CLERGY SABBATICAL POLICY

Definition

A sabbatical is understood to be a time utilized by clergy in order to be released from regular ministries for the purpose of spiritual renewal, study, theological reflection, and strengthening of skills and ministries according to a well-defined plan developed by the clergy person taking leave in concert with his/her vestry or executive committee.

Purpose

For the Clergy. As intended by this policy, a clergy sabbatical is not a leave intended for rest, relaxation, or change of routine. Such time is already provided for clergy as annual vacation. Nor is a sabbatical necessarily an extended continuing education program. For the clergy, sabbatical is a time for opening one's self to the working of the Holy Spirit and for renewal of one's sense of vocation. Sabbatical leave offers opportunity for a more extended learning experience than is possible in the typical week of continuing education provided in the clergy letter of agreement. It allows time for reflection, research, writing, internship, and other organized opportunities not possible in a brief educational leave.

For the Congregation. Sabbatical time is an opportunity to focus on the ministry of the laity. It should be seen as a time for the congregation to reflect on its ministries apart from the clergy, to assess where the congregation is presently and where it believes God may be calling them to be. Engagement of a congregational consultant is recommended as a way for the congregation to explore how lay ministries may be empowered, enriched, and enhanced consonant with the vision and mission of the congregation.

Guidelines

- Full time clergy who have completed five years of service in a parish or mission of the Diocese are eligible to apply for a sabbatical.
- It is recommended that the length of the sabbatical be at least 3 months, and that sabbatical be taken every five to seven years. See page 6.
- No later than nine months prior to the beginning of the anticipated sabbatical leave, a clergy requesting sabbatical leave shall after conversation with his/her vestry/executive committee prepare a proposal that identifies the time requested and describes a plan of study, action, training, or reflection, together with a financial statement of all anticipated expenses to be incurred for the sabbatical, and the desired results that he/she hopes to realize from this leave. See pages 7, 81, 13.
- A copy of the request will first be forwarded to the Canon to the Ordinary for review and discussion with the clergy by the Bishop's Office. The sabbatical leave proposal must be accompanied by a vestry letter of support. See page 9.
- Upon review of the sabbatical leave proposal by the Bishop's Office, the clergy will then share his/her approved proposal with the vestry/executive committee, and thereafter execute a Letter of Agreement for Sabbatical Leave, which will include a financial statement of anticipated costs. See pages 10-12.
- The letter of agreement is then to be forwarded to the Bishop for his/her approval and signature. Any request for funding of a clergy sabbatical in part by the Diocese must accompany the sabbatical leave proposal submitted to the Bishop.
- It is strongly recommended that the vestry/executive committee begin to set aside funds in the congregation's budget specified for the clergy sabbatical leave no later than the beginning of the third year of the clergy's tenure with the congregation. The creation of a Sabbatical Committee to assist the clergy in the planning and communication of his/her sabbatical leave is also strongly recommended.

Preparing For Clergy Sabbatical

- Once the clergy sabbatical plan is approved by the Bishop, the clergy and vestry/executive (or Sabbatical Leave Committee) should jointly develop a plan for communicating and preparing the congregation for the clergy's leave.
- The clergy should take primary responsibility, in consultation with the vestry/executive committee, for making satisfactory arrangements for worship services, pastoral care, and parish administration during his/her absence, including:
 - Securing a priest for regularly scheduled sacramental worship;
 - Arranging for lay readers for occasional morning prayer
 - Lay committees for pastoral ministry and new member greeting and visitation;
 - Supply clergy for pastoral emergencies
 - Staff assignments, roles and responsibilities
- It is the responsibility of the congregation to continue to pay the contractual salary and benefits of the clergy during his/her sabbatical leave. To ensure that there is sufficient monies to fund the clergy's leave when taken, each congregation should establish well in advance of such leave, a line item in its budget as an accrual fund for sabbatical leave. Funds so accrued should be used only for the support of the sabbatical leave and for parochial expenses incurred as a result of the leave.
- The suggested time frame for sabbatical leave is three months. It is not intended that sabbatical leave replace vacation time or leave for continuing education. Clergy should take the vacation time, continuing education time, and any other time away from the congregation as outlined in their letter of agreement. These may be added to the agreed-upon sabbatical leave time in some combination that may result in a lengthened leave time. Such arrangements should be worked out in conversation between clergy and vestry/executive committee and reflected in the terms of the letter of agreement for clergy sabbatical leave.
- During the clergy sabbatical, responsibility for the spiritual welfare of the congregation, the administration of its programs, and the maintenance of its grounds and buildings rests with the wardens and vestry/executive committee of the congregation. The Bishop's Office will work closely with the congregation and its leadership to insure that the pastoral and sacramental life of the community is maintained during the sabbatical leave.
- Periodic communication between the clergy and the congregation (largely confined to the clergy's sabbatical experiences) during the sabbatical leave is encouraged. Social media provide an easy and effective way to stay in touch.

Upon Return From Sabbatical

- As set forth in the clergy's letter of agreement, all clergy who are granted sabbatical leave are expected to complete one year of service to the congregation upon return from sabbatical leave. Should the clergy depart from the congregation during the first twelve months following sabbatical leave, the clergy will be required to reimburse the congregation and/or diocese for any costs incurred in support of the sabbatical.
- Sabbaticals are intended for refreshment, and not as severance. Unused sabbatical time is forfeited upon retirement, resignation or termination.
- The clergy upon returning from sabbatical leave shall present, with reasonable promptness, a written report to the vestry/executive committee and congregation with a copy to the Bishop.
- It is recommended that the clergy meet with the wardens and /or the Sabbatical Committee upon his/her return in order to debrief, and to discuss reentry into the congregation and integration of the sabbatical experience into the life of the community.
- The congregation should be prepared to share with returning clergy its experiences of the community's life during the clergy's time away.
