~book	Biased: Uncovering the Hidden Prejudice That Shapes What We See, Think, and Do	goodreads.com biased	a personal examination of one of the central controversies and culturally powerful issues of our time, and its influence on contemporary race relations and criminal justice from one of the world's leading experts on unconscious racial bias. We do not have to be racist to be biased. With a perspective that is scientific, investigative, and personal, Jennifer L. Eberhardt offers a reasoned look into the effects of implicit racial bias, ranging from the subtle to the dramatic. Racial bias can lead to disparities in education, employment, housing, and the criminal justice system -- and those very disparities further reinforce the problem. Eberhardt reveals how, even when we are not aware of bias and genuinely wish to treat all people equally, ingrained stereotypes infect our visual perception, attention, memory, and behavior.	2019	2021/07 P

~book	My Grandmother's Hands	goodreads.com my-grandmother-s-hands	In this groundbreaking work, therapist Resmaa Menakem examines the damage caused by racism in America from the perspective of body-centered psychology. This book is a call to action for all of us to recognize that racism is not about the head, but about the body, and introduces an alternative view of what we can do to grow beyond our entrenched racialized divide. It paves the way for a new, body-centered understanding of white supremacy — how it is literally in our blood and our nervous system. It offers a step-by-step solution, a healing process, in addition to incisive social commentary.	2017	2021/07 P

~book	The Inner Work of Racial Justice	rhondavmagee.com	Healing Ourselves & Transforming Our Communities Through Mindfulness ~ Law professor & mindfulness practitioner Rhonda Magee shows that the work of racial justice begins with ourselves. When conflict & division are everyday realities, our instincts tell us to close ranks, find the safety of our own tribe, & blame others. The practice of embodied mindfulness –paying attention to our thoughts, feelings, & physical sensations in an open, nonjudgmental way – increases our emotional resilience, helps us recognize our unconscious bias, gives us the space to become less reactive & choose how we respond to injustice. ~NWK21	2019	2021/02 P
