the whole country and a growing segment of the world. Insofar as there is agreement, urban life is usually described as being heterogeneous, impersonal, superficial, transitory, anonymous, and segmental. The clock and the traffic signal, the telephone switchboard and the cloverleaf, are seen as symbols of the basis of our social order in the urban world.

The Department of Urban Work is first of all a group of people within the diocese who are trying to learn what this process is, to understand some of its implications for the mission of the church, and to call the attention of the diocese to the process and implications. Then, insofar as we are able, we try to serve the diocese in such a way that the church may exercise her ministry most effectively in our part of the urban world. Our role is not so much of carrying out programs and projects on our own, but rather to assist the parishes, specialized ministries, and community groups which have direct and immediate responsibilities for the life of the church and the world. We want to act in such a way that the diocese will achieve a coordinated policy and use of resources at all levels for the purpose of becoming a redemptive force for relief and amelioration. We try to point our efforts in the direction of enabling groups and individuals to participate in shaping their own destinies rather than being dependent on others to do for them. These are some of the understandings and principles which we have tried to express in our activities for 1965.

There is much talk these days about renewing the life of our cities. If the church is to play any part in this, then the church must enter into the process of renewing her own life. The department furnished assistance early in the year to a group of parishes in the Rutherford area who embarked on a four month project of self-study for renewal. Another group of more widely separated parishes from Secaucus to West Orange completed a similar venture of shorter duration. The Cathedral was a part of this group and as a result has a continuing renewal group still at work. At the end of the year plans were made for parishes in Jersey City to begin self-study, and we know of other parishes in various parts of the diocese which are interested.

Toward the end of the year plans were formulated for the department to give support to the Newark Committee for Better Schools. With the department sharing in expenses and the Director giving of his talents invitations were to be sent to over a hundred people in Newark, other parts of Essex County and some in Hudson County to attend an interdisciplinary discussion for educators followed by a Public Involvement Seminar. The Conference, the first of its kind in this part of the country, was held in early 1966, and plans are being made for next steps to work toward better public education in the whole metropolitan area. The department feels that this could be a most fruitful way for the church to evidence its concern and support for solving one of the most basic problems of urban life by working with existing community groups.

During the year we accepted an invitation to cooperate with the Newark Inter-Church Self-help Project aimed at enabling residents of Scudder Homes, a large public housing project in Newark, to improve their way of life on all fronts. There are several full-time workers on the job, but the project looks toward recruiting and training volunteer workers from wherever available to assist the people in the housing project as they decide how to go about making a better life for themselves. This project is interdenominational and is in the direction of self-help—two characteristics which we feel are necessary for the ministry of the church in urban life. Our involvement here is, we hope, just beginning, and may give us some clues for the use of volunteers in other places.

Several meetings have been held during the year with people in Jersey City on the subject of community organization, and one meeting took place in New York with officers of the Executive Council. At our request these officers wrote some guidelines for our use from the experience of other diocese as they have undertaken support of community organization. We expect to continue this exploration to see what role might be appropriate for our diocese in Jersey City or other cities here.

Exploration was begun into the area of non-profit, federally financed, low cost housing. The purpose is to discover whether this is a sound venture for the church, and if so, how it might be done on a diocesan wide basis without involving the diocese with direct responsibility.

In 1965 monies of the department were advanced to Youth Consultation Service and to several parochial summer projects. It is now our feeling that these worthwhile efforts should be financed directly by the diocese, but not through our department.

1965 was our first complete year with the services of a full-time Director. He exercised leadership and assistance within the department in a number of helpful ways. He has served as consultant to our Bishops and to other departments, and in significant ways to community and church groups outside our diocesan and parochial structure. In some ways our problem has been to build up the membership of the department to the point where we can make the best use of his talents. He has continued to produce written material at our request and much of this has been collected in "Urban Issues Facing the Church," a document already distributed on a limited basis.

Last, but not least, I would mention the efforts to achieve a more unified policy and working arrangement within the diocese. There is a long way to go, but there are beginnings. Examples of this are the meetings together of the diocesan department chairman and executives with the knowledge and participation of the bishops. We have begun to work out an appropriate understanding with the Department of Missions. We now have an arrangement whereby three parishes have been designated by them as being our immediate responsibility with their assistance, and three parishes with which we will assist them. The Department of Christian Education has given us important help in our self-study projects and we trust greater interdependence will be brought about. The Department of Stewardship and Evangelism has been most helpful as we both work for the rehabilitation of parishes. We want to see these efforts at coordination go forward.

G. F. S. SOCIETY FOR GIRLSAnnual Report — 1965

G. F. S., Society for Girls, is part of a world-wide organization, sponsored by Churches of the Anglican Communion, which offers a program of service, study, worship, and recreation for girls between the ages of seven and twenty-one. At present, there are thirteen branches in the Diocese of Newark, consisting of about three hundred and twenty-five members, leaders and sponsors.

G. F. S. is a cooperating agency of the Episcopal Churchwomen. The G. F. S. Mission Object each year is related to the Unified Missionary Study for the year and involves an extensive study of the designated area, presented with special emphasis upon girls of the same age group.

Further information about G. F. S. can be obtained from the following sources:

REPORT OF THE DEAN OF TRINITY CATHEDRAL IN NEWARK

The past year at Trinity Cathedral has been marked by several moves to relate the Cathedral more effectively to the local community. In the fall a group of thirty persons, covering a wide age span, entered into a six-week study course on the meaning of "mission" and on a preliminary investigation of the neighborhood adjacent to the Cathedral. This study session set the tone for the rest of the year. It was concluded by a more intensive investigation of the possibility of sponsoring much-needed public housing and by the further development of a ministry to apartment dwellers in the Colonnades by the residents themselves. The former investigation is incomplete, but members of the Cathedral are continuing to explore housing possibilities with a Diocesan committee. The Colonnades ministry is flourishing under the guidance of Canon Niese, and thirteen young couples who live there, with widely varying religious backgrounds, are presently participating in an existential study course based on the St. Louis Educational Center curriculum.

Also in the fall, the Dean, with the strong support of the Executive Committee, called to the Cathedral staff a distinguished Negro priest, with the expectation that he would do special work in civic and community affairs and better equip the Cathedral for a ministry to the many Negroes in Newark. After many weeks of negotiating and planning, the new priest decided not to come, but the life of the Cathedral was enhanced by the creative way that the Executive Committee led the congregation.

In May, Bishop Stark asked the people of Trinity Cathedral and of St. Philip's Church, Newark, to consider the possibility of a merger. The vestries of the two bodies have begun to explore the possibility. If such a merger should take place, the congregation of the Cathedral would be tripled in size and would be fully integrated.

There has been only one staff change this year. In October, Miss Beverly Leber left the Cathedral after four years of very effective and gracious work as Secretary to the Dean. She has become Secretary to Bishop Stark. Mrs. Catherine Ekins has taken the place of Miss Leber and has quickly proven herself to be a worthy successor of Miss Leber, both in her warmth of personality and her ability as a secretary.

During the year there has been a number of improvements in the buildings. An asbestos tile roof was laid on the old Chapel roof. The alteration and re-furnishing of St. Stephen's Chapel was carried out, and the new Chapel furnishings were dedicated to the memory of Bishop MacAdie. A program clock and electric ringing device were hooked up to the large steeple bell so that the bell now rings the hour and can be tolled electrically. A Diocesan committee, with the consent of the Executive Committee, has gone ahead in plans to change the old cemetery into a parking lot.

Meanwhile, the regular parochial and Diocesan services of worship have been held, and the Cathedral continues to be a place of prayer and meditation for shoppers and business people in downtown Newark.

Respectfully submitted,
LEDLIE I. LAUGHLIN, JR., Dean

CHURCH PENSION FUND

To the 1966 Convention of the Diocese of Newark:

The status of the benefits of the Church Pension Fund now being distributed through the retirement and disability and other channels in the Diocese and the General Church, as of April 1, 1966, is as follows:

	Diocese	Amount	General	Amount
To retired clergy	37	$81,455.76	1,068	$2,217,256.00
To disabled clergy	5	10,293.60	125	291,082.00
To widows	38	50,634.36	1,614	2,053,615.00
To orphaned children	14	8,820.84	312	182,768.00

Included in these figures is an increase at the beginning of 1965 in the normal minimum pensions, the increases totaling $464,000 a year. The normal minimum for the clergy is now $2,100 and for widows $1,400 a year. The orphan's allowance is now $420 to $700 a year, depending on age bracket. Pensions below these figures are due to late ordination, unpaid assessments in inactive periods, very low salaries, very late marriage, and deposition intervals.

For full span of ministry the clergy pension at age sixty-eight is 60% of his average salary, and widows' pensions may get up to 30% of his average salary. Early retirement, down to age sixty-five, was put into effect in 1965. The pension is lower at early retirement.

Effective in the middle of 1966 there will be an expansion in benefits with particular emphasis on offsetting the disadvantage the older pensioners have had from the shrinkage in purchasing power since they began to receive their pensions.

About 47% of the present benefits from the system are the retirement benefit; 6% the disability benefit; and 47% the widows' and children's benefits. The assessments contribute a little less than one-half of the needed resources in the long run, over a half coming from investment earnings.

The insurance and annuity facilities made available by the Trustees through Church Life Insurance Corporation are widely used by the clergy and active lay workers and officials as beneficiaries; parishes may build up endowments; parishes may provide pensions for lay workers; dioceses and parishes may provide group life insurance for their clergy. The group Church Major Medical Plan now covers 15,000 individuals—clergy and lay workers and family members.

Over 5,000 churches and institutions are insured in The Church Insurance Company (fire and casualty). Thus the Church in effect is insuring itself, saving considerable money for the Church in the process. The affiliated Church Agency Corporation handles bonding, boiler, and other insurances required by the Church. Thus the Church has its own specialists working wholly in the field of Episcopal Church insurance, as its "joint commission on pensions and insurance," so to speak.

These units are wholly-owned subsidiaries of the Fund, operate wholly within the Church, and contribute to clergy pensions.

The cooperation of the clergy and treasurers in administering this important activity of the Church is very much appreciated.

Respectfully submitted,
SYDNEY E. GRANT, Chairman

CHRIST HOSPITAL

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The history of Christ Hospital began with a railroad accident to a parishioner of St. Matthew's Church, Sussex Street, Jersey City, now extinct, where the Rev. Richard Mason Abercrombie, D.D., was Rector. While the injured man, accompanied by Dr. Abercrombie, was being ferried to New York to a hospital, the idea for a hospital on this side of the river was born. A meeting of the clergy of the Episcopal churches in Hudson County was called and out of that meeting plans were crystallized for the establishment of Christ Hospital in 1873. But it took the combined dedication of parishioners of the various churches, the support of merchants, industry and people of all faiths in the community, not only to launch the hospital but to maintain it through the years and make it one of the finest hospitals in the County and in the State.

I give you this brief historical sketch to show that the hospital depends today, as it did then, on a broad base support of the people of Hudson County. This has been and still is the hospital's most valuable asset.

The past year has been a year of notable achievement in many ways. The long negotiations with the labor union are at the moment quiescent; the new By-Laws for Accreditation and Residency were adopted by the Council and Medical Staff and the building program for additional space for our ancillary services all came into focus last year. Implementing the changes necessary, while maintaining a stable program so as not to unduly interfere with the smooth working of the hospital, has left many of us on the verge of exhaustion, but the hospital itself has emerged more resplendent than ever. Foundations have been laid and plans for the future expansion and improvement of our physical facilities. In a large measure, this will depend on our ability to maintain our present "margin of greatness." This margin is itself dependent upon financial resources, which will have to come from the Council, doctors, the various hospital Guilds, industry and from the generosity and good will of people who know the present hospital product and will want to have a part in enhancing its reputation as a center of healing. The whole hospital family has a holy and blessed work.

The hospital doors are open day and night, every day in the year, ready with life-saving equipment and trained personnel for people seeking relief from physical pain and mental anguish. They come in the confidence that the hospital is properly equipped, staffed with competent physicians, and will provide nursing care of the highest order. They know that in Christ Hospital, they will be surrounded by people who care, where there is a warm, friendly interest and where the highest quality of healing and health care is our chief concern. What makes this possible are the people within the hospital, for whom life and death are important words in the life of man. The members of the Council know that their actions and policies depend for execution on the combined team of doctors, nurses, aids, dieticians, porters, clerks, secretaries, volunteers and the whole administrative staff. They are the ones who contribute that "extra measure" of service to make patients comfortable and happy and give the hospital its well deserved reputation as a landmark for warmth, efficiency and family spirit. May God continue to bless our work and give us a deep sense of commitment and responsibility for the duties imposed upon us.

The Council is fully aware that the high quality of patient care is dependent upon the careful selection of highly qualified and devoted physicians. In Christ Hospital, we are fortunate in having a medical staff trained in the intimate and unique relationship between doctor and patient. Their professional skill and alertness assure the best patient care possible. The three main facets of a hospital, Council, Medical Staff and Administration, must work as a team, each with overlapping and interlocking responsibilities dependent and interdependent on the other, because they hold in their collective hands the quality of every phase of the hospital's operation. This is an awesome and inescapable responsibility to which we in Christ Hospital are dedicated to maintain and even improve.

The number of patients admitted last year was 11,522, representing 104,886 patient days. Most of these patients came from Hudson County, with a smaller percentage from adjacent communities and from outside the State. It is well to remind ourselves that Christ Hospital, from its founding, has never, for the lack of money, refused anyone requiring hospitalization or services in the clinic. We hope that this will always be the policy of Christ Hospital. Last year the hospital gave $487,937.37 in free service or help in hardship cases. These works of mercy were made possible by the contributions, large and small, of the thousands of people who give through the Book Campaign, our devoted Hospital Women's Guilds and the generosity of merchants, banks and industrial firms in Hudson County and elsewhere. In behalf of the Council, we record here not only our stewardship but also the grateful thanks of the patients who received this service, and we earnestly hope that Christ Hospital will continue to merit this generous support from our many friends.

In addition to these contributions, Christ Hospital was also the grateful beneficiary of the following legacies:

Estate of Anna Basting	$ 3,000.00
Estate of Charles S. Goldberger	188.50
Estate of Julia Nevins	500.00
Estate of Margaret Campbell (in memory of her brother, John Campbell, Jr.)	2,500.00
Estate of Elsie Seelickie	500.00
Estate of Elsie L. Haubner	21,000.00
Estate of Frederick K. Hopkins	1,000.00
Estate of Henry Kron	98,860.68
Estate of Gussie Peiper	100.00
Estate of Margaret E. Meister	500.00
Estate of Charlotte Chamberlain	500.00
Estate of Hermine B. Findlay	100.00

Each year is is our sad duty to report the deaths of people intimately associated with our hospital. In the death of Robert Traill Shipman, the hospital lost a highly esteemed and beloved member of the Medical staff. The affection in which he was held as a man and as a physician is shown by the contributions made by the doctors, nurses, former patients and visitors to the hospital, generally to a Student Loan Fund bearing his name. In the death of William E. Decker, a member of the Council since 1941, the hospital lost another valuable servant, whose interest in the hospital is attested by his membership on practically every committee of the Council. In recognition of his legal counsel and in deep appreciation for his work for the Abercrombie Guild, the members voted recently to establish a memorial in his name.

May I again, on your behalf and my own, express our grateful thanks for the fine work done by our Chaplain, the Rev. William Stocks, and to the other clergy, Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish, for bringing the healing ministration of religion to the sick and afflicted.

It is impossible in this brief report to detail the many improvements made during the year to serve our patients better. These will undoubtedly be noted in other reports. Last Fall, all salaries were increased, so that the minimum pay is now $1.50 an hour. This makes our total salary budget $2,948,277 or 67.2% of our operating costs. Added to this is the cost of the Merit Program, overtime pay, fringe benefits and the eventual cost of our contemplated Pension Plan for our employees. While the Council realizes that hospital costs are on the increase, Christ Hospital still gives more for the medical dollar than ever before. A hospital does not deal in merchandise but in human life; it is a personal service institution, and regardless of cost, the Council must provide a fair and living wage for our employees.

Finally, since this is my last report as your President, I thank you, the members of the Council, for your generous contribution of time and talent to the progress and welfare of our hospital. I also want to record my deep appreciation for your understanding, courtesies, patience and the loyal support that you, the Medical Staff and the whole hospital family has given me during the years I have had the honor to be your President. For all your encouragement, cooperation and kindness, I am deeply grateful. May we, with dedication and courage, face the unlimited opportunities and challenges that lie ahead, as Christ Hospital continues to minister to the sick and suffering children of God, the Father of us all.

Respectfully submitted,

F. SLADE DANZOLL

THE BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW DIOCESE OF NEWARK ASSEMBLY

The Brotherhood is trying to fulfill our rules of prayer and service. To our two basic rules, we have added a rule of study. Under this rule, we undertake to read regularly Holy Scriptures in order to better understand how we can fulfill continually our rules of prayer and service.

At the parochial level, men of the Brotherhood are actively engaged in Lay reading, choir singing, teaching Sunday School, training acolytes under the Rector's direction and many other necessary tasks.

Specifically, the following list of activities spells out, in somewhat more detail, what some of our chapters are doing.

Presently, Brotherhood men are working in both the Morris and Essex County jails.

One of our chapters under the active direction of its Rector, does a major portion of the sick calling of its parish.

One of our chapters took an active part in the sponsoring of a mission of the Brothers of the Holy Cross in its parish.

One of our chapters has instituted a scholarship fund.

On an Assembly level, we are continuing our assistance of the National Organization in forming assemblies in the Diocese of New Jersey and the Convocations of Orange, Rockland, Sullivan, and Greene Counties in the Diocese of N. Y.

We are still engaged in the work of sponsoring the Brotherhood program in our companion Diocese of Liberia.

Statistically, the Brotherhood has chapters in the following parishes:

Atonement, Fair Lawn
Epiphany, Allendale
St. Mark's, Teaneck
Grace, Westwood
Holy Trinity, Hillsdale
St. James, Upper Montclair
St. Mary's, Sparta
St. Paul's, Paterson
Advent, Bloomfield
St. John's, Dover
All Saints', Bergenfield
St. Peter's, Essex Fells
St. John's, Passaic
All Saints', Millington

As the result of the Washington's Birthday Communion held this year, throughout the Diocese, we are confident that this number will grow—especially in the Warren and Sussex County area.

This year, the Assembly will hold its installation of officers at the Seamen's Church Institute in Port Newark. Our Chaplain, Bishop Rath, will be the celebrant of Holy Communion.

On the lighter side, we are planning a picnic at Holiday House on Saturday, June 11, 1966. We look forward to a day of fellowship and fun with our families as well as an opportunity to know each other better.

Respectfully submitted,
EDGAR O. CURTISS, JR., Vice President

LAY READERS GUILD REPORT FOR 1965

Members of the Guild have continued to serve in their home parishes, as well as the additional work in nursing homes and other institutional work. They are ready at all times to replace clergymen during any emergency in missions and parishes. A group of lay readers are devotedly reading Evening Prayer five nights a week at Trinity Cathedral.

The Right Reverend Dillard H. Brown, Missionary Bishop of Liberia, was the Guest speaker at our October meeting.

A group of Lay Readers assisted the Reverend Franklin Weiler in making a survey of the Parsippany area, in advance of his opening service as the mission started in that area.

The Guild is always ready for requests for men where they can serve the Church, either as Lay Readers or any other capacity that they can be of service.

YOUTH CONSULTATION SERVICE

Annual Report — 1965

This report ties in with, and carries forward, the Annual Report of 1964 in which Miss Daphne Hughes, then Executive Director, sketched out some of the history and background of the Youth Consultation Service. In March, 1965, Miss Hughes submitted her resignation as Executive Director of Y. C. S. to take effect on July 1st. At that time she assumed new responsibilities at a national level as Director of the Bureau of Personnel and Training of the National Board of the Y.W.C.A., New York City.

The heaviness of separation from the Agency with which she had been identified for 26 years has been partially ameliorated by her election as an Honorary Trustee of Y.C.S. and by her desire and willingness to nourish her interest in Y.C.S. in a gratuitous consultative capacity. She continues to be a source of help and inspiration to the Agency.

Another ameliorating and salutary outgrowth was the fact that, after assiduous screening of candidates from all over the country for the post of Executive Director, it was found that the person who stood head and shoulders above all others was on the Y.C.S. Staff as Director of the Residence. Miss Helen A. Fisher was appointed Executive Director of Y. C. S. on July 1, 1965.

The function of the Youth Consultation Service is to provide skilled professional counseling concerning the problems of youth. The teamwork of case workers with psychological, psychiatric, vocational and other trained practitioners results in therapy that, starting with a teen-ager, often brings in other members of the family for salutary results.

There is a natural tie-in between this professional team and the work of Apprentices in the Residence for little girls who are Wards of the New Jersey Bureau of Children's Services. The Director of the Residence supervises the collaboration of all members of the Staff in this area, under the over-all jurisdiction of the Executive Director.

Another natural tie-in exists between the Consultation Service and the Mental Health Clinic in Jersey City for Hudson County. The services are congruent except for the requirement that the clinic must operate under the medical direction of a psychiatrist. This requirement must be met to qualify for a Mental Health Grant-in-aid from the State.

A Mental Health grant is available to the extent that dollars are matched. In 1965 Y. C. S. was not financially able to qualify for the full amount of the official State Grant by about $8,500. The extent of services rendered at the Clinic, therefore, fell $17,000. short of what might have been.

In round figures the operations of Y. C. S. in 1965 are accounted for as follows:

Consultation Service	$ 47,800
Residence	$ 67,200
Mental Health Center	$ 67,800
Total	$182,800

What one might expect is true: of the total budget, $130,600. was expended for salaries, $52,200. for operating expenses. This is an organization of dedicated people blending their skills to help children, young people, and adults who are in need of these services.

MUTUAL RESPONSIBILITY COMMISSIONAnnual Report — 1965

This report is designed to inform the Diocese of the Commission's accomplishments as well as its future aspirations—everyone is interested in how we are doing as a Diocese. We should indeed be encouraged to know that parishes and individuals alike have been responding to the Church's call to mission as adopted by the Anglican Congress in 1963. Unfortunately, many of the relationships existing between parishes outside the Diocese as well as within it defy tabulation. For instance, there are parishes and individuals who are contributing money and materials to many different diocese and programs within the Anglican Communion. This is part of our diocesan expression of Mutuality and Interdependence. The one area about which we as a Diocese are primarily concerned is our Companionship with the Missionary District of Liberia. Let me give you some facts about what we, the Diocese of Newark, have done in Liberia.

We all know of the significant visit Bishop and Mrs. Stark made to Liberia in 1964.

At the time of our last Diocesan Convention, Dr. Herbert Leswing, the Rev. David Jones and I were privileged to respond, in your name, to the request from Bishop Brown and the Department of Christian Education in Liberia, for a training program for lay leaders in the life of the Church there. Their response was enthusiastic and abundantly appreciative for the fact that you provided the funds to make this trip possible.

Only recently, Mrs. Richard Pettingill, ECW president of the Diocese of Newark, visited our companions and spent a month working and learning with the women of the Church in Liberia the common task that is ours as the people of God, no matter where our ministry is fulfilled. Again the response was warm and exciting. Although Mrs. Pettingill went at her own expense, it was in the spirit of companionship and it represented us on the mission front.

The problem of immediate and effective communication from one part of the district of Liberia to another, was largely solved by the five transmitters and receivers which were sent in response to this need.

The young people of our Diocese have raised approximately $6,500 for the work at St. Mark's School, Dubly Island Road, and it is hoped that in the near future the total $10,000 will be available for the use of the school.

In the fall of 1966 the Archdeaconry of West Bergen plans to have a Liberian student living in its midst. An amount of $900 has been raised so far for this purpose.

The Diocesan Altar Guild is sending both money and materials to Liberia for work involving the worship of the Church.

All in all, including gifts not designated for specific purposes, the Diocese, as far as known, has sent a total of $36,839.86 to Liberia for our common work there.

You will rejoice to learn that one of the pressing needs mentioned by Bishop Brown has been met by the Diocese of Tennessee. A Cessna aircraft was sent to the District of Liberia, at the cost of almost $30,000. This will be a great boon to the effectiveness of the Church's ministry in that country.

Because Mutual Responsibility and Companionship is not just money and material, I hasten to add that the visits of Bishop Brown and some of people to our Diocese have enriched and deepened our companionship on the people to people level.

What does the Commission propose for the future? We have proposed to the Diocesan Council that an amount of $30,000 be placed in the program budget of this Diocese. The rationale for such a budget item lies in the nature of our companionship. If our two Diocese are indeed joined, then what we do in Liberia is the extension of the regularly ordered life of our Diocese in Newark. Our companionship is more than matter of our affluent congregations or wealthy individuals doling out their largesse to the "poor Liberian Church." In the last analysis, whatever Newark may be doing in Liberia is not being done for Liberia but in response to Christ's commission. What we do in Liberia we do for Christ's sake, and so also is the Missionary District of Liberia's work done for Christ's sake. If Mutual Responsibility means anything, it means that Newark and Liberia are yoked together in a common task and mission, wherever that work and mission are performed.

We would hope that wherever decisions are made by the duly constituted bodies of the Diocesan and parochial Church, there would be prayerful consideration for the inclusion of items for our work with Liberia on each and every level—vestry, parish organizations and individual communicants.

We have already incorporated our common concern in our worship, through the cycle of prayer. We do not have a special service of intercession for Liberia but we build it into our ordered daily and Sunday worship. There are parishes like St. Andrew's, Harrington Park where part of the sharing in the life of the Liberian Church will be featured in their annual fair, etc.

The Mutual Responsibility Commission does not see itself or its purpose for being as a committee of the Diocese, nor yet as a substitute for the Diocese, but rather as an arm of the Diocese. Our purpose is to bring the concerns of any phase of Mutual Responsibility and Liberia into focus and to make recommendations to the people of the Diocese as to how these concerns or needs may best be met. In this way alone can the Commission help the Diocese of Newark to become more mutual and interdependent in the world-wide body of Christ.

REPORT TO 92nd ANNUAL CONVENTION DIOCESE OF NEWARK BY THE
COMMITTEE ON DIOCESAN ADMINISTRATION AND SALARIES

Subject: Full Pension at Age 65

A resolution concerning full pension at age 65, instead of 68 as now provided, was presented by the Reverend Alexander M. Rodger to the Diocesan Administration and Salaries Committee (page 69, "1965 Journal").

The Committee has reviewed material concerning the suggested age change, the rules and directives under which the Church Pension Fund operates, and other matters bearing on pension benefits generally. The Committee also has had correspondence with officers of the Fund and has had the benefit of hearing about the background and objectives of the Fund in a discussion with two of the long-time trustees of the Fund. The Fund is a creature of General Convention and operates within the limits established by canons and resolutions of the General Convention.

At the outset, it should be recognized that the philosophy of General Convention with respect to the way the Fund should operate has been from its inception predicated in part on a pooling of interest concept. In brief, this means that the use of the 15% pension assessment goes beyond making provision just for the man upon whose pay the assessment had been or is being applied. Portions of assessments and Fund earnings are devoted to raising minimum and low-level benefits for retired clergy, widows, and orphans. There is a concern for the need to compensate for the rise in cost of living and for benefits based on earlier inadequate stipends. It was this concern that largely motivated General Convention to increase the assessment rate from 10% to 15% in 1949 and later the base to which the rate was to be applied. A resolution of the 1964 General Convention continued this concern by directing the Fund to place emphasis, in expanding benefits, on the pensions and on offsetting the lower stipends of earlier years of ministry.

The Rodger resolution appears to rely principally on the non-availability of benefits under the Federal Social Security Program for clergy active from age 65 to 68. The Committee recognizes this point but feels that there are other pertinent considerations to be taken into account. In return for giving up Social Security benefits for these three years, the clergy frequently find these later years those of highest earnings. Further, the life expectancy of the clergy is greater than that of most men so that their total benefits under Social Security may be expected to approach or even exceed the average man's even though these payments begin three years later. As for other arguments adduced in favor of early retirement: it is rare to discover superannuated clergy serving in posts of responsibility, and it is by no means certain that younger clergymen are being held back in their advancement under the present rule of optional retirement at age 68, compulsory retirement at age 72.

The Church Pension Fund now provides a pension of 60% of average annual salary for those who retire at age 68 or thereafter and who also have completed at least 40 years of service. In addition to this basic benefit, substantial additional benefits are provided by the Church Pension Fund for disability, as well as for widows and children of both active and retired ministers. Also, an important part of the income of the Fund is required to provide minimum pensions of $2,100 per year for members of the clergy who have had low average earnings over their period of service.

At present, a member of the clergy who wishes to retire at age 65 may do so but with a substantially reduced pension, usually about two-thirds of the amount he would have received at age 68. This reduction is to allow for the reduced interest earnings on contributions on his behalf, the lower total contributions actually made, and the aggregate increased pension payments resulting from early retirement.

The lowering of the retirement age for full pension from 68 with 40 years of service to 65 would increase cost and create inequities between those retiring at age 65 and those continuing to serve, especially if the service requirement were also reduced. It is doubtful whether the additional costs could be covered by the present assessment rate while giving the fairest possible treatment to all participants in the Fund and continuing to provide the important supplementary benefits now offered. On the other hand, the reduction in pension now available for those retiring before 68 is drastic, even though it appears to be approximately correct actuarially.

Some modification in present arrangements should, however, be possible and would be in the best interests of the clergy generally. It is therefore suggested that the Church Pension Fund make a study to determine whether it is not possible to allow a minister to retire in accordance with a formula along the following basis:

1. Retirement to be permitted at any time after completion of 40 years of service with a pension of 60% of actual average salary to date of retirement.
2. Retirement to be permitted at any time after age 62 and completion of 30 years of service since ordination. The pension would be based on actual average salary allowed would be reduced by 3% for each year or $\frac{1}{4}\%$ for each month his service is less than 40 years, if he is retiring before age 68. Thus, if a minister who was ordained at 30 retired at 65 with 35 years of service, he would receive a pension of 60% of his actual average salary to his date of retirement, less $5 \times 3\%$ or 15% of that salary. Thus, his pension would actually be 45% of his actual average salary to his date of retirement. No change would be needed in present practices applying to members of the clergy retiring at 68 or thereafter with less than 40 years of service.

Naturally there are alternative formulae that could be used to liberalize early retirement benefits. The suggested approach may be either more or less liberal than is actually feasible. This can only be determined by actuarial analyses of the records of the Pension Fund.

Exploration of such an arrangement, however, should be made with due regard to these additional observations of the Committee.

1. The Fund is managed ably, conscientiously, and conservatively. However, there appears to be a need for improved communications in order to attain a better understanding of the Fund's operations and objectives.
2. The Committee expects that any change made in benefits should be such that neither the present assessment rate nor the soundness of the Fund would be jeopardized.

3. The existing benefits compare very favorably, in relation to the actual earnings of a participant, with benefits available under most pension plans including other ministerial funds.
4. In addition to the requirements for normal retirement of clergy being stringent, there is some question whether the best possible balance of the supplementary benefits for orphans, widows, and late ordination cases has been achieved.
5. No one improved benefit should be recommended or adopted without considering the equities and adequacies of all other benefits, as well as the costs involved in liberalizing any that appear deficient. There is no implication intended here that the benefits now being paid any beneficiary of the Fund should be eliminated or reduced.
6. The present program of placing emphasis in the expansion of benefits on the minimum pensions and on offsetting the lower stipends of the earlier years of ministry is commendable, even though it probably involves effectively redistributing funds being contributed on behalf of clergy continuing active to the benefit of those currently retiring or actually retired. However, the enactment by Congress of payments for all those over 72 who were not entitled to Social Security Benefits warrants re-evaluation of this policy and consideration of postponement of further increases for those now on the retired rolls and over 72.
7. In recent years, since the Church Pension Fund was established, the Variable Annuity has been developed as a way of providing pensions that keep up with changes in the cost of living. Essentially, payments under a Variable Annuity fluctuate in accordance with the results of a portfolio of common stocks. The College Retirement Equities Fund of the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association has been able to reduce substantially the retirement income problems of retired college teachers by the use of the Variable Annuity principle. The Church Pension Fund should give serious consideration to the adoption of a Variable Annuity for a portion of its benefits, in lieu of continuing to use large amounts of the funds probably contributed on behalf of active clergy to increase benefits for those retired. It is recognized, however, that the Variable Annuity principle would need to be applied in the Church Pension Fund primarily to benefits in excess of the minimum pension and probably only after retirement.
8. The financial policies of the Fund are conservative. More aggressive policies may be feasible without reduction in soundness of operations, particularly by entering the residential mortgage field in which no investments have been made as a matter of policy.
9. The use by the Fund of a 3% rate in determining required reserves appears to be low, particularly when forecasts of future long-term interest rate levels made by competent economists are considered. Determining required reserves by the use of an interest rate of from 3½ to 4% would appear to be reasonable. This would release somewhere around 5½ of the reserves now held to help finance other benefits.
10. The Fund has sometimes stated that liberalizations in benefits could not be made because of the large amount of reserves that must be set up in a lump sum to cover the value of benefits that have accrued for persons who have not retired. This is an extremely conservative practice that restricts the ability of the Fund to serve the Church with maximum effectiveness. A completely sound approach to determine whether a liberalization could be granted would be to establish whether the income of the Fund would cover interest on such a lump sum reserve requirement, plus setting up that reserve over their estimated average remaining working lives. Of course, in addition, reserves required for benefits accruing after the liberalization would also be established, and the income of the Fund must be able to cover them.

11. The Fund holds some common stocks which have appreciated in value since purchase. It is suggested that a program of recognizing a greater degree of gains on stock that has not been sold would be sound, and would help finance worthwhile liberalizations in benefits.

In view of the foregoing, the Committee recommends that the 1966 Convention of the Diocese of Newark adopt the following resolution:

WHEREAS members of the clergy have reason to be dissatisfied with some of the benefits provided through the Church Pension Fund, and

WHEREAS developments in the national scene as well as the technique of pension administration and management make it appear that a more satisfactory arrangement of benefits is possible within the limits of the present pension assessment, therefore be it

RESOLVED that the Diocese of Newark memorialize the 62nd General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church to request the Trustees of the Church Pension Fund

- a) To have a study conducted using outside actuarial or other consultative services as warranted, covering all phases of the operations and benefits provided by the Fund and the relationships of its benefits to those available from governmental bodies for the clergy;
- b) To endeavor to liberalize, if necessary over a period of years, the present benefits for retirement before age 68;
- c) To explore the feasibility of providing for increases in benefits after retirement by means of a Variable Annuity or other measures that will furnish such benefits with a lessening use of funds from current assessments on salaries of active clergy;
- d) To make such other changes in benefits as seem warranted, but only if they can be financed without an increase in the current assessment rate.

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMISSION ON CLERGY SALARIES

I. INTRODUCTION

The Standing Commission on Clergy Salaries is pleased to present its seventh annual report. Those desiring detailed information about the earlier work of this Commission are referred to The Journal of the Diocese of Newark — 1965, p. 131-134, and to pages 136-149 of the 1964 Journal which contain references to earlier reports of this Commission and an appendix summarizing present standards for clergy remuneration.

In this report, we are pleased that we are again able to report progress in the improvement of clergy livings in the Diocese of Newark. We have continued to study factors affecting clergy livings and this report contains also some additional background information which is helpful in seeing the full picture.

In the light of our studies, this Commission feels that the time has come to make some changes in our standards of clergy remuneration, and recommendations for additional steps. Our report concludes with facts and solutions concerning these changes.

II. FACTS ON CLERGY REMUNERATION

Here is a summary, in tabular form, of comparable statistics for 1960, 1964 and 1965:

	1960	1964	1965
Average Salary	$6,445	$8,161	$8,437.48
Median Salary	$5,400	7,463	7,697.60
Clergy Reporting	120	140	136

These figures, which include the value of housing and utilities, show both substantial long-range progress and gains since last year.

A new record number of men reported raises in 1965. 54 men reported raises in cash salary; 19 reported increased auto allowances (which do not count as salary); and 12 reported raises in housing or utility allowances. Of 136 respondents, 127 have received some raise within the last three years.

94 men receive auto allowances at or above the Diocesan minimum figure of $800.00 per year. 33 receive allowances below the minimum, and 9 do not report receiving car allowances.

These encouraging improvements notwithstanding, your Commission must report the continued existence of problems. Five men reported sub-minimum salaries in addition to the 33 who receive sub-minimum automobile allowances. A small hard core of men still report no telephone allowances. Five men have been at least five years without raises—one for eight years. While the percentage of men who clearly live at or below the minimum standard has declined substantially over the years, we are bound to point out again that the conscientious efforts of so many of our Vestries and Executive Committees are of no help to the men for whom concern is not tangibly expressed.

Beyond the establishment of minimum salaries, previous Conventions have set a second and higher standard of the payment of "just and equitable salaries" as a goal to be achieved as rapidly as possible, wherever possible. In the past, the Convention has held that "just and equitable salaries" be based on either a formula for determining the average income of parishioners, or upon the payment of a salary equal to that of a high school principal of similar experience in the same community. In the final section of this report the Commission will suggest that we abandon the "average salary" formula and concentrate upon achieving a school principal's salary level (a figure which can be roughly achieved by multiplying the salary of a school teacher of equal experience to the clergyman by 1.5) as a means of establishing a "just and equitable" standard for clergy remuneration.

It is worth taking note where we stand in relation to such a figure. On the basis of questionnaires received, it would appear that only a small handful, certainly less than a dozen, parishes in the Diocese have achieved the "just and equitable" standard of paying their clergymen a salary equal to a school principal of similar educational background and years of experience.

Candidly, there are some difficulties in precisely analyzing the data beyond this point, but it would appear that generally, and particularly in the case of our more experienced clergy, a majority of our men are not only below the "just and equitable" standard of principals' salaries, but even below the standard of the salaries of public school teachers in their communities of equal experience and education. For example, the median figure in the salary guides of the State's public schools for teachers on a 6-year training level (most clergy are on a 7-year training level) and on a 14-year experience level is $8,900. The median figure of our clergy, including housing and perquisites, is $7,697.60, or $1,302.40 below this teachers' median. To some extent the clergy median is brought down by the inclusion of younger men of less than 14 years of experience. But, over all, 2/3 of our clergy are below this median figure, including apparently a majority of those of comparable experience and educational level with the teachers.

For teachers in the category described above, the State minimum salary by law is $8,550, and again, a majority of the clergy of comparable experience and education is even below this teachers' minimum figure.

State minimum salaries and median salaries for public school teachers have increased in varying amounts according to the number of years of experience, making it extremely difficult to assess accurately whether or not increases in clergy salaries in our Diocese have been keeping abreast with increases in teachers' salaries. The lowest legal minimum salary which could be paid to the public school teacher without experience and with only four years of college training has increased by $900 since 1962. The State minimum for the highest classification of teachers, in experience and education, has jumped by a matter of $2,350, partly due to the fact that higher categories are now available. In the category which was the highest in 1962, the minimum legal salary has now jumped by $1,550.

Since the median figure in the Diocese of Newark has increased in the amount of $1,157.60, it appears that from 1962 to 1965 the median clergy salary has grown slightly more rapidly than the very lowest teachers' salaries, but substantially less rapidly than the salaries of more experienced public school teachers. It appears probable that not only are we failing to rise to the "just and equitable" standard of principals' salaries, but that we may, in fact, be well below top public school teachers' salaries, and dropping back. Bearing in mind that public school teachers work 9 months per year, 5 days a week, compared to a fairly typical 6-day a week, 11-months a year schedule for the clergy, and recognizing that the clergy have professional and administrative demands far exceeding those of most public school teachers, it appears to your Commission urgent that we take steps to stay abreast of climbing public school teachers' salaries, and this in part accounts for the substantial increases which we recommend in 1967 and 1968.

Many laymen are not aware of the fact that as "self-employed persons," the clergy pay a much higher Social Security tax than most laymen. In 1966 the clergyman's Social Security tax, for a man paying on the new full amount of $6,600 will jump from $259.20 to $405.90. Laymen whose FICA tax is withheld from their "wages" pay 2/3 of this amount. This single added item of $146.70 in the expenses with which the clergyman is faced next year is a factor which has received consideration in the recommendations we make in Part III of this report. We are studying this entire matter of the additional tax paid by the clergyman for Social Security, and we expect to report further on this matter next year.

III. RECOMMENDATIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

In the light of the foregoing facts, the Standing Commission on Clergy Salaries believes that a major increase in salaries is necessary and should be put into effect as rapidly as possible. As a matter of economic reality, time is needed to anticipate such change and to adopt parochial and diocesan budgets. Also, as a matter of economic reality, a measure of immediate relief for men accepting minimum salaries must be provided.

Our Resolution I, below, is an attempt to balance these two realities through new minimum salary standards for 1967, and for 1968. First, however, let it be noted that we have introduced a new category of minimum salary, called the "training minimum." This too, is in response to an economic reality. Most of our men in this Diocese begin their ministries as curates, though only a limited number of parishes can offer such positions. Experience has shown that if these parishes must pay the same salaries for new men as for experienced priests, who are now available, they prefer the latter. Furthermore, some of the parishes supporting curacies are barely able to do so. To try to insist on their paying the full minimum an experienced priest should receive could simply result in several good training opportunities no longer being available. The new "training minimum" is intended to provide these parishes with incentive to keep positions open and make them available as opportunities for new men to gain experience.

With these thoughts in mind, your Commission recommends passage of:

RESOLUTION I

WHEREAS the minimum standards for full time clergy remuneration in the Diocese of Newark are now as follows:

Cash Salary

Deacon — $4,600 per year Priest — $5,000.00 per year

- Perquisites for both
- (a) Suitable housing maintained
 - (b) Heat
 - (c) Electricity
 - (d) Water
 - (e) Gas (if necessary)

and

RESOLVED that for the year 1967 this Convention establish the following minimum standards for cash salaries for full-time clergy to be provided in addition to currently prevailing perquisites:

Deacon — $4,600.00

Priest-in-training (first two years in Priesthood) — $5,100.00 per year

Priest — $5,300.00 per year;

and be it further

RESOLVED that for the year 1968 this Convention establish the following minimum standards for cash salaries for full-time clergy, in addition to currently prevailing perquisites:

Deacon — $4,750.00 per year

Priest-in-training (first two years in Priesthood) — $5,500.00 per year

In proposing these increases in minimum salary standards, your Commission believes that upgrading the base should result in a corresponding increase in the entire structure. Ideally, we would like the Convention to ask that all salaries, now above the minimum levels, be kept at least proportionately above the new minimums in 1967 and 1968. We earnestly hope that in fact this will happen; for example, that a man now receiving $6,000.00 per year will receive not less than $6,300 in 1967 and not less than $7,000.00 in 1968.

Again, however, your Commission must be sensitive to realities. Some parishes now paying substantially above the minimum are doing so at great sacrifice and effort because they have already been aware of and responded to the economic facts which led your Commission to recommend the substantial increases in our minimum salaries. For this reason, we feel that a resolution urging that all possible steps be taken to at least increase other salaries proportionate to the increases in the minimums is preferable to a stronger one setting a moral standard that it might be impossible to meet in many instances.

In the light of these considerations, we offer our:

RESOLUTION II

BE IT RESOLVED that this Convention urge that all Parish Vestries and the Department of Missions seek to raise all salaries now above the minimums at least in proportion to the minimum levels in 1967 and 1968, and that in any instances where this is not possible within the next two years, it be set as a goal to be achieved at the earliest possible date.

In Section II of this report, in pointing out the problems which exist in keeping abreast of public school teachers' salaries, your Commission commented that it seems wise to establish the salary of a high school principal as a "just and equitable" standard for clergy remuneration. The 1962 Convention established two standards for determining "just and equitable" salaries, one of them a somewhat complicated method of determining the average salary of teachers which, as far as the Commission knows, has never been used; and the other, establishing the salary of a high school principal of equal years of experience to that of a clergyman as a "just and equitable" standard of comparison. In many instances, precise principals' salaries are not available and they are affected by variables as to the size of the school, etc. For these reasons, your Commission believes that, while philosophically adhering to the view that the high school principals' salaries reflect a "just and equitable" basis of comparison, it is expedient to adopt a more simple formula.

To this end, we offer our:

RESOLUTION III

BE IT RESOLVED that this Convention rescind the action of former Conventions in establishing standards for "just and equitable" salaries: and be it further

RESOLVED that this Convention define "just and equitable" salaries as the payment of a total living in which the clergyman's cash salary plus housing (valued at not more than 20% of cash salary, or $1,500.00 minimum) and utilities (valued at not more than 10% of cash salary) be equated to a figure 1.5 times that of the salary of a public school teacher who is on the 6-year level (7-year level if it be recognized) of equal years experience to the clergyman in the community in which he serves.

As far as your Commission's statistics allow a determination, it appears that less than 10% of the parishes in the Diocese pay "just and equitable" salaries, defined either by our earlier standards or by the standard proposed above, which in fact is probably lower than the earlier formulas. It is the hope of the Standing Commission on Clergy Salaries that all parishes able to do so will continue pressing as rapidly as possible toward the goal of paying "just and equitable" salaries. Your Commission trusts that increasing awareness of the need and of the standards established by the Diocese will encourage vestries to do their best to achieve this goal. We believe, however, that an imperative part of achieving the payment of minimum salaries and the best possible salaries under all circumstances is to have all Vestrymen and Executive Committee Members aware of the full situation. To this end, we offer our:

RESOLUTION IV

BE IT RESOLVED, that this Convention direct the Standing Commission on Clergy Salaries to prepare summaries of standards of clergy remuneration established by this and previous Conventions; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Convention direct its Secretary to mail copies of this summary to all Wardens, Vestrymen, Executive Committee Members, and Clergy in the Diocese by September 15, 1966.

The Standing Commission on Clergy Salaries wishes to thank our Bishops for their ever-present support and concern for the work of the Commission, Mrs. Edward K. Walker, our statistician, and all who have assisted us with our work. We wish to express our gratitude also to all those Vestrymen and Executive Committeemen and members of the Department of Missions who continue to give careful study to our recommendations and to make earnest efforts to implement them.

Memorandum of Information Required by the Bishop and the Standing Committee of the Diocese of Newark on Petition by a Parish to Sell, Lease or Mortgage Real Estate.

- I. Canon 6, Sec. 3 of the General Church Cannons of the Protestant Episcopal Church provides that no Vestry shall encumber or alienate any real property without the written consent of the Bishop and Standing Committee of the Diocese.
- II. The Revised Statutes of the State of New Jersey (R.S. 16:12-4) provide as follows:

"No sale, conveyance or mortgage of any real estate other than burial lots in churchyards or cemeteries, and no lease for a longer term than one year shall be made by such corporation without the previous written consent of the bishop and a majority of the standing committee of the diocese within which the corporation is located. Without such consent the sale, conveyance, mortgage or lease shall be void."
- III. In the discharge of the responsibilities placed upon them by canonical and civil law the Bishop and the Standing Committee have adopted the following rules and regulations with respect to selling, leasing and mortgaging real estate belonging to the Parishes of this diocese.
- IV. No application to sell or lease real estate will be entertained until the petitioner has filed the following documents in proper form with the Secretary of the standing Committee:
 1. A resolution by the Rector, Wardens and Vestry of the Parish authorizing the execution of the petition to sell or lease real estate.
 2. A map of the property to be sold or leased.
 3. A petition which shall contain or be accompanied by supporting schedules containing the following:
 - (a) A description of the property by metes and bounds.
 - (b) Information as to whether the property has been consecrated.
 - (c) Information as to whether the property is improved and if so the nature of any buildings thereon and their present use.
 - (d) The reason or reasons for selling or leasing the property.
 - (e) In the case of a sale, if the purchase price is to be paid other than in cash, the terms of payment should be stated together with the rate of interest, whether the balance of the purchase price is to be secured by a mortgage on the premises, and if so, the terms of the mortgage.
 - (f) In the case of a sale, the petition should contain a statement regarding the disposition of the proceeds of sale.
 - (g) In the case of a sale, the petition must be accompanied by a written appraisal of a qualified real estate appraiser.
- V. No application to mortgage real estate will be entertained until the petitioner has filed the following documents in proper form with the Secretary of the Standing Committee:
 1. A resolution by the Rector, Wardens and Vestry of the Parish authorizing the execution of the petition to mortgage real estate
 2. A petition which shall contain or be accompanied by supporting schedules containing the following:
 - (a) A description of the property by metes and bounds.

- (b) Information as to whether the property has been consecrated.
 - (c) A statement of the size and terms of the mortgage including the interest rate, duration, amortization period and name of the lending institution.
 - (d) A statement of the reasons why it is necessary to borrow the money secured by the mortgage, e.g., to erect a new building, to improve present quarters, etc.
 - (e) A statement of such facts as have convinced the Vestry that it is prudent to borrow the desired funds and that the Parish will be able to repay the amount borrowed.
 - (f) A statement of the present parish membership showing the number of baptized persons and communicants as contrasted with comparable figures of 5 years ago.
 - (g) A brief income and operating statement of the Parish for the last 2 fiscal years showing sources of income including pledges, plate offerings, rental income, income from investments, and the like; and expenses, including salaries and other operating expenses.
 - (h) A statement that the Parish has met its diocesan quota for the previous 3 years; if not, the reasons therefor.
 - (i) A statement of any other outstanding indebtedness.
- VI. Upon receipt of the foregoing documents in proper form, the Secretary of the Standing Committee will advise the petitioning Parish of the manner in which it will entertain the petition. Normally petitions will only be considered by the Standing Committee at one of its regularly scheduled meetings, at which representatives of the petitioner will be required to appear before the Standing Committee in support of the petition. Unless the petitioner is advised to the contrary, the Rector and the Treasurer (or other officer who is familiar with the finances and statistics in the petition and its accompanying schedules) shall appear before the Standing Committee and shall be prepared to answer reasonable questions relating to the petition.
- VII. The Vestry of the petitioning Parish is cautioned to establish a date for closing the transaction which shall allow ample time for preparation of the petition and its accompanying schedules and the presentation thereof to the Bishop and the Standing Committee. It is suggested that the petition and its accompanying schedules be reviewed by counsel for the petitioner before the filing of the petition with the Standing Committee.
- VIII. Applications which do not comply with the foregoing requirements will not be entertained by the Bishop and the Standing Committee.
- IX. Standard forms of resolution and petition will be supplied by the Secretary of the Standing Committee upon request.
